

SC ACHIEVEMENTS

Ann Chartier, SC senior, gave a presentation at the Kansas Music Teachers Association fall conference Oct. 30 at Baker University. Chartier spoke about her Leadership senior project, "Music Quest," that occurred on April 7, 2004, and how she used the KMTA grant received for the project. At the time of the project she was vice president of the Student Music Teachers Association on the SC campus.

Dawn Pleas-Bailey, vice president for student life and dean of students, is one of only 24 senior-level woman administrators from across the nation chosen to participate in the American Council on Education/Office of Women in Higher Education National Leadership Forum Dec. 1-3, 2004, in Washington, D.C..

Jill Megredy, registrar, presented two sessions at the Kansas Association of College Registrars and Admissions Officers state convention September 2004 in Lawrence. The sessions were titled "How May I Help You? Customer Service in Higher Education," and "Ethical Situations in Higher Education: What Would Your Office Do?" Megredy served on the KACRAO executive board for 2003-2004 as the chairman of the scholarship committee.

David Nichols, emeritus dean of faculty, is author of "The Showpiece of Our Nation: Dwight D. Eisenhower and the Desegregation of the District of Columbia," which will be published this month in the Washington History Journal. He spoke on the same topic at the plenary session of the Washington, D.C., Historical Studies Conference Nov. 5. He made a presentation to teachers at the Eisenhower Library Sept. 30 on President Eisenhower and the Brown v. Board of Education decision.

Patrick Ross, associate professor of biology, will have the text of his speech commemorating the Beta Beta Beta rock and the history of Southwestern College's involvement in the organization published as an article in an upcoming issue of Bios, the journal of Tri-Beta Undergraduate Biology Honor Society.

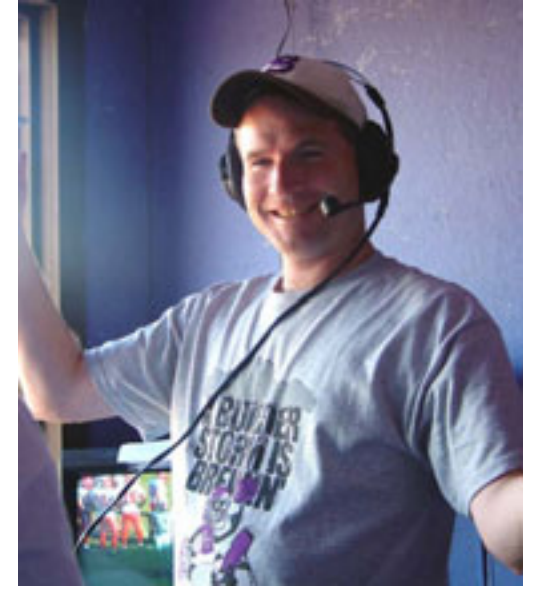

Tim Shook, associate professor of music, judged for the Kansas City music teachers Oct. 23-24 in an event that included 165 teachers and more than 800 students. He gave a piano teaching clinic in Edmond, Okla., Nov. 6 and 7, and Jan. 29 will conduct a multi-piano festival in Colby. Shook is on the Local Associations Grant Committee for the Music Teachers National Association.

Michael J. Wood, assistant professor of business and finance, is author of a novel, Rise Up the Phoenix, now in bookstores. Wood called on his active career to write the tale of business and political intrigue. He has built and managed organizations in various locations around the world, and served in the Peace Corps.

Stephen Woodburn, assistant professor of history, presented a paper at the March conference of the Society for the Interdisciplinary Study of Social Imagery in Colorado Springs. The paper was titled "The Image of the Hero," and "Do Old Ladies Make World History?" His wife, Dixon Woodburn, an affiliate professor in English, presented the paper "Virtue and Moral Responsibility in Recent Television Heroes," at the same conference. Over spring break (March 17-25, 2005), Woodburn will take a group of SC students on a study trip to Russia. Alumni interested in participating should contact him at swoodbur@sckans.edu by Dec. 5.

Three Southwestern supporters were honored with special awards during 2004 Homecoming festivities.

Charles Osen '94, Winfield, (at right) was presented the Young Alumni Award. Osen is the news bureau coordinator in SC's Office of Communications, and calls play-by-play action for Southwestern and Winfield High School football and basketball events. Charles and his wife, Kelli (Godsey) '92, and their four children are devoted supporters of SC athletics and volunteer in the foster parent programs for three sports.

Darrel English '59, Flagstaff, Ariz., was awarded the Alumni Recognition Award. English was a biology professor and director of the Advisement Center of Biological Sciences at Northern Arizona University in Flagstaff for more than 30 years.

Tom Schnittker, Pratt, (shown below) was recognized with the SC Ambassador Award. For the past 20 years, Schnittker has been actively involved in the management of SC's farms and mineral rights. He is shown during the dedication of the Southwestern Wetlands near M'Pherson.

Make That a Quarter of a Century

The Southwestern men's cross country team won its 25th consecutive KCAC title Oct. 30. All-KCAC runners and their place finishes in the race were Jazz Carreon (first), Justin Alexander (second), Andrew Cherry (third), Andrae Harper (fifth), Billy Barnum (sixth), Daniel Joiner (seventh), and Michael Moser (ninth). The SC women finished seventh, with Brae Johnson earning All-KCAC honors by finishing fourth.
