THE ALUMNI VOICE OF SOUTHWESTERN COLLEGE

Construction Act II, Scene 1

Mabee Success Kicks Off Construction

A check for nearly $1 million is in hand at Southwestern College after college supporters met the terms of a challenge grant from the Mabee Foundation. The challenge grant provides funding for the key facilities priorities of the college's Great Performances Campaign capital projects – construction of the Richardson Performing Arts Center and the Richard L. Jantz Stadium.

Donors committed almost $5 million for the two projects, with the capping grant provided by the Tulsa foundation. Gifts committed for the Great Performances Campaign recently topped $15 million.

"We're grateful to the thousands of alumni, parents, friends, businesses, and other organizations that have supported our facilities fund-raising. When completed, the projects will move the college, and the community, into the first rank in our region," said president Dick Merriman.

Construction of the stadium and renovation of the auditorium coincide with the college's celebration of its 125th anniversary: Jantz Stadium was dedicated during Homecoming in October 2010, and construction on the performing arts center began in January with dedication scheduled for Homecoming 2011.

The auditorium work is part of a larger effort to improve performing arts facilities at the college. The college plans to create a technical theater center in a remodeled building at the east edge of campus. The college is also refurbishing its large Reuter pipe organ. The instrument will be reinstalled, along with a new console, in the Richardson Performing Arts Center in fall of 2011.

President Merriman applauded the campaign leadership of Richard Jantz and James Farney, who led the stadium fund-drive, and Ken and Madeline Norland of Winfield, who are co-chairs of the performing arts segment of the campaign. In addition to the campaign's volunteer leadership, Merriman acknowledged the college's advancement and communications staff, led by Mike Farrell, vice president for institutional advancement, and Sara Weinert, vice president for communications.

"The spirit of a space is so much more than a destination. It is the opportunity for great experiences," says Madeline Norland. "With Richardson Performing Arts Center and Jantz Stadium, we – the community of Winfield and those who love SC – now have the opportunity for life-enriching times. How lucky we are!"

The Mabee Foundation assists religious, charitable, and educational organizations in Arkansas, Kansas, Missouri, New Mexico, Oklahoma, and Texas. Recent Mabee Foundation grants to Southwestern College have supported the construction of the Beech Science Center and Mabee Laboratories, and the renovation of Mossman Hall. The college will name the press box of the new stadium in recognition of the Mabee Foundation's generous and catalytic challenge grant.

SC repeats CASE sweepstakes award

Southwestern College received the communications contest sweepstakes award for its enrollment category at January's CASE District VI annual convention. CASE, the Council for Advancement and Support of Education, is considered the leading professional development group for university communications and institutional advancement.

"It's exciting to hear that, for the second straight year, SC's communications efforts stacked up so well against those from other colleges and universities," said Sara Severance Weinert, vice president for communications. "The awards we received were well-distributed among our working group."

The college's entries were judged against entries from schools of all sizes in the eight-state region. Awarded included: Southwesterner, bronze; Southwesterner design, silver (Susan Burdick); "Art & Science," feature article writing, gold (Sara Weinert); Great Performances project design, silver (Burdick); SC wallpapers, bronze (Terry Quiett); Commencement redbud photos, bronze (Quiett).

Wilke finalist as 'United Methodist of the Year'

Steve Wilke, vice president for planning and new programs at Southwestern College, was recently recognized in the United Methodist Reporter (UMR) as a nominee for 2010 United Methodist of the Year.

According to the UMR, Wilke was nominated for work to bring "the current tools of the culture (online software for providing online college course curriculum) to the United Methodist Church."

As the executive director of the Richard and Julia Wilke Institute for Discipleship (IFD), Wilke has worked to bring online opportunities to nurture Christian leaders for effective ministry through www.BeADisciple.com. Wilke helped establish a partnership with the Wesley Ministry Network to provide a full roster of high-quality courses online. Another partnership with Upper Room Books led to the creation in 2010 of an online Advent study. He also helped roll out an online version of Disciple Bible Study, now in its second year and expanding its reach globally.

The Rev. Sam Dixon and the Rev. Clinton Rabb posthumously shared the distinction of being UMR's 2010 United Methodists of the Year.

NEWS BRIEFS

Addresses needed

In an effort to be fiscally responsible with the college's budget, the institutional advancement office will be using e-mail for as many mailings as possible.

"We need your help," says Mike Farrell, vice president for institutional advancement. "E-mail heather.wright@sckans.edu or call 620-229-6279 with your preferred e-mail address and help us save dollars that will be better utilized for the needs of our students. We promise to be responsible with your e-mail and not overburden you with SC messages."

Yes, we've noticed the Roommate poster!

The popular movie's pre-release poster has made a splash on campus and throughout our alumni, since Christy Administration Building is featured prominently in its ominous background.

The movie's production company used the image purchased from a stock photo internet site, where it had been listed by an unauthorized photographer. Although it's been fun to see the college's most famous building get national exposure, a slasher movie isn't exactly the product we'd choose to link with our image, so Screen Gems has agreed to not use the photo in future publicity.

Great seats, great idea

A November concert became a unique fundraising opportunity for renovations to Richardson Performing Arts Center. Visual artist Mark Flickenger joined the SC Concert Band to paint an original work during the concert, agreeing to auction the painting following the concert. Performing arts faculty were delighted to see the work auctioned for $1,200, a nice bonus for the arts budget and the renovation.

Track naming to honor Helmer family

Jim Helmer '71 and the Helmer family's legacy at Southwestern College will be honored when the track at the new Richard L. Jantz Stadium is named Saturday, April 30.

The dedication will be part of the 50th anniversary running of the Southwestern Relays, and will take place on the track at 4 p.m. between preliminaries and finals. (Preliminaries will begin at 2:30 p.m. with finals starting at 5 p.m.)

The historic legacy built by Jim Helmer spans generations of graduates at Southwestern College. Since he joined the faculty at his alma mater, Helmer has coached 31 straight conference champion cross country teams (1980-2010) and his men's track and field squads have won every conference championship since 1983.

In 2001, he was inducted into the NAIA Cross Country Hall of Fame in the category of coach. Only nine other coaches have been awarded this honor in cross country since 1956.

A Friday reception at 7 p.m. in the Farney Plaza will allow alumni and friends to greet the Helmer family.

For more information, contact the Office of Institutional Advancement at 620-229-6279.

1930s

Edythe Wendt '35 has been lauded a centurion senior volunteer for the Newton Red Cross. Along with serving as a volunteer at the blood mobile, she also spends time as a volunteer at Asbury Park retirement home and at her church. Edythe celebrated her 100th birthday in October. Edythe was a special guest at the Eagerheart performance Dec. 10 at Newton's First United Methodist Church. Wendt explained to director Roger Moon that she had seen the Campus Players first production when she was a student at SC. "She makes great peppernut cookies!" Roger added.

1950s

Bob Sneller '51 was posthumously inducted into the Independence Community College Hall of Fame on Oct. 23, 2010. Sneller's coaching career spanned 23 years and he was the coach of the 1963 national championship basketball team, which was the first national title for the Pirates.

Lois (McNeil) Gullerud '52 was honored for performing 45 consecutive years in the Champaign-Urbana (Illinois) Symphony at the Viennese Ball and Dinner held to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the organization. Lois served as principal viola for several years, and continues as associate principal viola. She still performs violin as well, usually in small ensembles – she just finished a Mendelssohn string quartet and is working on a Brahms trio.

1960s

Steve Alford '65 has been elected as State Representative for the 124th District of Kansas. His son, Slade, will run things at the family farm in Ulysses while Steve is in Topeka on official business.

Marvin Estes '66 will retire as USD 465 superintendent on June 30, 2011. Marvin was assistant superintendent of the district for three years before serving as superintendent for 11 years. Marvin is the husband of Wendy (Hodges) Estes '67.

Kay (McDermeit) Harris '67 retired in May 2009 from teaching and directing the Medical Laboratory Technician Program at Northeastern Oklahoma A&M College. She then applied to the American Society of Clinical Pathology outreach program, was accepted, and this year has traveled as an ASCP consultant to Nigeria, Cambodia, and Tanzania. These trips have been two-week workshops with a team of two or three consultants who work with medical educators. This is in conjunction with the Center for Disease Control of Atlanta. Kay just returned from LSU Alexandria where her team hosted a delegation from Hanoi Medical University. This outreach program is part of a grant which has been renewed annually for the President's Emergency Program of Aids Relief. Kay's husband, Jim Harris '64, is totally supportive of her activities and holds down the fort while she is traveling.

Bill H. Stephens '69 retired after 23 years as manager of electronic communications with the City of Topeka. He managed the city website, city e-mail system, and all internet traffic. Bill was director of the news bureau at Southwestern in the early 1970s.

Bill and his wife, LeAnn will be spending more time with their part-time photography business in Topeka.

1970s

Chris Jarvis '70 has opened a new business, Home on the Range, in downtown Winfield. He sells firearms and gun accessories and will eventually offer gun safety classes and a shooting range.

Dana Smith '76 was presented a plaque at the 2010 Fall Counselors Convention at Emporia State University. This plaque, given by the Kansas School Counselor Association, read "In grateful appreciation for your many years of dedication and diligence to the school counseling profession." Smith has been a school counselor for 27 years, 24 of those years in the Pretty Prairie school system.

Mike McCarthy '76 is a professional football scout for the Montreal Alouettes in the Canadian Football League. The Alouettes recently played for a record three Grey Cup wins in a row, something that has not been done in 13 seasons. They lost in 2008 but won back-to-back Grey Cups in 2009 and 2010. This is Mike's fifth Grey Cup win in nine championship games of the CFL. He has also been busy starting

Jerry Kill: U. of Minnesota football coach

Jerry Kill '84 has been named head coach of the University of Minnesota football program. Kill comes to Minnesota after three seasons at Northern Illinois University, and had been head coach at Southern Illinois University. Kill led the Huskies to three consecutive bowl games during his tenure. He also coached NIU to a berth in the Mid-American Conference championship game last season. He had a 23-16 record in his three seasons with the Huskies.

"I am so excited to have the opportunity to be the head coach at the University of Minnesota," Kill said. "It is a tremendous opportunity and – I think – great timing. I was raised the old-school way by my father and mother to do my job to the very best of my ability. You go full speed at it and you don't let anyone out-work you. I have lived by that motto my entire life and that is what I intend to do at the University of Minnesota."

Kill's overall collegiate head coaching record stands at 127-73 in 17 seasons. In four stops as a head coach, he has never left a school with a sub-.500 record. In three of his previous four head coaching positions, he took over a team with a losing record and turned in a winning season in three years or less.

In 2009, Kill was presented with the National Football Foundation Courage Award by the Chicago Metro Chapter of the National Football Foundation and College Football Hall of Fame.

Lamar Burks '79, now in his 26th year of teaching, has been nominated as a finalist for Teacher of the Year in the Tulsa Public School System. He is a finalist in his building at Hamilton Middle School and if he wins the nomination, he will compete against other teachers nominated throughout the district. The overall winner will receive the grand prize which includes speaking engagements for a year/taking a hiatus, a new car (leased by the district) to drive for a year including a gas card, a monetary stipend to spend on classroom supplies, and also dinner with the other selectees. Lamar has been the moving force behind creating a first-class sports display at Booker T. Washington High School in Tulsa. The majority of the school's athletic memorabilia is now on display in the Historical Building, which was formerly the school's main entrance, and can be seen by the public due to the efforts of LaMar, a volunteer who has spent countless hours on the project since July 2010. He continues to collect memorabilia that will eventually be on display in this museum.

Dan Lara '91 has accepted a position with the Kansas Department of Commerce in Topeka working with Governor Brownback's new administration. He will initially be managing public affairs and media relations for the department, with other responsibilities to be added later.

Neil Bass '92, who is working as a biologist for the US Army Corps of Engineers, recently spoke about the Missouri River Mitigation Project at the International Symposium on Ecology and Biodiversity in large rivers of NE Asia and North America. He also presented a poster on the 25 years of the Missouri River Mitigation Project at the Natural Areas Association Conference in October 2010.
