The Moundbuilder

Published by the Student Body of Southwestern College at Winfield, Kansas
This is your book. It is for you, about you, and in a very real way it is by you. In fact, its prime purpose of re-creating a year of Southwestern College can be achieved only by your warm-hearted cooperation in the sympathetic, imaginative reading of these pages. No true Moundbuilder has lived this year to himself only. If only one of us had been here, this would not have been Southwestern College, no matter how bright the dome, how sturdy the walls, how green the trees and grass. A college year is made up of people and the things they do. Vividly realizing this mutual dependence of reader and editor, and the essential unity of our college lives, we have chosen as the theme of our book that ceremony whereby, as freshmen, we become Moundbuilders, and as upperclassmen we are each year re-dedicated to the service of our beloved Alma Mater—or in other words, to each other.
All of us love Southwestern, and each of us serves Her according to his talent; and none of us need to yield place to another in loyalty and zeal. But to some it is given, from time to time, to catch a greater vision, and as a result to render a greater service; and to them it is not only fitting but joyous to pay tribute. Dean Leroy Allen, stand up! It is you we salute. It is to you we dedicate our book. In conceiving and launching our ceremony, "The Building of the Mound," you gave us not only a custom unique in the college world, but also a quicker, more vivid sense of what it means to be sons and daughters of Southwestern. You dramatized the Moundbuilder spirit. This is only one of many services you have performed and are performing for us.

Your keen insight, fine ability, and steady devotion have enabled you to be always present and to be sons and daughters of Southwestern. You dramatized the Moundbuilder spirit. This is life of Southwestern College, and dwelling among us, you enrich the.

We shall always remember you, and with honor and affection you shall always remember us. By dwelling among us, you enrich the life of Southwestern College, and dwell among us, you enrich the. By dwelling among us, you enrich the life of Southwestern College, and dwell among us, you enrich the.

BOOKS

ACTIVITIES
A tradition of fragrant lilac—slender pine—temple of knowledge.
Fall fights and rights; treacherous steps to shut-in days; sophomores swim the Walnut; the underworld gang builds the mound; we see the final round of the Kelly-Moncrief duel; both the "S" and "freshies" get a whitewash bath; "Picnic Pants"; class day is over.
Southwestern Parades—led by the "Prize" Pullman; the W. A. A. takes a ride; Main Street activities halt while we parade; S. C. Band struts its stuff; flat tire, Oh Yeah!; "We're in the army now"; Main and Ninth join in a "Hip, Hip, Hooray Fairmount!"
Shadows dance on the cool deep grass—lazy clouds float by—the passing student is invited to cast himself on the soft grass, and bid time stand still—but days run swiftly by—and life goes on —.
A new addition, but one that has come to stay—Bird's Rexall Store; an unusual glimpse into the always crowded interior; soda "squirts" and manager pause for a breathing spell; the downtown store displays attractive interiors as well as pleasing windows; Maunis Godby, manager of Store No. 2; the downtown force hesitates to have its picture taken, but finally consents.
Professions of every kind; Band and A Cappella loads luggage for days of fun and work; one final grin at the camera man; wind-blown lassies who study some; up the winding steps to wisdom—? the most popular man on the campus. Spring is here!—To go to class or cut—Mutt and Bruce stop to decide.
Time-marked—age worn—the grey walls stand in dreamless silence—stone steps worn away by the feet of countless students. What a laboratory of knowledge!
We pose for you; a college quintet pays tribute to Buddha; springtime on the campus, Colonel and Buss "Smilin' Thru"; retreat to or from? Open wide the doors, the windows are locked. The second Christian Martyr—tolerant ears to the wailings of an editor; a jolly bunch of barbers; Southwestern's twins.
Along with the story of Southwestern—Senator Reed's "Oasis"; Rowena and Sid breakfast before an eight o'clock; talk of games, or playing one, bargaining here and there, students sauntering to and fro; Twyla and Colonel smile their best; a lull in the ten o'clock rush.
Students sauntering slowly—or walking briskly to games or study—vines clinging to new walls—strength—knowledge—and power lieth herein.
Pep clubs support the team; Bass and Fritz direct the chapel in a big "S.O.U."; the captain of basketball stops to say, "We'll win tonight"; K. K.'s, girls' pep club, pledges its support, regardless; typical crowd at a game; Professor Brown directs the band in "On Southwestern"; the athletic field from the hill.
Motor pilgrimage of Europe, by the Southwestern Travel Club; Motor Caravan on S. C. Campus; Eiffel Tower, Paris; The Colosseum, Rome; Belleau Wood, from a distance; the beautiful Seine Valley; picnic lunch in the Northern Italian Alps; waiting for the motors; along Mediterranean coast at Nice; down the Rhine; Daniolth's Grand Hotel, Andermatt; ready for a drive; summit of St. Gothard Pass, Switzerland; "The Fleet of Eight"; German Tank near Verdun; English Memorial at the Marne; Rheims Cathedral; Guy's Cliff Mill; Anne Hathway's Cottage, Shakespeare country.
Appropriately situated at the foot of the pathway that winds through the trees to knowledge—happy youth abides here with gaiety—friendship—and industry.
Spring festivities—Commencement week; the Queen of May takes her throne, followed by her attendants, who pay tribute at her court; Senior dignity parades its last; hillside vespers; the final gathering of four-year friends—commencement—not the end.
Golden warmth of sunbeams—shadows falling across a familiar winding road—the shining dome of patriarchal Richardson in the background.

Order of the Mound

HONORABLE MENTION
Gladice Bower
Evelyn Melberg
Florence Smiley

THE Order of the Mound, originated by the faculty of Southwestern College in 1917, was established as an honorary scholastic order. Those seniors who have maintained a high scholastic standing throughout their four years in college are elected to the organization at the end of the first semester.

Only those who have earned seventy-five hours of credit in Southwestern and maintained an average grade of a “B” are chosen. Students who have taken less than seventy-five hours of work in Southwestern and who have a “B” average are given honorable mention. At the present time a key, similar to the Phi Beta Kappa key, and a Purple and White ribbon are given with the honorary award. The award is made in an impressive ceremony at the final assembly of each year.

Order of the Mound is the only organization in existence at Southwestern which makes an honorary award on scholastic attainment alone. Election to the Order of the Mound is the highest scholastic achievement, and one of the most coveted by each Senior class of Southwestern.
Pi Gamma Mu

SOUTHWESTERN is the birthplace of Pi Gamma Mu. This National Science Honor Society originated here in 1924 when Dean Leroy Allen, then professor of economics, called a few of his economics majors together in room 23, and each contributed twenty-five cents to start the movement. The Society has since grown to a great national organization with one hundred and twenty chapters and nearly thirteen thousand members. Dean Allen is still national president and editor of the official organ of the Society, a quarterly magazine called Social Science, published at Southwestern.

The aim of Pi Gamma Mu is to promote interest in the scientific study of all social problems, first in the minds of young men and women in colleges and universities and then through them in the mind of the public at large. The Society tries to cultivate the cooperation of all of the social sciences that must contribute to the solution of social problems, such as sociology, economics, business administration, law, political science, history, philosophy, psychology, education, religion, ethics, geography, biology, and anthropology.

Only juniors and seniors of the highest character, personality, and scholarship are elected on the basis of their interest in scientific social study and their promise of future usefulness in this field.
Beta Beta Beta was founded in 1922. At present there are chapters in fifteen states and one foreign country.

Beta Beta Beta was organized for the purpose of supplying for the biological sciences an honorary undergraduate fraternity that would be instrumental in promoting interest in this department of learning and in furthering the objectives of the science. It attempts to do this, in part, by reserving its membership for those who meet certain scholastic standards and have completed a required amount of work.

Aside from stimulating scholarship, Tri Beta has as additional objectives, the spread of biological information and the advancement of science by new discoveries. It emphasizes, therefore, a three-fold program, namely: Sound scholarship, dissemination of scientific knowledge, and promptness of biological research.

Jack Figley
President
SINCE the organization of the Mu Chapter of Kappa Omicron Phi at Southwestern College in May, 1929, that organization has made a rapid growth both in local and national importance. To our chapter at Southwestern goes the honor of holding the first bi-annual national conclave in 1932. The Southwestern Chapter sent two delegates to the national conclave at Excelsior Springs this year.

An extensive program has been followed in Kappa Omicron Phi this year. Features of the year were: The Spring Banquet, the Mother Day Program, and the observance of Local Founder’s Day. A number of projects were also carried out by the members. Social life in Kappa Omicron Phi was kept alive and interesting by a round of parties enjoyed throughout the year.

The purpose of Kappa Omicron Phi is to promote the best interests of Home Economics in four-year colleges. We realize the world needs women who have attained an intellectual, spiritual, ethical and aesthetic poise. Its members are selected on a basis of scholarship, initiative, leadership, and personality. They must also rank in the upper fifth in scholarship, and be majors in the Home Economics Department. The members are required to take a national examination each year as long as they remain active.

The Mu Chapter of Kappa Omicron Phi was organized at Southwestern with seven charter members. That number has now increased to nine. There are at the present time 12 chapters of Kappa Omicron Phi in the United States.
AMMA OMICRON has taken for the theme of its bi-weekly meetings “Shopping,” and has worked this idea into all of its programs and its projects for this year. “Shopping in Europe,” “Shopping in New York City,” “Shopping for Pictures,” “Wholesale Shopping,” “Shopping for Pottery,” have been some of its featured programs.

Gamma Omicron is an honorary organization for Home Economics majors who are sophomores, juniors, and seniors, and whose grades meet the requirements which make them eligible for membership. Gamma Omicron was organized at Southwestern in October, 1921. The two phases of the club work are symbolized by the jeweled tea-kettle and thimble which are worn by the members of the organization.

Mrs. Fioramonti was taken into honorary membership this year. The other honorary members are: Mrs. Albert Kirk, Mrs. Ezra T. Franklin, and Miss Grace Raymond.

A new custom was started in Gamma Omicron this year, in that all of the honorary members have addressed the organization.

Gamma Omicron has seen a successful year under the leadership of Miss White and Mrs. Goldsmith, sponsors, and Grace Fauss and Margaret Lewis, presidents.
Pi Sigma Phi

Pi Sigma Phi is an honorary fraternity of those Southwestern men who have won the right to wear the purple "S." The organization was established to promote the highest standards of friendship, sportsmanship, and scholarship among the lettermen of the college. It also serves as a nucleus for the Southwestern spirit and supports all school activities.

Each year the senior who is a letterman in a major sport and who has the highest scholastic ranking is awarded a gold key for his athletic and scholastic achievements. The annual banquet of the club, which is held each spring, is attended by both present and past members of the organization and is the biggest social function of the year.

Each member of Pi Sigma Phi is given a life membership at the time of his graduation from Southwestern. With this life membership goes a ticket which admits him to all intercollegiate games.

The "Pi Sigs" are also noted on the campus for their strenuous initiations. These take place yearly.

Professor MacFarlane is sponsor and Coach Monypeny is adviser to the club.
In order to stimulate the interest in inter-collegiate oratory, debate, and public speaking, the organization of Pi Kappa Delta was organized and is now the largest national honorary forensic society with 125 chapters and over 9,000 members.

In this great organization Southwestern has won a place of honor. In the January number of the "Forensic," national Pi Kappa Delta magazine, an entire section was devoted to the Southwestern Chapter and its excellent activities. The editor remarked that if conferring a degree he would make Professor Baker a Doctor of Tournaments.

Special awards are given and our Student Council awards Pi Kappa Delta Keys to each Senior member who has represented Southwestern two years in some phase of public speaking.

Pi Kappa Delta under the direction of Professor J. Thompson Baker sponsored two high school debate tournaments, one in the spring and one in the fall. The high school tournaments were unique in that they were the first in which high school debaters debated both sides of the question. The largest pre-season debate tournament to be held in the United States was held in the fall under the direction of Professor Baker.

Pi Kappa Delta is to its members the greatest organization on the hill.
Cosmopolitan Club

THE Cosmopolitan Club was organized in the fall of 1927, by Miss Lucy Gray Wright, and is at present one of the outstanding organizations on the hill. Southwestern is one of the four schools in the state having such an organization.

The aim of the club is to foster international good will and inter-racial understanding on the campus. Its membership is made up of all foreign, negro and Indian students on the campus, with an equal number of other students. At present the membership is twenty-six. The local club is represented by seven graduate members in United States, India, China, and Japan.

Much of the success of the club this year has been due to the work of Harold Cottom, president, and Harold Thomson, vice-president. Much credit is given to Henry W. Taylor, sponsor of the club, for his excellent work the last several years.
SOUTHWESTERN has a number of men that are interested in the Christian ministry. Some of them are working in churches around Winfield as student pastors. They are serving their apprenticeship, so to speak, in the business of being a good pastor.

Of course the College does not offer a course in pastoral work as that is taken care of by the graduate schools. The Oxford Fellowship offers excellent opportunities for the student pastor and men that expect, some day, to hold a charge.

Guest speakers are heard quite often, giving helpful instruction, as well as the numerous lectures of Professor Chubb, one of Southwestern's own faculty members.

The Oxford Fellowship is a national organization. It is a club of instruction and social brotherhood. The organization at Southwestern is quite active and is so because it serves a real benefit to the lives of its members.
Y. W. C. A.

The Y. W. C. A. belongs to Southwestern women. Every girl in the school is proud of it. And they have a right to be. The reason Southwestern is so proud of its Y. W. is that it has so much to offer the women of the campus.

This organization offers a place where the problems that confront a college girl may be threshed out. In its Wednesday morning meetings there is an opportunity to express the religious instinct in drama, music, and communion with the Divine.

This group of women seek to standardize the qualities all honorable women long for. They bring together all girls who are making an effort to serve.

The "Y. W." takes all of these things and combines them with a most pleasurable social life. That is why this group of girls is so popular on the campus. Leaders in society, leaders in friendship, leaders in faith, makes the Y. W. C. A. one of the outstanding organizations of the "Hill."

In cooperation with the other religious organizations on the campus, the Y. W. worked this year on Mexican settlement work, aided at the poor farm, carried on the annual Big and Little Sister Work, co-operated in giving the All-School Party, and sent an unusually large delegation to Estes Park. In fact, every type of social work that might interest college women was to be found in the program of the Y. W.
THIS year's Y. M. program was opened two days before registration by a "Freshman Camp" held at Camp Rising Wolf on the Walnut River. The following week there was a Y. M. hike. These events helped especially in the orientation of the freshmen.

With the fine cooperation of the Student Council, the Y. W. C. A., and the Inter-Society Council, the Y. M. sponsored a most successful all-school Halloween Festival.

The Y's rendered a valuable service in bringing to the campus such outstanding leaders as Harry Holmes, world traveler; Clark Eichelberger, authority on the League of Nations; and Sherwood Eddy, world-wide youth leader. Religious Emphasis week just after Easter was made especially worthwhile by the coming of "Dad Elliott."

The Y. M. Intramural Basketball Team was highly successful this year, winning the majority of the games. It represented a part of the Y's program in the interest of clean athletics.

Several cabinet members attended the State Conference in Wichita on March the sixth and seventh. Several cabinet members are planning to attend the National Y. Camp at Estes Park in June.

Bridging the gaps between the other events was the regular weekly meeting at 10:00 on Wednesday in the Alpha Beta Hall. The creation of a Y. M. orchestra in the spring added new life and interest to the meetings.
THE Southwestern Student Council, which is the nucleus for student government in Southwestern, was organized in order to promote a constructive school spirit; to further develop harmonious relations between faculty, students and student organizations; to share with faculty in the control of student organizations; and to provide a representative organization to take the initiative in all student enterprises.

The Student Council this year set out to prove herself a powerful and responsible governing body; to establish a high point of prestige in the student body and faculty; and to carry out a real constructive student program.

Some of the most significant things accomplished were: The sponsoring of a big all-school banquet in honor of the football squad in the fall; and a similar one in the spring to the Violin and A Cappella choirs; the sending of a delegate to Atlanta, Ga., to attend the National Student Federation of America Conference; active participation in current politics; and promotion and guidance of proper school spirit; also an effort to put before the students each week a high type of student chapels, with ample opportunity for individual expression; and a steady voice in the control of the student activity budget.

Our motto this year has been the watchwords of the French Revolution—Liberty, Equality, Fraternity.
Inter-Society Council

IN FOSTERING friendship between the societies; in regulating rush and pledge activities; and in serving as a clearing house for society difficulties: the Inter-Society Council has realized the purpose for which it was organized.

With the addition of new societies to the society life of Southwestern, there was felt the need for an inter-society medium. Therefore, in 1923, patterning after the Inter-Fraternity Council of Northwestern University, a representative group of society members met and took the name of the Inter-Society Council. Since the time of its organization the Council has become a real factor in the life of Southwestern.

The Council not only urges cooperation between the societies but sponsors and encourages friendly inter-society competition by conducting each semester a group of Little Theatre Plays.

The membership of the Council is limited to eighteen members a semester, including the president and one society representative from each society, and the faculty advisor, and president of the Council, Professor MacFarlane.

Professor MacFarlane
President
MEMBERSHIP in Campus Players, the Honorary Dramatic Organization in Southwestern College, is one of the most prized attainments among student activities. It has been the purpose of this organization, founded in 1919-1920, to encourage a high type of dramatic production, and to build a critical appreciation of drama. The organization operates with no idea of profit, but strives with each production to add something of real value to stage equipment and costumes.

Under the direction of Miss Helen Graham, head of the expression department, the players always plan to offer a balanced dramatic program. Each year they produce one tragedy and one comedy, alternating modern and classic drama. Within the last few years such modern plays as, “The Admirable Crichton,” “Sun-Up,” “Skin-Game,” and “A Bill of Divorcement” have been offered; of the classics, “Macbeth,” and “Paolo and Francesca.” Whatever the production, Campus Players feel that “The play is the thing,” and each member, whether he is stage manager, a principal character, or an off-stage noise, does his part so that it contributes to the artistic effect of the show as a whole.
SEPTEMBER, 1930, marked the fourth birthday of the Lenean Dramatic Society. It was started at the suggestion of former President Kirk, who believed a permanent religious drama organization would be of great benefit to Southwestern. Since that time there has been the organization called the Leneans, attempting to further the work of the Christian Church through religious drama.

The first year they played The Rich Young Man, by Sara Kingsburg. The next year The Rock, by Mary Hamlin, was given. Last year they played The Star of the East, by Anna Jean Harmwell. This year St. Claudia, by Marshall Goold was presented.

Although the Lenean Society is a college organization, it is of self-supporting standing. It is financed entirely by free-will offerings given by various congregations they visit.

Miss Edith Deilmann is the director of this group, and has nurtured it four years until it has grown from a "brand new" organization to a healthy robust youngster recognized by outsiders as one of the major organizations of Southwestern.

The English Club was organized in the fall of 1929 for the purpose of developing and fostering an interest in literature and the literary arts among the students of the college. Prof. T. Reese Marsh, head of the English Department, was the organizer and sponsor of the club. The membership is primarily for English majors, but anyone in the college who is interested may join.

The programs given at the fortnightly meetings of the club are arranged in such a manner as to combine literary discussions and social functions. The topics of discussion are such as would ordinarily fall outside of the regular college curriculum. Art and music lectures, readings, and varied literary features form the basis of the programs.

During the past year the size of the club has more than doubled over that of the first year of its existence. More than fifty members were listed on the club roll. The Christmas banquet which was followed by a lecture on art by Miss Raymond of Winfield, was one of the outstanding social events of the English Club year.
WE DEDICATE ourselves to a greater Belles Lettres Society... whose present marks the passing day with ever increasing brilliance," reads a part of the oath to which every Belle has pledged herself.

True to this pledge, the past year has been bright with achievement. After the impetus of a successful rush season, the society swung through many activities, both literary and social.

The social high-light of the year was the annual Belles-Athens Day. Former members were back to enjoy the breakfast, luncheon, late afternoon pageant, and the play. The formal society banquet, the program and reception given by former Belles and Athenians, the Christmas and Valentine parties, and the surprise picnic given the society by Athens were other social events of note.

In the spring Belles Lettres awarded gold and silver "B's" to those members winning the society contests in Voice, Piano, Violin, Expression, Dramatics, and Debate.

Dramatics, forensics, music, women’s athletics, scholastic attainments—in any department of the college you will find leaders who are Belles.

HOLDING before them Ruth as their ideal of charming womanhood, the Beta Gamma Society strives always to remain true to the ideals of loyalty, love, and friendship, and greatness of spirit that was hers.

The new members gained this year by Beta Gamma were outstanding in almost every phase of school activity. Following the brilliant social events of rush week, the society enjoyed a round of parties, picnics and luncheons, which terminated in the Annual Spring Banquet. One of the special features of the social season was the spread given to the graduating members of the society by the other members.

In cooperation with the Alpha Beta Alpha, Beta Gamma presented "R. U. R.", which was ranked among the successful plays of the year.

In dramatics, in debate and oratory, in scholarship, and in the various musical organizations, and various other school activities the Beta Gammas are to be found among the leaders.

Beta Gamma has dedicated herself to a broader social and cultural program both for the society itself, and for Southwestern as a whole.
THE Delta Kappa Chi Society was organized in 1925. At this time the small group of students who were responsible for the founding, felt that the land of activity was crowded in the old organizations and they desired a new society. As a result of their brave and persistent efforts we have now a society well worthy of mention, as might be expected from an organization whose foundation is based on democracy, knowledge, and culture.

In order to hold the standards of our society, we have engaged in numerous activities and social functions. We have taken part in music, dramatics, debate, athletics, and our members have held various offices in the college organizations. Our weekly programs this year have been unusually entertaining. Besides these weekly programs and Little Theater plays, we also presented one three-act play.

Because we are a new society, we are engaged in making traditions, rather than following them; and we can make of our society what we will.

STARTING with a successful rush season early in the fall and continuing with enthusiasm and interest throughout the year the members of Sigma Pi Phi feel that 1930-31 has not been in vain. It is the aim of Sigma to promote Friendship, Learning and Loyalty, and with these ideals ever in view her members have taken part in every activity of the school open to co-ed's. Perhaps the most outstanding event of the year was the winning for the second consecutive time the Little Theater trophy with the play "Bargains in Cathay," which was presented by Sigma and Delphi. Members of Sigma point with pride to their sisters who this year won honors in the field of scholarship, of debate, of oratory, of music, of school popularity, of dramatics, and of Christian work.

Friendship, Learning, Loyalty,
Our Watchword ne'er shall fail,
Guide us through the years to come,
Sigma Pi Phi, Hail!

KEEPING ever before them the slogan, "Alpha Beta Alpha—where the fraternal spirit is loyal to Southwestern" the members of the Alpha Beta Society have not only contributed a great deal to the building of a successful year for Southwestern, but have also had a brilliantly successful year in literary and social activities.

Beginning with a rush season which won for them pledges of unusually high type, and continuing throughout the school year, the enthusiasm displayed by members of the society has kept them among the leaders of the school.

Alpha Beta Alpha was represented in football with six Alpha Beta’s. In basketball four Alpha Beta’s were given letters. Three men were so honored this year in track. Alpha Beta Alpha was represented in debate, oratory, dramatics, as well as on student publications.

Marked enthusiasm has been maintained in the society, and the majority of the thirty-five active members have fared forth every Thursday evening to the society hall. The social program which has been a round of activities, included several picnics, parties, the spring banquet, and the annual play, "R. U. R.", presented in collaboration with the Beta Gamma Society.

FOR the Athenian Society, the year 1930-1931 was crowded with activities of both social and intellectual character. Out of the glamour and scrimmage of a successful rush week, Athens emerged with pledges of the type that every Athenian has a right to be proud.

In school activities Athens found a place; for its members represented Southwestern in football, basketball, debate, oratory, band, A Cappella Choir, Violin Choir, Campus Players, and the Leneans.

The second semester opened with a new emphasis placed on the social program. It was recognized that one of the chief functions of the society was of a social nature. A Valentine party, Belles-Athens Day, and the spring banquet were high points in the society activities. Every effort was made to make the society fill an important place in the life of its members.

Athenians, believing in the traditions of the society and supporting the present program, look forward to a successful future. This, however, is secondary to their enthusiasm for a greater Southwestern.
HOLDING before it the aim to furnish training in parliamentary procedure, dramatics, and fine arts; to provide an adequate social program; to develop that true friendship which only comes through working together in a common cause, Delphi has this year contributed successfully to the upbuilding of its individual members and of Southwestern.

Led by the motto, KNOW THYSELF, Delphians have sought those qualities of character and leadership which have enabled them to take part in student activities. They have been prominent in student government, debate, oratory, Y. M. C. A., band, orchestra, A Cappella Choir, dramatics, and student publications.

Following a successful rush season which resulted in ample and excellent new material, the society has carried out a profitable and active program. Hikes, parties, the Little Theater contests, the annual play, the "Fakelty" program, and the spring banquet have been some of the features of the year other than the regular literary meetings.

Delta Theta Pi

DELTA THETA PI is proud of its youth. In the six years of its organization, years full of trials and problems which were met by a relatively small group of students, the society has never failed its watchword, “Progress.” Unhampered by tradition, and with the realization that the future of the society depends, in a large measure, upon its record, Delta Theta Pi has continued to provide leaders among the more independent and progressive group of students.

The Delta societies have proved to be real contenders in all inter-society events. Their record in dramatics is enviable. In music, debate, oratory, journalism, and scholarship, Deltas are outstanding. This year Deltas were among the first in entering a very successful team in the intramural basket ball tournament.

The activities of the school year 1930-1931 have been centered around the ideal of making the literary society a vital force in the building of individual capacity and character.

The continued and loyal cooperation of Delta Kappa Chi has done much to enable the maintenance of high standards and ideals of the Delta society.

Debate and Oratory

WHAT to say and how to say it correctly has received such attention in Southwestern that her debaters and orators have become known not only in Kansas, but, we say with modesty, over the entire United States. Twice we have won the southern division of Kansas. Twice we brought home first place in the State, and twice won second place in the National Tournament. In 1930 at the Pi Kappa Delta Debate Tournament, held in Wichita, the girls' team composed of Phyllis Burgess, Irlene Moore, and Evelyn Hunter out-talked all others and returned home triumphant, bringing the National Cup for first place.

A number of freshmen joined the debaters this fall and we look forward to the Regional Pi Kappa Delta Tournament at Pittsburg, April 9-10-11.

In oratory, Southwestern has again pushed forward among her competitors. Six attempts proved successful in winning first in the State and inner-State contests, and four times we won second in the State.

This fall Mary Margaret Damian won the gold key given annually by the coach of oratory in the Baker Declamation Contest. The Girls' Old Line Oratorical contest was won by Evelyn Hunter; and Wayne Henderson captured first among the boys. Evelyn Hunter won the Leathermann Oratorical contest receiving $15 in prize and Will Wright won second with a prize of $10. Harold Hammer won the Peace Oratorical contest.

Prof. Baker who is this year coaching debate as well as oratory has exerted untiring efforts to make our team what it is.
TWO years ago, with the advent of Professor Charles C. Brown as its director, the Southwestern Band took on new life. As an initial step, new purple and white uniforms were purchased which blended form and color with the music. The band is governed and disciplined by its officers and an executive committee.

As a pep organization, the band has been on the football field in the fall and on the basketball sidelines in the winter. At pep chapels the band is always foremost with music and pep stimulants.

In connection with its activities as a concert organization, the band has given frequent concerts in Winfield and in January took a tour through the north central part of the state and played at most of the larger cities on the route.

Forty pieces compose this organization which has become known as one of the best concert bands in the state.
The Symphony Orchestra is one of Southwestern's classic instrumental organizations. It is important to Southwestern both as a concert and accompaniment orchestra.

It gives two concerts a year. One pre-Christmas program, and the other a commencement program in the spring. The orchestra distinguishes itself by its wide instrumentation and its evidence of careful study.

Professor C. O. Brown, professor of instrumental music in Southwestern, is the conductor of the orchestra. Under his baton there is growing a symphonic organization well worthy of its place in the Southwestern hall of fame.

The orchestra is the accompaniment for the major musical events of the year. It assists the Festival Chorus in the pre-Christmas program and the school's most talented pianists at the annual Loudenback Piano Recital. It also plays the full accompaniment for the Winfield Oratorio Society in its presentation of the Elijah in the Spring.

This organization of high class instrumental music fills quite as well its responsibility to Southwestern of furnishing polished orchestral education and entertainment.

"No choir which has ever visited Chicago has sung better music, and, in fact, if any have sung it better, I did not happen to be present at the time."—MUSIC NEWS, Chicago.

HAILED by Chicago critics and music devotees as one of the four most outstanding college choral groups in the United States on their 1930 tour, the A Cappella Choir this spring launched forth on the most extensive undertaking ever attempted by any Southwestern organization their first trip to New York.

A reputation as "The Finest Singing Organization in the Southwest" was the result of three years of concertizing in this section of the country. The fourth year with the tour to Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, and intervening cities, marked its ascension to very near the pinnacle of esteem in the minds of leading critics. This year, its fifth concert year, was climaxd by the New York appearances, and concerts in all the larger cities on the eastern route.

Faithful, intensive work of talented young vocalists and a skillful, musicianly director are responsible for the remarkable and rapid success of this singing group. Only the highest type of sacred and classical choral music from the foremost composers of each age and nationality are sung. Besides benefiting its own membership, the choir attempts to stimulate interest in the highest type of church music.
Violin Choir

Noble music, sympathetically directed and beautifully played. ... Professor Altvater, intense, youthful, and artistic, led his Choir through the difficult passages of Wagner and Tschaikowsky with fervor and yet with marvelous restraint.—Wichita Beacon.

TEN years of artistic endeavor, patient experimentation, and steady growth have marked the rise of the Violin Choir from a student training class in ensemble playing to its present position as one of the foremost and most unique instrumental ensembles of the present day.

Behind it all is the genius of Dean H. Hugh Altvater, through whose ideas and vision the Choir was conceived, organized, and perfected. The original structure, producing a richer effect and more flexible handling of the instrumentation, has created a new field in the literature of music. The scores, which are arranged by Dean Altvater, are attracting the interest and attention of musicians and music supervisors throughout the country and are soon to be published for use in school ensemble groups.

The Choir repertoire embraces a large and comprehensive list of the classics from all schools, ranging from Bach and Haydn to Wagnerian opera and outstanding modern composers.

This year the annual spring tour carried the Choir into Oklahoma and eastern Kansas.
The Southwestern Collegian

The Southwestern Collegian, campus newspaper, member of the Central Conference Press Association, this year reversed a conception of years' standing that the primary purpose of a school journal is a "weekly historian of school activities." A newspaper exists for the dissemination of news, editorial attitudes, and advertising at a specific date. Underrating none of the three, The Collegian recognizes editorial integrity and business principle, which has resulted in the production of "a newspaper, not a publication."

Typical of the undergraduate press which constantly struggles for freedom in news and editorial expression, The Collegian has held as its goal truth and editorial freedom, with service to Southwestern paramount in the policy.

Chief in steps of the paper's growth, The Collegian this year published a 12-page Builder Edition—before not attempted in the history of the paper—March 17, the week when two thousand high school students were here for the annual inter-high music and forensic contests. The business department issued The Collegian's first advertising rate card, based on the pattern of the American Association of Advertising Agencies. A staff reporter traced the founding date of the paper to October, 1894, thereby dispensing with confusing serial numbers. Throughout the year no by-lined stories ran; credit went to The Collegian only. Organization trips were reported to the paper by staff representatives en route, to insure timeliness of news. A new signature design for the paper was adopted.

The staff of 1931 feels it has been constructive and a potent factor in the molding of campus thought.
The most appropriate theme that could be chosen for a Southwestern College year-book is one that is closely associated with the school. We believe that the theme of the 1931 Moundbuilder—that of building mounds—is the most appropriate theme that has ever been chosen.

Nearest and dearest to every Moundbuilder student's heart is this name by which he is designated. As the very name Moundbuilder signifies to all who hear it—ambition and achievement—the Moundbuilder of this year is a faithful record of hopes and accomplishments of Southwestern.

The Moundbuilding Ceremony originated by Dean Allen just one college generation ago, was suggestive of the theme. It is our belief that to this year's senior class the annual may be a reminder of that ceremony which has grown to mean so much to them.

In this annual through its Moundbuilder theme has been collected the multitude of activities and events, and organizations that go to make up the great Southwestern.

It is our wish that this Moundbuilder will be to you a magic mirror which will present for you your past year in its entirety as you look through its pages. It is our hope that this Moundbuilder has added a small amount to the towering mound that is Southwestern.
It is the purpose of the Women's Athletic Association to promote interest in athletics and good sportsmanship among girls and to stimulate pep for all college activities. The local chapter was organized in 1924 under the leadership of Miss Lillian Cloud, director of physical education for girls.

All the girls' athletics are sponsored by the W.A.A. Intramural, and class teams have been organized in volleyball, basketball, baseball, track, tennis and ring tennis.

Points are awarded for participation in these activities and for hiking, keeping health rules, perfect attendance at gymnasium classes and for scholastic achievement. When 300 points have been earned the girl is entitled to membership in the Builderettes, the W.A.A. pep club. The highest honor which a girl may receive is the Southwestern blanket for 2000 points. The white "S" sweater is given for 1500 points.

Southwestern participates in the quadrangular play day which also includes Pittsburg, Friends, and Wichita University. Each year the W.A.A. holds a High School Play Day at which time representatives from various high schools are entertained and contests held.
ATHLETICS
A LTHOUGH handicapped by injuries and more than the usual share of "bad breaks," the 1930 Builder football squad made a creditable showing against the best of Kansas grid teams.

Charles Fossey, basket ball captain and veteran on the gridiron squad, was out for the entire season because of a bad knee. Other injuries of a less serious nature kept men on the bench throughout the year. Added to this was the task of finding a number of new men to fill the vacancies of graduation. The 1930 starting lineup often included from three to five men who were playing their first year of collegiate football. The Builders opened the season with a thrilling 13-to-7 victory over Friends University at Wichita. A 98-yard dash for a touchdown by Clay Hildinger, end, was probably the most sensational run contributed by any Builder during the season.

In the Central Conference, the Purple eleven did not fare so well. College of Emporia was tied, 0 to 0. Emporia Teachers outscored the Monypeny men in the annual Homecoming battle, and Pittsburg Teachers handed them a setback on the home field. In the yearly grudge game with Wichita University, the Shockers were victorious, 18 to 7.

The squad then journeyed to Shawnee, Okla., to engage the Oklahoma Baptist University. After a poor first half, the Purple team came back with a brilliant rally in the closing minutes, but fell short by a single point. The powerful Washburn eleven, champions of the Central Conference, defeated the Builders, 33 to 6.

Ready for the plunge

Maurice Williams
Assistant Coach Football
LEONARD NOEL—Noel is only a freshman, but his great playing won him a place on the second All-Conference selection.
RAYMOND McALLISTER—A shoulder injury handicapped "Mac" all during the season. He has two more years to wear Purple noleskins.
BERNARD PARKER—Parker's ranginess made him an ideal choice for one of the wing positions.
ORLEY WILCOX—When Orley played his last game on Thanksgiving day, Southwestern lost a good captain, a smart field general, and one of the best ball-carriers of the Central Conference.
WILFRED Okerberg—Sport fans of Kansas will long remember the versatile playing of the mighty "Oke." His work in the Central-Kansas conference charity game at Topeka was outstanding.
RUSSELL HAMMOND—"Rusty" proved to be a mighty valuable sub on more than one occasion. He is a freshman.
CALVIN HENSELY—Hensely was one of the hardest-hitting ball carriers the Purple team possessed.

Below—Hays makes a wide end sweep.
OSWALD HAUSCHILDT—"Oz" ended his gridiron career by playing his usual dependable game. He ranks with the best centers of the conference.

HALBERT EVERETT—Everett proved a valuable understudy at the pivot position. He should make a name for himself in the next three years.

VIRGIL BRUCE—"Brucey" played regularly at an end position. His ability to catch passes from all angles and in all positions made him feared by the opposition.

ALLAN WOOLARD—"Pewee" subbed at the quarter position. A 70-yard run against Washburn was his best contribution of the season.

LEE HAMM—Lee was the smallest man on the Purple line, but he made up for his size with his everlasting fight.

LAWRENCE RICHARDSON—"Jake" worked at quarter and did some mighty fine playing. He has one more year of competition.

Below—A mixup in the Turkey-Day battle.
FOOTBALL

DAN SWARTZ—Dan's size and ability proved mighty useful at tackle. He has played his last game for Southwestern.

THEYMAN MAZE—Maze played his first year for the Purple and broke into the lineup frequently at a guard position.

CLAY HILDINGER—"Hildy" was shifted from center to end at the start of the season. His 98-yard dash against Friends was the most sensational of the year.

TRUMAN MAUCK—Although lighter than most of the linemen, Mauck was one of the hardest scrappers on the Builder squad. He has one more year to play.

LYLE GLENN—Glenn had few chances to lug the ball this year, but he should have plenty in the next three seasons. He is one of the fastest men on the squad.

KENNETH DI'SENBURY—"Dusey" was never sensational, but always played a clean, hard game at guard. He is a sophomore.

BYARD ANDERSON—When "Andy" and Noel worked side by side, the opposition gained little ground through the right side of the line.

EDGAR NININGER—Ed's all-around ability as an athlete and a gentleman won him the captaincy of the next year's team. He is the fastest backfield man on the Builder squad.

MARTIN OSSOWSKI—"Baldy" worked in both the backfield and the line. He is a sure tackler and a hard fighter.

HOWARD SIDWELL—"Sid's" deceptive running and side-stepping ability made him a dangerous man in a broken field. He is a junior.

JUEL GERBOTH—If "Big Gerb" ever got up the speed of a ten-second dash man, you might as well try to stop a steam roller on the downgrade.

KEITH CORP—Corp's ability to lug the ball allowed him to break into the lineup rather frequently. He has three years yet to play.

Satisfied Spectators
Basket Ball

CHARLES FOSSEY—Captain "Cob" has played his last basketball game for Southwestern and has added a fourth stripe to his sweater for four years of play on Builder teams. Despite a knee injury which kept him out of the game almost all of the preceding season and which hampered his play during the past year, Fossey played fine basketball and proved a popular and capable leader of the squad. Fans will not soon forget how he pulled the Washburn game out of the fire with a beautiful goal in the closing seconds and his determined playing in the Pittsburg-Southwestern battle.

HOWARD SIDWELL—"Sid's" brilliant playing has won him the captaincy of the Purple squad of next year as well as countless places on "all" teams, both official and unofficial. His ability at handling the ball, dribbling and deceptive passing, as well as his eye for the basket has made him a popular choice for a guard position on the mythical all-Central team. After watching Sidwell play one sports writer of the Central loop remarked in the columns of his paper that the only way to stop him was to tackle him below the knees. Doubtless several of the opposing players had figured that out long before.

LEE SHEPARD—Although Shepard did not have the opportunities that fell in the path of some of the other players, he took advantage of the chances which come his way. He subbed at the forward positions. "Shep" is a good dribbler, and is the fastest man on the Purple squad, but is handicapped by his size. He has won two letters and has a chance to add another year.

WILFRED OKERBERG—After four years of competition on Builder athletic teams, "Okey" leaves Southwestern with a versatile sports record that challenges the best in the state. On the gridiron, basketball court, and cinder track he has proved himself a great athlete. In his four years he has played forward, center, and guard on the basketball squad. During the past season he jumped center and dropped back to a defensive position. He consistently outjumped every opposing center and was rated as one of the greatest defensive players in the Central Conference. Nearly every sports authority that named an all-conference team placed "Okey" on either the first or second five.
Basket Ball

HALBERT EVERETT—Everett is a freshman from Colorado who played his first year on the Purple squad. He is big and husky and proved a valuable man at the defensive posts. Occasionally he jumped center and then dropped back to guard when Okerberg was not in the line-up. With more experience Everett should put up a good fight for one of the regular guard positions.

CHESTER HAMM—"Chet" proved a capable understudy for the first-string guards during the early part of the season, and when Sidwell was injured stepped into the varsity play. Although inexperienced in collegiate basketball, he developed quickly and broke into the line-up regularly. He is a rangy player and takes the ball from the backboard in nice fashion. He has three more years of competition and should be holding down a regular job during that time.

MILTON WHITSON—"Whit" played his first year for Southwestern and proved to the sports fans that he is one of the greatest players to come to the Builder school in several years. "Tip-in" and "follow" shots, the ability to pivot and dribble around a guard, and everlasting fight from whistle to gun made Whitson an almost unanimous choice for all-Central honors. Schmidt of Pittsburgh was the only other choice of the writers that was more popular than the Builder pivot ace, and was, incidentally, the only other player to outscore him in the Central conference.

VIRGIL BRUCE—"Brucey" was shifted from the center position to a forward berth at the start of the season and played his best in every game. His ability to secure the ball on the tip-off, his excellent floor play and fight made him an indispensable cog in the Purple machine. His season's play earned him a place of honorable mention on most of the all-Central selections. He is a sophomore and has two more years to don a Builder suit.
Southwestern Intercollegiate Tournament

FIRST place in the Third Annual Southwestern Intercollegiate Basket Ball Tournament went to the University of Wichita, runners-up in the Central Conference by defeating Maryville Missouri Teachers, defending champions, 27 to 23 in the final game.

Four states, Missouri, Oklahoma, Nebraska, and Kansas, were represented in the third annual meet, which was held March 4, 5, 6 and 7 in Stewart Gymnasium. Play in the tourney was closer than in either of the previous meets, several of the games being decided by one-point margins or in over-time periods.

Southwestern was eliminated in the second round by Emporia Teachers College. The Builders were greatly handicapped for the tournament by the loss of Howard Sidwell, all-conference guard, who was forced out with a knee injury.

THE WINNERS

Wichita University—First.
Mary, Mo., Teachers—Second.
Central Teachers, Edmond, Okla.—Third.
Emporia Teachers—Fourth.
Chillico Indians—First round consolation winner.
College of Emporia—Second round consolation winner.

Presentation of Trophy
After an absence of two years, baseball was returned to Southwestern as a minor sport in the spring of 1930. Because of the conflict with track and the fact that only one other Central Conference school was represented on the diamond, baseball was again dropped from the roll of Builder sports during the present year.

When Coach Ersal Cain called out the 1930 diamond players only two or three of the men who responded were experienced players, these having been members of various independent teams. With the exception of Robert Weir, a freshman southpaw, Coach Cain was unable to find a consistent hurler. None of the squad members were experienced in the pitching duties, so the brunt of the season's mound work fell on Weir.

Series of games were played with St. John's College of Emporia, St. Mary's and the Chilocco Indians. Although the majority of the games were lost, the Builders did well for inexperienced players, who were likewise handicapped by the lack of a good diamond on which to practice.

Track

The 1930 Builder track squad, composed largely of new material, made a fair showing during the season. With the exception of two the entire squad is back in school, indicating that the 1931 team should be stronger than the one of '30.

A mile relay team composed of Ely, Roniger, Wolfe and Woolard, with Gerboth, a distance runner, entered the K. C. A. C. indoor meet. The relay team ran second in its division to the fast Haskell Indian quartet.

The annual class affair went to the Juniors. The Freshmen and Sophomores tied for second and the Seniors were fourth. The meet was the closest in history, only six points separation between the winner and fourth place.

Oklahoma Aggies, defending champions of the Missouri Valley, defeated the Builders at Stillwater 86 to 45 in a dual tilt. In another dual meet with Chilocco Indians, Southwestern was easily victorious on the home field.

In a triangular meet at Wichita, with Friends University, Bethel and Southwestern competing, the Builders were nosed out of first place by a single point. The final results were: Friends 66, Southwestern 65, Bethel 2.

In the Central Conference meet, held under the floodlights at Topeka, the Builders placed last with 5½ points.

WHAT A BOOK!

Never do school annual staffs appreciate the full significance of "leadership in the printing and binding of yearbooks," until they actually experience the thrill of opening the first shipping case containing their own Kraft Built annuals. In the past eighteen years, more than 350 yearbook staffs have experienced that thrill . . . just as they have enjoyed, in the preceding months, the helpfulness of experienced, thorough, personal service. Staffs of 1932 will do well to give serious consideration to this organization, when placing their printing and binding contracts.
