Southwestern College was chartered June 19, 1885, by the Methodists of Kansas. Forty-three students met on September 7, 1886, in a downtown building to form the first class. The original name of the college was "The Southwestern Kansas Conference College"; the name "Southwestern College" was adopted in 1908.

The campus facilities were seriously affected in 1950 by a fire which destroyed the interior of Richardson Administration Building. The reconstruction of this building and the erection of new academic facilities has provided the college with a pleasant campus contrasting the traditional and modern in support of its program.

In the fall of 1968 Southwestern presented a new curriculum and academic calendar designed to provide students with a program to meet current educational needs.

The academic offerings and opportunities for students of both Southwestern and St. John's colleges were increased and improved in 1972 by the formation of the Cooperating Winfield Colleges. This consortium relationship allows students to benefit from the course offerings and libraries of both colleges only four blocks apart.

Today Southwestern continues to expand and innovate around a traditional liberal arts base. Travel, independent study, internships, lectures, laboratories and other activities provide an exciting meld in the search for meaning, values, skills, and knowledge.

January Term Offers Varied Experiences

January Term offered many off-campus trips for students who had the finances necessary for them. Education students could work at either McCurdy Mission School in Española, New Mexico or at the Olathe, Kansas School for the Deaf. Government students could visit the Kansas state capitol in Topeka. Religious students could travel either to McCurdy or to Dallas as part of the Bi-Polar Personal Growth Seminar. Members of the Choir and selected French students toured the Great South, concentrating in New Orleans, and Louisiana. English and drama students who were especially wealthy or spent their life's savings went to England and Scotland. Natural science students could choose between three different trips. Biologists went to the Oregon Institute of Marine Biology via the Grand Canyon. Other science majors worked at Oak Ridge, Tennessee. One biology-chemistry student spent the month on a safari in Kenya, Africa. Numerous interesting courses were also taught on campus. Information Processing Systems was taught by an S.C. alumni who returned to teach the course without pay as a voluntary contribution to SC's Jan. Term offerings. Airport Management used Arthur Haley's novel, Airport, as its text. Body language was demonstrated in Intercultural Communication on campus. Numerous other courses were also available for SC students who remained on campus throughout Jan. Term. BELOW: Scenes from the England trip are portrayed here. Those attending this trip are pictured in the lower picture. UPPER RIGHT: Students participate in the Intercultural Communications class on campus. A knowledge of American history is an invitation to experience the accomplishment, drama, tragedy and hope of an infant nation struggling to grow up. Sturdy, determined pioneers hacked away at the edges of a raw continent and, with blunders and achievements alike, modeled a country with a spirited nature and a united commitment to individual liberty for every one of its citizens. Americans, great and not so great, have given us a heritage to carry on and improve upon. Farmers and soldiers, industrialists and merchants, dreamers and leaders, are all there in two centuries of progress.

But the maturing isn’t finished. You’ll find the boundaries of growth as endless today as when our forefathers first envisioned them. You can seek out your own destiny with the wisdom and judgement which comes with re-creation of the past. Your knowledge, dreams and industry will carry on through many more centuries of living history.
IN CONGRESS. JULY 4, 1776.

The unanimous Declaration of the thirteen united States of America.

When in the Course of human Events it becomes necessary for one People to dissolve the political Bands which have connected them with others, and to assume among the Powers of the Earth the separate and equal Station to which the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitle them, a decent Respect to the Opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the Separation.

We hold these Truths to be self-evident, that all Men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain Inalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.—That to secure these Rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the Consent of the governed.—That whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these Ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such Principles and organizing its Powers in such Form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that Governments long established should not be changed for light and transient Causes; and accordingly all experience hath shown, that Wars are blundered into, as well as Governments, and that major Changes are not promoted by gradual Improvements; but, by sudden and radical Epizods. . . .

We, therefore, the Representatives of the United States of America, in General Congress, Assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the World for therectitude of our Intentions, do, in the Name, and by the Authority of the United States, solemnly publish and declare, That these United States are, and of Right ought to be Free and Independent; that they are Absolved from all Allegiance to the British Crown, and that all Political Connection between them and the State of Great Britain is, and ought to be, totally dissolved; and that as Free and Independent States, they have full Power to levy War, conclude Peace, contract Alliances, establish Commerce, and to do all other Acts and Things which Independent States, may of Right do. —And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the Protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes and our sacred Honor.
"Everything that is right or reasonable pleads for separation. The blood of the slain, the weeping voice of nature cries, 'tis time to part." — Thomas Paine.
The Stamp Act of 1765 was an attempt by England to tax items that were wholly American. The colonists reacted in settling resentments which erupted into angry pretestations. The first blood of the American Revolution was spilled during one such incident at Boston in 1770. Several Americans lost their lives over a snowball thrown at a British sentry.

Frontiersmen cleared the wilderness, built settlements and drove back the Indians. The Pony Express and the telegraph became primary means of communication.

Agriculture was the wealth of the country. American inventions of the time were often related to working the soil. The McCormick Reaper, mowing machines, textile looms and the cotton gin were instrumental in the settling of new frontiers.

In 1848, James Marshall found gold in the race of a sawmill he was building for John Sutter at Coloma, California. The lust to "get rich quick" was the force behind this biggest and gaudiest gold rush ever.

While "gold rush fever" gripped the country, states were increasingly more divided on the slavery issue. Civil war broke out in the East. This "Brothers War" was bitterly fought out though the scars remain even today, slavery was abolished.

Cities grew at an alarming pace, often without regard to the limits of safety. The great Chicago fire of 1871 burned the bustling cattlemen's empire beyond recognition. But the pioneer spirit was not broken. Chicagoans began rebuilding and preparations were underway to celebrate the 100th birthday of the city.

In the fight to achieve commerce equality, the United States found itself in a naval war over shipping lanes. Fort McHenry was heroically held during a British naval bombardment, and the stars and stripes still flew after a night of hard fighting. The next morning, Francis Scott Key penned the immortal words of what would become the national anthem.

Settlers had to have permanent access to the new lands, so canals and bridges were built to carry stages and wagon trains loaded with machinery destined for settlements in the West. The pioneers foresaw great wealth in the cheap acreage that was available.

Transportation of American was mobile, society mobile. Along with the new era of nation came the railroads.
Transportation was setting the pattern for the American way of life. The country became a mobile society with electric trolleys, automobiles, farm machinery, and bicycles, all the rage. Along with the accessibility of travel came a new era of nationalism.

A World War called upon the nation's young men to unite and fight. After the war in Europe, the nation pulled itself together and industry flourished once again. A carefree America buried war memories in the new moving pictures, telephones, light bulbs, electric generators, stock market ticker tape machines, photographs and a wealth of inventions from the fertile minds of its young inventors. Baseball became the national sport and prohibition was law.

Black Thursday, October 24, 1929, saw the American stock market crash to the lowest level in history. Panic set in as the unemployment level skyrocketed. The country was in its worst economic crisis. Slowly, but surely, the wounds of the "crash," the "dust bowl," and poverty healed.

Huge strides were being taken in the scientific field. Television became a part of every family's life. National events were household topics — while they happened — thanks to the new medium. Individuals and groups were seen "on the tube" as they advocated new social reform, or justice, or special causes of their own. TV gave individuals and political systems power greater than ever before. Audio-visual journalism had made its impact.

The steel industry geared up for the revival while rumors were whispered in the Roosevelt administration of another impending war. The nation's leaders scoffed: until December 7, 1941 Pearl Harbor!

Industrial production reached a peak during the war years. Upon their return from four years of battle, the veterans forged ahead with an eye on a "better life for everyone." Several moderate recessions in the 50's and 60's reminded cautious citizens of past decades.

Nearly 100 years of struggling for civil liberties were realized when President Lyndon Baines Johnson signed the Civil Rights Act of 1964 into law. The Act outlawed segregation in any form.

The seventies shed light on a new trouble for the nation as it approached its 200th birthday. The world's energy sources and natural resources were being used up faster than they could be replenished. Americans once again waded into a new frontier. The "energy crisis" and "ecology" were prominent words in the language. Ways to save nature from the neglect of mankind and ways of preserving precious fuel without damaging that balance of nature were the objectives of Americans across the country.

Earth's crises spurred Americans into further pioneering. This time outer space. American astronauts were the first on the surface of the moon and the U.S. was first to build a "sky-lab" for more scientific study.

American is still learning and growing after a mere 200-year infancy. The original determination of our forefathers was told again in the words of Neil Armstrong as he made the first step on the moon: "a small step for man, but a giant step for mankind."
Ownership of land had been just a dream to most of the colonists from feudal England. With the great expanse of cheap land opening up in the West, the dream became reality.

The Louisiana Purchase of 1803 opened the first sizable frontier in the Midwest, but the nation was not ready for it yet. It took a growing market in the East, where land was getting high-priced and scarce, and development of good transportation, to really start the frontier movement.

The Gold Rush caused hordes of settlers to take various routes to the Pacific Coast and its yellow riches. The railroads brought farmers and ranchers, along with the miners, who decided to stop all along the routes and build their homes. Railroads were instrumental in the quick civilization of the West, bringing people in numbers so large that the resentful Indians were finally pushed back into unwanted and infertile areas. America became a haven for immigrants from every nation as freedom beckoned them to the teeming cities of the East, the plains, and the rich west coast farmlands.

Sick of the Civil War and with their own lands divided up and lost, many Southerners set out to "begin again" in the virgin territories. "Westering" soon became the national tradition as North and South moved together toward a new life. Americanism was advanced socially, by the hard-working, bare-fisted types who settled the frontiers.

Without realizing it, England instilled in the colonists the individual purpose and ingenuity that necessity breeds. With trade goods cut to a minimum, determined young leaders of the time set out to find ways of surviving without support from the Mother Country.

Agricultural methods and machines and labor-saving devices were designed by our forefathers. As frontiers opened, Yankee genius had to conquer natural barriers in the wild new country, so suspension bridges were invented and methods of transportation were perfected for the purpose of opening the untamed areas. Later, they sought to section off the land with the revolutionary and controversial invention—barbed wire.

Cooper’s 1-horsepower Tom Thumb train in 1830 and later, automobiles like the first Model T, and the 4-horsepower airplane; became American modes of travel from city to city and coast to coast.

Americans knew that the fertile lands of this nation would produce unequalled harvests if machines were designed to take over for man. They knew also that trade routes were difficult to travel and manufacturing would have to be done close to home. The cotton gin, textile looms, drill presses and a reaper which could cut six times as much grain as a hand scythe were some of the tools invented.

Protection for themselves and for their young country prodded inventors like Eli Whitney to perfect firearms and others to work on plans for the first submarine. Young inventors like Alexander Graham Bell and Thomas Edison (called the nation’s most valuable citizen) visualized machines that would light the country and open up communication with those in the far corners of the nation. The telephone, telegraph, phonograph and the first light bulb were discovered in the late 1800’s and early twentieth century. This American way of doing for oneself inspired many to become inventors in their own right. Some sought to save labor and mass-produce for profit while others envisioned not only riches, but excitement and adventure as they discovered ways to defy nature.

Throughout the past 200 years the American mind has been unleashed to take whatever paths necessary to fulfill the needs. In the last half-century, the pace of discovery has been overwhelming and inventions for the taming of the universe lie in the grasp of America while the habit of “finding a way” is ingrained in its people. The seeds of industrial America were sown by these inventors resulting in today’s mechanized society.
THEY MADE THEIR MARK
Men and women who helped shape America's history

THOMAS PAINE, a Quaker schoolmaster, became the leading political journalist and writer of the American Revolution. He wrote a series of articles that helped to rally public support for independence.

DANIEL WEBSTER, a lawyer, politician, and orator, played a significant role in the nation's early history. He was a key figure in the debate over the extension of slavery into the western territories.

DOROTHEA DUSKE, a women's rights activist, was a pioneer in the fight for women's suffrage. She helped to organize the first women's rights convention in 1848, and was a strong advocate for women's equality.

CHIEF JUSTICE JOHN MARSHALL established the principle of judicial review. His decision in Marbury v. Madison in 1803 established the Supreme Court's power to declare acts of Congress unconstitutional.

FREDERICK DOMAGS, an abolitionist, was a skilled orator and writer. He helped to organize the first antislavery convention in 1833, and was a key figure in the abolitionist movement.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN, the 16th president of the United States, is remembered for his role in the American Civil War and his efforts to preserve the Union.

HARRIET BEECHER STOWE wrote Uncle Tom's Cabin, a novel that helped to bring the issue of slavery to the forefront of national debate.

HORACE GREELEY'S "Go West, Young Man" is one of the most famous quotes in American history. It encouraged young men to seek opportunities in the western United States.

AMELIA JENKS BLOOMER, an early suffragist, is known for her advocacy of women's rights. She helped to establish the first women's rights organizations in the United States.

JOSEPH PULITZER, a journalist, was a key figure in the development of American journalism. He founded the New York World newspaper, which was known for its sensationalist reporting.
HOOVER CARRIEG was a giant in the spiritual and civil relations. He believed that it was the duty of a rich man to distribute his wealth during his lifetime. To that end, he established 2500 libraries and many cultural halls throughout America.

A lifetime passion for machinery led HENRY FORD to Detroit where, in 1896, he completed his first motor vehicle. The Ford Motor Company manufactured the first "Model T" in 1908.

One of the most elementary symbols of the American way of life was established when J. EDGAR HOUSTON and his Federal Bureau of Investigation "G-Men" set out to clean up the country. His career spanned over 40 years.

The motion picture industry was revolutionized in America by DAVID WARK GRIFITH, became known as the "father of the film art" and "king of directors" for his part in this revolution. His camera techniques were the pioneering steps of the industry.

SERVING an unprecedented four terms as President of the United States, FRANKLIN DELANO ROOSEVELT was a genuine leader who made extensive use of press radio and his own personal appeal to push them through Congress.

ROBERT FROST's poetry was clear, understated, well-metered and told the stories of rural America. He was a four-time winner of the Pulitzer Prize and has been called America's poet laureate.

A plain, homely woman with tremendous appeal to the masses, who was always in the "thick of things," describes ELEANOR ROOSEVELT and her lifetime of politicking beside her husband during his four terms.

THURGOOD MARSHALL is the first Negro to serve as a justice of the Supreme Court. His law career was aimed primarily at civil rights cases.

The battle against polio was conquered by DR. JOHN DOLAN in 1953 after more than 25 years of research. Polio was reduced by 96% in less than ten years. DOLAN's research continues in California at the Salk Institute.

MARTIN LUTHER KING was a leader in the cause of civil rights. He had been a pastor before turning to the work of segregation. His leadership earned him the Nobel Peace Prize in 1964. He was assassinated by James Earl Ray in 1968.

Lieutenant Colonel JOHN GLENN started America's travels to outer space when he became the first American to orbit the earth. He had been an aviator in World War II and a test pilot in pacotime.

GERALD R. FORD, the first President to achieve the office without an election. In 1974, through a series of scandalous events, the Nixon administration toppled and FORD reached the position through approval by Congress.
WORKING FOR THE YANKEE DOLLAR

Imagine buying that acre of land you have spotted for $1,251. Or, even at the higher price of $10. Those are the prices offered to our founding fathers to encourage settlement of the wilderness areas of this nation.

A stage wasn’t the most comfortable way to go, but you could get from city to city for as little as $3 – at the amazing pace of six miles per hour.

Compare today’s wages with a 12-hour day in the early 1800’s. A man earned 50¢ a day. Of course his dollar bought a little more today. Butter in 1826 was about $5 lb in the Midwest. Eggs, 3¢ doz.; corn, 6¢ bu.; wheat, 25¢ bu., and a cow could be bought for $5.

With travel becoming the American tradition, you could choose train, wagon, horseback or the water. A canal ride, with bed and board included, averaged 3 or 4¢ per mile. And when you reached your destination, you could sit down to 2 or 3 meals. 10 course meal for 25¢. (Ladies 20¢, in consideration of appetite.)

Farmers in the early 1800’s could own the famous McCormick Reaper for a mere $100. But the Civil War increased prices as the machine became the first item farmers could buy on time payments for the sum of $1,500.

A good suit of clothes then might cost $1.95 and ladies’ wares (blouses) were marketed for 49¢ to $2.50 with a whole dress pattern at 15¢.

A first electric refrigerator cost $900 – which might be enough to make you faint on your 19th century couch that had cost a mere $7.85.

Your new baby travelled in the height of fashion in a wicker sleeping coach (stroller) for the sum of $12.04. If you had $1,500 in 1903 you could show off in one of the first automobiles.

Ah those were the days. Some of the current prices are reminiscent of those days, but at frontier prices, which were a whole different story. Hardy pioneers had to pay $2 a pound for sugar, too. And the same for a pound of coffee or pepper. Those items were only 15¢ per pound back in civilized St. Louis. Flour was marked up 100 times for sale to the frontiersmen and during the famous Gold Rush, that precious commodity went for $400 a barrel.

Collegian Obtains Goals

In its "second year after being re-established by editor Ed Stucky, the newspaper set as its goals better coverage of more events, more comments and rebuttal on campus issues, ad more variety in its stories. The staff tracked down what "big stories" it could find at SC, including the debate over the Center for Christian Values, the gift of the Wellington airport, the establishment of the Division of Management Science in Overland Park and Wichita, open visitation, honor housing, UFO's, amusements in Winfield, and the search for a new "office". Stucky was pleased with the enthusiastic reception the "new" paper received and hoped that the Collegian would continue as a necessary, respected, and probably controversial part of Southwestern.

Staff Improves Yearbook

This year’s Moundbuilder staff was determined to produce one of the best yearbooks in the nation or at least that Southwestern College has ever had. Time, energy, and a great deal of enthusiasm, along with working many late nights has gone towards meeting that goal. We, the staff, hope you will agree that the 1976 Moundbuilder is a yearbook to be looked at with pride.

The first concert was presented in November, and pieces performed included Aaron Copeland's "An Outdoor Overture", Tchaikovsky's "Nutcracker Suite", and Schubert's "Symphony #7 in C Major". The orchestra played Handel's "Messiah" in December, and a string orchestra accompanied the A Cappella Choir in a Bach Cantata. In March, the orchestra played for the 42nd performance of Mendelssohn's "Elijah". In April, the full orchestra again joined forces with the choir to present Gail Kubik's "A Mirror For the Sky", a folk opera containing such memorable songs as "Conestoga Wagons", "Woman is the Forged Wheel", "Along About Cockcrow", and "Big Chickey — Little Chickey". Together with the choir, the orchestra traveled to Independence to give this concert in honor of Mr. Kubik. Choir Has Active Year

A Cappella Choir, under the direction of Dr. Warren B. Wooldridge, had a busy first semester. To earn money for their Jan. Term trip to New Orleans, several performances in Wichita, Burden, on-campus, and in area churches were given. During the first week of Jan. Term, the choir spent 5-6 hours a day in rehearsal, and one hour daily in lecture to learn about the French influence in America. On January 11, A Cappella Choir left for a two week tour throughout Kansas, Tennessee, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Oklahoma, and New Orleans. Second semester A Cappella Choir remained active. A concert in Independence, featuring the music of Kansas composed Gail Kubiak, was presented. Southwestern's Alpha Chi chapter of this international music sorority also participated in Homecoming with a 'You Gotta Believe ... In Music' float, supported KSWC's Leukemia Marathon and the Winfield Oratorio Society, and presented a joint recital with Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonias in December. In March, the chapter sponsored a concert of professional artists, and later hosted the 1976 Mu Phi District 19 Conference attended by chapters from Kansas and Oklahoma. Pi Kappa Delta, Debate, Interpretation Squads Promote Forensics

Pi Kappa Delta is a national honorary forensics fraternity of which Southwestern is a charter member. Its two major activities for this year were hosting a high school debate tournament in late September and the 52nd Anniversary Mound-Builder Invitational Debate Tournament in February, which was attended by 23 colleges and universities from several states.

This year’s debate season was one for rebuilding as Southwestern returned only one debater with collegiate competitive experience. Although the squad’s win-loss record was not particularly impressive, the work and spirit of the young debaters were. The team attended nearly 20 tournaments, including the University of Wyoming, Wichita State University, Oklahoma Christian College, and Hutchinson Junior College, where Horn received a silver platter for “Outstanding Debate Coach.”

Southwestern’s Oral Interpretation students successfully participated in numerous interpretation festivals. Directed by Mrs. Gelva Hanson, they traveled to such schools as Wichita State, North Texas State, Nebraska Wesleyan, Southwest Missouri State, and Emporia Kansas State. Campus Players Admit Several New Members

“Company” and “Eagerheart” were the two productions this year of Campus Players, the honorary drama society at Southwestern. Eleven full members admitted 18 probationary members, the probationary status being applied until a major technical or acting role has been completed and the full members have voted for admission.

The dinner-theater production of “Company” raised approximately $1,700, and the CP’s hope to use the money to renovate the dressing rooms and the costume department shop. Other projects for the year included a costumed Halloween party, a cleanup of the scene shop under Sonner Stadium, and a spring banquet to honor senior members.

Beta Beta Beta Members Learn About Science

Beta Beta Beta, the national honorary biology fraternity on campus, centered most of this year's activities around learning about the various aspects of science through lectures and slide presentations. Dr. Wimmer, Dr. Hunter, and Mr. Thompson each showed the group slides on reptiles, various coastal invertebrates, and Africa, respectively. Besides learning about biology, the group also had teams which were involved in the on-campus intramural sports. This organization also helped to add color to Homecoming by making and selling mum corsages. The efforts spent for this project were rewarded at the end of the year when the organization held a picnic for old and new members. To be an active member of Beta Beta Beta, a student must have a 3.0 grade point in biology, a 2.5 grade point overall, and have at least 12 semester hours in biology. Twelve New Members Pledge Theta Phi Delta

Although the 28 members of Theta Phi Delta are spread over the campus, they all join together to add to the activities of the school year. This year the Thetas have again had members in varsity athletics, student council, choir, campus plays, and the Board of Trustees.

Max Thompson was the faculty sponsor for Theta Phi Delta this year. Officers were Steve Kelman, President; Greg Unruh, Vice-President; Steve Renner, Secretary; Dave Peck, Treasurer; Jim Morgan, Alumni Secretary; and Jim Heck, Historian.

The Theta cannon was heard again at football games. Homecoming brought the Thetas awards for their float and cheering section. In December, the annual caroling party was held and toys and candy were given to several Winfield schools.

Spring brought the many activities associated with Rush Parties and pledging new members. After the water had settled at the most, the fraternity had 12 new members.

The Thetas once again sponsored Stud Jock Day in the spring. The members celebrated the end of the year with a formal dinner in Wichita and a picnic at the lake.

Beta Rho Mu Pledges 14

Beta Rho Mu, an athletic fraternity on campus, had a rewarding year. The highlight of the year came in the form of another first place trophy for the Beta trophy case. The award represented the championship of the Men's Intramural Basketball Competition. BPM held its pledge session during the two weeks preceding spring break. At that time a new record number of 14 were pledged into the ranks of Beta Rho Mu. During the pledge session, pledges and actives supported the IPO sponsored Red Cross Bloodmobile, and also supported Theta's Second Annual Suds Jock Day held in May. In May, the men of BRU also served as grounds keepers and umpires for the Pizza Hut Softball Tournament. The following week, the frat also sponsored a successful 6th Annual Beta Rho Mu Softball Tournament with record turnouts and competition. BRM closed out its year's activities with a Bar-B-Q held at the lake. Plans were also completed for the annual Go Nuts'er Reunion held each summer for Beta Alumni, Actives, and Pledges. Iota Pi Omega Is Active During Year

Iota Pi Omega, a women's organization on campus, worked this year to create school spirit throughout the student body and promote the name of Southwestern off campus in cooperation with other campus organizations such as SAA, public relations, the admissions office, the male fraternities, and the maintenance department. During the year, Iota Pi Omega sponsored the Ugly Man on Campus contest, built a Homecoming float which was awarded first prize, formed a flag football team, roller-skated, and held their annual birthday dinner with Iota alumni. Officers were Judy Smith, president; Denise Quillen, vice president; Melissa Moberg, secretary; Marla Bean, treasurer; Stephanie Ratliff, publicity; Carla Harris and Pam Schultz, activity chairmen; and Cheryl Gleason, alumni secretary. Cooperating Winfield Colleges Circle K International Helps Others

Circle K'S Organizational Motto Is "We Build"

Circle K is one of the newest organizations on campus. Officially titled Cooperating Winfield Colleges Circle K International, it is associated with Kiwanis Club and exists to provide concerned college students with a way to help others and serve society. Its motto, "We Build," means genuinely constructive involvement in Winfield and on the two college campuses. Its projects included selling Kiwanis popcorn, helping "Trick-or-Treat for UNICEF," and caroling at Christmas with Campus Life and the Fellowship of Christian Athletes organizations. Roland Elliot (SC) and Roland Mueller (St. John's) sponsored the organization. Student officers were Chris Cornetti, president; Lee Zwick, vice-president; and Chere Holliday, secretary-treasurer. Circle K is open to any student of good character and scholastic standing who is officially enrolled in the institution where the club exists. To be eligible for membership, a student must meet the minimum scholastic and attendance standards of the college or university and must attend 80 percent of the scheduled meetings of his club. Radio Club Changes Name; Remodels Work Area

As KSWC-FM was filling the air with sound, it was changing on the inside. The name of the organization was changed to Southwestern Broadcasting Association when the addition of equipment gave the club potential for work in visual as well as audio media. The station was also remodelled for better efficiency this past year. KSWC joined the National Leukemia Radiothon network in February, collecting over $200 in pledges. In fact, KSWC-FM was the only student operated station to participate in this Radiothon. Officers for the 1975-76 school year were David James, president; Connie Feste, vice-president; Linda Negen, station manager, Mike Garner, program director; Leon Fundenberger, treasurer; Niki Nelson, secretary. Homecoming 1975
‘You Got To Believe’

Alumni, parents, and friends returned to SC for Homecoming '75, Saturday, October 4. This year's theme was "You've Got To Believe". Miss Lillian Garibay, SC junior from the Phillipines, was crowned Homecoming Queen and reigned over the Builder-Bethel game. Her attendants were Bev Coe, Kathy Regnier, Lisa Temple, and Carol Thorne. Even though the Builder team was defeated by Bethel, 14-7, it was a beautiful day for celebrating SC's Homecoming. Besides the parade, crowning, game, and traditional dance, IPO sponsored the " Ugliest Man On Campus Contest ", which was won by Mike Bishop, Theta's contestant. Topping off the day's activities was the Maynard Ferguson Concert that night.

It's Picking Time Again At The "1975"
Winfield Walnut Valley Bluegrass Festival

Southwestern students again had the opportunity to join the more than 15,000 people from all over the United States at the 4th National Guitar Flatpicking Championship, Bluegrass Music, and Folk Arts and Crafts Festival. This festival, an annual event held at the Winfield fairgrounds since 1972, gave students a chance to hear Norman Blake, Dan Crary, Bryan Bowers, and other talented musicians. Good bluegrass bands like Natural Grass and Grand River Township also performed. A large collection of handmade goods, being sold by some 150 craftsmen were also on display at the festival. Winfield residents, such as Mrs. Ivan Scott, demonstrated some old-time skills like soap-making and quilting. The art work of Warren Brown's students from SC was also displayed. Generally, SC students joined the crowd for a weekend of fun at this year's festival.
“Virginia Woolf” Portrays Games Of Life

“Who’s Afraid of Virginia Woolf” was presented in the Little Theater September 24-27 at the College. Cast members included Allyson Moon, as Martha; John Beck, as George; Sheryl Rose, as Honey; and Brian Evans, as Nick. Norman Callison directed the play with Mary Green serving as assistant director and Beate Eggert as stage manager.

The play was set in a New England town where both George and Nick taught at the local college. Many things can happen when people get together and this time the viewer is given a chance to peek in on life during the early hours of the morning. Since life is not always as beautiful as some people portray it, this play gives the viewer a look into “the games men play in that noman’s land between illusion and reality”.
Musical Satire
Well Received

"For Heaven's Sake", a musical satire in two acts, was sponsored by the Religious Activities Committee. The cast performed at SC November 4 and 5 and also presented the play in several churches across the state. Cast members included Mike Marion, Jon Wooldridge, Roy Golladay, Bill Peterson, Winston McKeon, Carol Blanchard, Debbie Davis, Terry Fioramonti, and Stephanie Harris. This musical is a parable about reconciliation between people, and takes a satirical, yet respectful, look at religion in America today. Members of the cast are pictured on this page.
Beck, Borger Direct Plays

“A Memory of Two Mondays”, directed by Bill Borger, was presented November 13 and 15 in Richardson Auditorium. The play was set in an auto parts warehouse during the thirties where Bert, portrayed by Steve Ruzich, worked. Other members of the cast included: Richard Hamilton, Suzy Decker, Dee Ann Wills, Jim Williams, Alfredo Rodriguez, Mike Bishop, Brian Downey, Ron Decker, John Beck, Gary Brown, and Steve Rogers. Cindy Wesley and Barb Meier were responsible for set design and technical direction. Two scenes from “A Memory of Two Mondays” are shown above.

Have you ever wanted to know what happens when the lights go out? A British comedy directed by John Beck and performed in Richardson Auditorium November 12 and 14 provided some answers to that question. “Black Comedy” followed the theme of tricks and treachery. Stephanie Ratliff and Cindy Piel worked on the set design. Cast members were Wint Brown, Barb Meier, Linda Nixon, Craig Ussery, Jim Simmons, Winston McKee, Janis Matthews, and Aileen Upshaw. The pictures to the right may give you some idea of the action portrayed in this play.
Student Productions
Are A Big Success

On November 20 and 22 Messenger Auditorium was the place to be if you wanted to see a good performance of "H.M.S. Pinafore". The audience enjoyed seeing Dr. Warren Wooldridge as the ship's captain, and Dr. Albert Dimmitt as an uncouth sailor. Other members of the cast, under the direction of Rick Rottschaefer and Jennie Taylor (assistant director), were Lonnie Mills, Donna Buffalino, Ray Kraus, Judy Gibson, Jennifer Warner, Phil Bachus, Dwight Pete, Lori Alexander, Mary Boyle, and Jan Kraus. Dee Ann Wills, Danny Blacknall, and Carol Blanchard did a fine job of designing the set. At left are shown two of the many fine moments of the production.

Joanne Palmieri was the student director for "The American Dream", presented in the Little Theatre November 19 and 21. The set for this play was designed by Linda Green, and Liz Prichard. Jason Kenyon, Beate Eggert, Claire Casselman, Liz Prichard, and Hal Reed did an excellent job of stripping away the illusion which so often surrounds the great American dream. Pictures below show several scenes from the play.
Plays Show Talents

On November 12 and 14, the Little Theatre was the site for performances of "The Bald Soprano", directed by Ron Decker. The set for this absurd play, which presented an engrossing exercise in language and ideas, was designed by Mary Green and Sana Miller. At right, Cindy Wesley and Mike Garner are shown at one point in the play. The entire cast of "The Bald Soprano" is pictured below in a scene from the play. Cast members are Aileen Upshaw, Jim Williams, Cindy Wesley, Steve Kelman, Dee Ann Wills, and Mike Garner.

Greg White directed "The Owl and the Pussycat". The performances of this work were held in the Little Theatre November 13 and 15. This comedy, about personal relationships, starred Sally Ann Wright as an actress functioning as a "lady-of-the-evening", and Roger Moon as a bookstore clerk. Set design was by Linda Nixon. At bottom and on the lower right are two highlights from this play.
Student Performers
Prove Enthusiastic

Ten students were very actively involved in the presentation of an original Bicentennial revue entitled “76 — The Spirit Lives On”. Performances were held November 19 and 21 in Richardson Auditorium. Cast members Cindy Wesley and Claire Casselman were in charge of the musical direction. Cindy and Dee Ann Wills did the choreography, while director Alan Daymude and Jason Kenyon designed the set. Kay Fritz accompanied the cast on the piano. Other cast members included Wint Brown, Janis Matthews, Linda Nixon, and Liz Prichard. Two scenes from the show are shown at left.

BELOW: A big round of applause was due the directors of all the Student Directed Plays. Student Directors for 1975-76 were (CLOCKWISE) Bill Borger, Greg White, Ron Decker, John Beck, Rick Rottschaefer, Joanne Palmieri, and Alan Daymude.
Traditional Play Performed

In 1933, Southwestern President Claude Kirk asked then-drama instructor Miss Helen Graham to direct a Christmas play. The play, "Eagerheart" by A. M. Buckton, has been performed annually ever since and has become a tradition at Southwestern. The part of Mary is a nonspeaking role for which a female is chosen by the Campus Players. Mary's identity is revealed only in the tableau at the end of the play. The three women appearing in this honored role in the three 1975 performances were Leann Haney, Joanne Palmieri, and Merlene Waltner. Campus Players appearing in the cast were John Beck, Lori Borger, Alan Daymude, Ron Decker, Donna Hailey, Richard Hamilton, Allyson Moon, and Rick Rottschaefer. Below are scenes from the play.
Emergency Medical Training Program Thriving

Fourteen Southwestern students under the direction of alumnus Bob Prewitt have provided the Winfield area with a noteworthy new service. Winfield is, as a result, the only small city in Kansas to have its ambulance staff served by full-time, licensed paramedics. The program had its beginnings in 1973 when Prewitt, then a student at the University of Kansas School of Medicine, became enthusiastic about the possibilities of an EMICS (Emergency Mobile Intensive Care Specialist) curriculum at SC. He approached Drs. Ruthenberg and Bartow, who liked the idea of such a program. With the help of college administrative personnel, the staff of William Newton Memorial Hospital, and the Winfield Ambulance Service, the EMICS program was established in 1974. Southwestern provided the classrooms and the lab facilities for the first semester of course work. On this basis, Southwestern is the first college in the state other than the University of Kansas to offer such a program. After their first semester, students then spend an internship/study period of six months at Newton Hospital. Doctors and nurses ride with interns to insure the proper use and administration of equipment and procedures. After their internship, students take their state certification tests.

Cultural Arts Offerings Were Many And Varied
Students Enjoy Various Campus Performances

Southwestern's Cultural Arts Board, composed of faculty, administration, and students, worked this past year to bring numerous artists to campus to present a wide variety of cultural attractions. This Board attempts to engage artists of different talents so that all Southwestern students can find at least one program of interest and or entertainment during a given year. Attractions for this past school year included the Walnut Valley Bluegrass Festival (Sept. 19-21); Maynard Ferguson Orchestra — Jazz Concert (Homecoming — Oct. 4); Synesthesia — a musical slide program (Oct. 16); Paul Winter Consort Concert (Feb. 3-4); Gene Roddenberry — Star Trek creator (March 2); Boston Tea Party — a historical, musical review (March 16); Chris Swanson Trio — Moog Synthesizer (April 21); and Walnut Valley Spring Festival (May 14-16). Wayne Tucker served as Cultural Arts Board chairman. Pictures of activities are on these two pages.

Black Student Union "Contribution"

The one-act play, "Contribution", by Ted Shine was presented at Southwestern College February 26, 27, 29 during Black Awareness Week. Cast members included Linda Green as Mrs. Grace Love, David Nichols as Eugene Love, and Roxanne Johnson as Kathy Jones. The play was sponsored by the Black Student Union and directed by Beate Eggert. Beate also designed the set. Members of BSU made up the stage and lighting crews. The play portrayed the racial strife — prejudice idea prevalent in the 60's.

Southwestern College Football Team Hustles To Record As They Put Out Hard Work, Spirit,

The 1975 Builder football team finished their second consecutive winning season in second place in the KCAC with an overall mark of 6-3. Todd Dvorak, defensive end, was named to the All-District 10 Team and the KCAC team. Lou Mignone, defensive tackle, was also named to the KCAC team. The Builders began the season with wins over the Alumni and Ottawa University. In the first conference game the Builders defeated traditional rival, Friends University, for the first time in six games. The Homecoming game was lost to the Bethel Threshers. Next the Builders won a close contest against Tabor. Wins over Sterling and McPherson followed. S. C. lost its next game to KCAC champions, St. Mary of the Plains. Bethel was forced to forfeit its first six games putting the Builders back in the title race. A loss to Bethany shattered all hopes for the KCAC title. The final game resulted in a loss to Kansas Wesleyan. Twelve seniors graduate from the Builder squad this year. With many outstanding players returning, the Builders have the potential to regain the KCAC title next year.

Young Team Competes

S.C.'s young long-distance runners experienced a frustrating season. This year's squad was less experienced than was expected prior to the start of the season, yet was defending the Conference Championship. The most successful meet of the season was the Oklahoma Christian College Invitational, where the team took fourth out of the seven schools competing. Three members of the squad also received awards at this meet. Another success was the Washburn Dual in early October, which the Moundbuilders won 25 to 32. The Builders also took third in the conference meet. With the experience of a difficult season to build upon, the team anticipates a promising season next year.

Women's Tennis Team Wins KCAC Championship

On October 17, 1975 at McPherson College, the Southwestern College Women’s Tennis Team defeated four other KCAC teams to bring to S. C. the first KCAC championship trophy in Women’s Tennis. This climaxed a highly successful year in which the S. C. team won every match they played, with the exception of a second place finish to Oklahoma University Junior Varsity at the W. S. U. Quadrangular. Because of the team’s strong showing all season and due to their winning the KCAC, Coach John Paulin was voted Women’s Tennis “Coach of the Year” by the other KCAC coaches. The spring offers other goals for the team. In April, they will travel to K. U. to participate in the Missouri Valley Tournament. Then in May, depending on conference rulings, some of the team members will travel to Columbia, Missouri for the regional A.I.A.W. Tournament. If anyone finishes high at that tourney, there may be a trip to the Nationals at Salt Lake City, Utah in June.

Experienced Netters Have Good Season

Experienced Men’s Tennis Team members Ron Fish and Ken Kraus, the #2 Doubles Team for SC, were recognized as KCAC Conference champions this past season. Randy King, Ken Kraus, and Steve Wilke also reached the finals in the KCAC meet and finished second in their respective singles positions. These men were the backbone to this year’s team at SC, and with the other team members helped to bring home a 8-6 Dual Overall Record and a 6-1 Conference Record to finish out the year. “With a good, experienced returning nucleus of three men, the outlook for next season at SC is bright. Several new freshmen and transfer students also may give added depth to the team next season,” commented Coach Parmore. ABOVE: Ron Fish makes a nice serve. Southwestern Swim Club Grows In Second Year

This was the second year for the SC Swim Club at Southwestern. This past year three meets, two of which were duo-meets with Friends University, were held at SC. SC’s final meet was held at Friends University in Wichita with Graceland College, Buena Vista College, Concordia Teacher’s College, and South Dakota University also participating.

With only one returning member of last year’s team, this year’s club grew to a size of ten. The team’s peak this season was at the second meet with Friends where the outcome was determined by the last race. With the coming of nice weather and the track season, club size dropped to four faithful members who represented the club at the final meet at Friends. Norman Albright, a local insurance realtor, was coach and Don Roswurm served as assistant.

LOWER LEFT: Many SC students and faculty members helped with the two duo-meets held at SC this past year.
One of the more interesting club sports at Southwestern College this year has been soccer. While the S.C. soccer club's win-loss record did not reflect rising fortunes, the team members were interested enough to pay their own way to their matches. The international students on the team were a great help to their American teammates, and the soccer club members are hoping for better fortunes next season.

Women's Basketball Team Shows Great Promise

The 1975-76 Builder Women's Intercollegiate Basketball Team was mainly composed of freshmen and sophomores. The team worked hard and showed a great deal of enthusiasm during practices and games. Season opener was held December 3 at St. John's College with a Builder women's victory of 104-18. For such a young team, the female Builders compiled an impressive 11-7 overall record and finished with a 7-7 conference record.

Three Builder women received KCAC honors this year for their efforts. Darlene Richert, a sophomore, was named to the All-KCAC First Team, and freshmen Kim Handley and Grace Welch both received All-KCAC Honorable Mention. With these three and ten other returning team members, the outlook for the 1976-77 season is excellent.

Roundballers Have Erratic Season

The men's varsity basketball squad experienced both notable victories and trying defeats in the 1975-76 season. With an overall record of 6 wins and 17 losses and a conference mark of 5 and 11, the Builders enjoyed such high points as defeating conference leaders Kansas Wesleyan, while they also suffered through a number of narrow defeats which well could have gone the other way. Despite their less-than-glamorous record the team did its best and provided the students and other SC basketball fans with many exciting, memorable moments.

Golf Team Hosts KCAC Tourney, Captures 3rd

Mental control, judgment, timing, and coordination are major fundamentals that are developed from playing golf. SC’s golf team showed all of these skills during its successful season. This year the team played well in all of the tournaments, and the spirited golfers captured an outstanding third place in the K.C.A.C. meet. The team met up with some very tough competition during the course of their short season, but did manage to walk away with honors. The outlook for next season is good, but the loss of several senior team members may affect the team’s record. However, underlying talent and enthusiasm will tell the story in the year ahead.

Tracksters Trample Many Long Miles

Practicing and performing in rain, mud, cold, drizzle, and fog, the Builder Track Squad made it through a successful track season. Besides having strength in running events, SC's tracksters showed strong power, and gathered points in field events also. Attending seven meets, the Thinclads brought home several outstanding performances for the 1976 outdoor track and field season. Heading the list of returnees for this past season were hammer thrower Lou Mignone, javelin champ Kim Tennal, miler Steve Renner, high jumper Doug Howard, quarter-miler Jim Morgan, and sprinter Chuck Buss. Picking up wins this past season were Lou Mignone in the hammer throw in which he qualified for Nationals; Rex Davison in pole vault who took fifth in the state out of all the four-year colleges; and the Mile Relay Team composed of Craig Hartman, Larry Floyd, Jim Morgan, and Chuck Buss. Many other outstanding performances were also noticed throughout the season among the other team members. Chuck Buss was also named as the outstanding SC Track Athlete of the Year. Many Compete In Intramural All-Campus Bowling

With no playoffs required for the first time in the past three years, championship bowling honors were awarded in Intramural All-Campus Bowling held at SC each semester. Taking first place for both semesters were the GutterSweepers, a team composed of Ralph Decker, Craig Hartman, Sharon Slade, and Tom Schou. Intramural Bowling was held each Sunday evening from 8:45-11:00 p.m. and was open to anyone associated with SC. Attendance for this past season was excellent. Richard Courtney served as secretary for the Intramural Bowling League, and Glenn McFall will serve next year in this capacity. Various pictures on this page portray action from Bowling competition.
Women’s Volleyball Team Enjoys Winning Season

Southwestern's women's volleyball team members produced an impressive fall 1975 season's record. The conference count showed a 10-7 victory margin, with the non-conference record an even better 14-8 count. On the basis of their solid conference performance the team finished second in the KCAC and advanced to the women's state volleyball tournament, where they were defeated by Emporia State and Bethel College. Coached by Miss Kathy ReQua, team members who achieved special recognition for their impressive play were Kim Handley for All-KCAC Honors, and Liz Engelen and Darlene Richert for Honorable Mention. At the start of the 1975 season Southwestern's women's volleyballers were expected to have a strong season, and those involved gained much personal satisfaction by living up to these expectations. Trainers Make Improvement

The training staff in the school year 1975-76 has been hard at work making further improvements of Southwestern's training facility. They had added a new taping room and an office which contains most of the records of past injuries. This there is more room for storage and for examination of individuals needing treatment. One of the major improvements is a new whirlpool. It can treat three athletes at the same time, and has proved to be more efficient than the older equipment. For the second consecutive year, the training room staff was co-ed. This year it has been headed by Steve Masterson, who has been assisted by Bill Rinkenbaugh and Larry Lambdin. ABOVE: Members of the training staff included Larry Lambdin, Bill Rinkenbaugh, Shirley Sparks, Georgia Skiles, Ann Goyen, Judy Woods, Steve Masterson. NOT PICTURED: Gayle Zollars. 200 YEARS OF FREEDOM

MOVING ON
Stud Jock Day 1976
I Am Part Of All That I Have Met
Happiness Is Found In The Little Things
Laughter ... Is A Smile Making Noise
Each student had his own life style, his own goals, his own friends, and his own reason for being at SC. Each of us found happiness in all aspects of life at Southwestern — in our classroom activities, in the dorm, in athletics, or in the cafeteria. Wherever each of us go from here, there will also be happiness for we will develop the joy we experienced in our college days and use it to further enrich our lives and understanding. Relaxation on campus was also important for it was a moment for reflection or conversation and often brought into focus fleeting thoughts, facts, and opinions that were thrown at each of us from hundreds of sources. It was a time to evaluate goals or a time to share a good laugh with a friend or simply a time to get away from it all and clear the mind. For each of us, our separate experiences were unique in their strength and impact at SC, and each fit with the other into a pattern that took four years to complete. Yet, each experience was dealt with individually, for there were single bits of an overall pattern that each of us faced which helped us to learn more about ourselves. And as a result, we became, perhaps unconsciously, more capable of leading others and enriching our own lives in the end. Each of us has given much and received much this past year at SC, and each of us will always remember a rich variety of experiences that made up the different parts of the life at SC as we go our separate ways in the future. And our wish for each individual student who has been part of this life is that he leaves SC with happiness in his heart and has a full and good life in the years ahead.

SC Bids Graduates Good-Bye At Commencement

And when summer break or graduation comes, they leave. They take with them, as well as the business, part of the complexion, the spirit, the caring, the color of Winfield. Wherever they go, they "reflect a measure of the success of the College". But moreso, they reflect a measure of the success of themselves. Wherever they go, they take with them part of the potential energy to live and to love and to light not only Winfield but the world.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

As the year draws to a close, I find that the time has come to say "Thank You" to so many people. For me, this is a difficult thing to do because of all the people who helped so much to make our yearbook possible.

For SC, I believe this is one of the greatest yearbooks ever published. Many long and late hours and much hard work went into making this possible for you, and I truly hope you enjoy the memories found within these pages in the years to ahead. A special "thanks" must be given to several people: the American Yearbook Co.; to those who took and contributed so many pictures (Judy White, Leon Fundenberger, Howard Stephens, Bill Burgler, Tim McCal- lock); the COLLEGIAN Staff; my associate editor, Jan Hoffine; our adviser, Dr. Phil Schmidt; and the yearbook staff for all its hard work and cooperation. I would also like to say "thank you" to all those individuals to numerous to mention who helped in any way.

And finally, our wish for you all is that you enjoy this yearbook as the years pass by.
