THESE THINGS SHALL LAST

The cherished traditions of Southwestern are exemplified in the Cup of Triumph. These traditions are beloved, unforgettable and the foundation of "Builder" ideals and successes — the spirit of the Mound, the loyal "Jinx," the "puff puff 77," Dr. Allen and his originality, Beautiful Saviour, faithful North, the dome-lights, Vinsonhaler's Burns, lover's lane, Miss Herr's Bourgeoisie, the flaming torch, Prof. Oncley and H₂O, the "Builder" spirit at the Hays-S. C. game, the melodic Far Above the Walnut Valley, and stately Richardson atop Sunset Hill as it stands beckoning to higher things — These Things Shall Last.

Waving proudly from the Cup of Triumph are the traditional banners of Southwestern College. They shall not be lowered; for the democratic ideals of Southwestern, which these traditions represent, are cherished in the heart of every Moundbuilder here, around the corner, and "over there."

THE SOUTHWESTERN TRADITION

TODAY

Is the Day

President

Charles Edwin Schofield

Southwestern College
Winfield, Kansas

December 3, 1942

To the 1943 Moundbuilders, greetings.

Southwestern College stands again in the midst of the swelling currents of a society racked by war. Already hundreds of former Builders have taken their place in the ranks of the nations defenders. Many of the students enrolled this year have enlisted in one of the reserve training programs and are preparing for service wherever they shall be needed. It seems probable that the coming year will see the normal college program sharply revised to meet the demands of the national emergency.

Through it all, Southwestern steadfastly holds her course, determined by the pole star of loyalty to Christian ideals, the objective of building character for Christian service, and the criterion of the highest standards of technical training and academic achievement. The Spirit of the Builders may be difficult to define, but it is the real thing on "The Hill." We look beyond the dust and confusion of the present days of turmoil, and seek to lay foundations and prepare for the building of a genuinely new world order wherein dwelleth righteousness.

This year has brought creditable achievements in many lines. Wherever you go, through the years ahead, you will hold the banner of Southwestern high.

Sincerely yours,

Charles E. Schofield

TENTH PRESIDENT GUIDES 'BUILDERS'

DR. CHARLES EDWIN SCHOFIELD was given the charge of office by Bishop William C. Martin, October 20, 1942, and formally inaugurated tenth president of Southwestern college, to fill the vacancy left by Dr. Frank E. Mossman. Bishop Martin was also the principal speaker at the inaugural banquet. Later in the evening the student body assembled outside the Schofield home and gave Mr. & Mrs. President an inauguration of serenading and impromptu speeches.

Arriving on the campus during a time which at best was difficult, he brought to the scene his background in religious and educational life which qualifies him as an administrator in war and peace. Equipped with his executive ability plus a genuine interest in students and their problems, and a delightful sense of humor, he made many friends and soon won a place in the campus life.

We have seen new things and heard new ideas during these past nine months — the re-organization of the chapel program, the introduction of fall and spring Honor's assembly, and a close co-operation between students, faculty and administrators — which have maintained and advanced the high ideals and standards of S. C.

Mrs. Schofield, First Lady of Southwestern society, has been a gracious and charming hostess to students and organizations at the "executive mansion." We praise you, Mr. and Mrs. "Prexy." You've helped stabilize our thinking "in the midst of a race between Christian education and catastrophe."

PROFESSOR OF SOCIOLOGY

B. A., Southwestern College
M. A., University of Michigan

Head of the Sociology department for 25 years, Miss Herr has moulded her life into the traditions that make Southwestern the unique institution it is.

REAL 'BUILDER' RETIRES

STUDENTS AND FACULTY alike have admired Miss Herr's broad understanding of social and economic problems. The innumerable "inadequate" comments on test papers have served as guide-posts along the way. Anyone who has been under the influence of Miss Herr in the classroom has gained a certain lasting appreciation of this world. Regardless of the issue, Miss Herr is always genuine and sincere. Quotations, facts, analytical summaries, all come from her store of knowledge without so much as a note.

Merry brown eyes, a kind, character-revealing face, and even a certain walk remind one of her early college days when "Ada" was a popular young Southwesterner, being chosen May Queen and winning scholastic honors too.

This dynamic personality has had more influence than Miss Herr will ever realize. It is with regret that we see her begin a well-deserved rest. Miss Herr will continue to be a very real part of the traditions and atmosphere of Southwestern by the thoughts and ideas she has sown. Hats off to a true "Builder."

Third Row: Pinnick, Herschberger, Owen, Snyder, K. Moore, A. Miller, W. Thorne, Matthews.
Fourth Row: Boone, Nix, Dean Marsh, G. Dieterich, Kantz, Peterson, MacDonald.

TAKE THE MATTER up with your "Southwestern senator"—namely your Student Council representative. Any one of the six representatives from your class will be glad to see what he can do for you. These twenty-four legislators, together with the student president and vice-president, meet each Thursday at 7 p.m.

The Council is divided into standing committees, and each committee has its specific responsibilities. They are responsible for the all-school parties, Home-coming, student activity allocations, Victory drive, and the care of the student union. The social engagements, exclusive for Student Council members, included a dinner at King's and a picnic in the spring.

Jovial, sincere, ever-capable Ralph Thorne presided over the Council and the student body for 27 weeks. After his requested "leave of absence" in March, Jack Smith ably completed the year as the head executive. Dependable Dave McGuire, vice-president, also had to join Uncle Sam in March. DeVere Brown carried on.

WITH THE INSTILLING of that proverbial S. C. spirit and "at-home" feeling, the personnel counselors did their share in guiding freshmen to find their places on our campus. The men's and women's Councils worked together on their projects, aided by Dean White and Dean Marsh.

Early in the fall a progressive party was sponsored for all new students, besides the individual meetings of the Council groups. To start the second semester, a Victory Brunch for the women was held at Miss White's home. At Easter time, the girls honored their mothers by entertaining them for a day on our campus.

The social events of the Council itself included a slumber party at Miss White's home for the women, and a breakfast to welcome new members for the entire Council.

IT'S SEVEN P.M. on Monday evening and a crowd is in store for that exclusive group known as the Cosmopolitan Club. Their motto, "Above all nations is humanity," is not only talked about but practiced too.

It's a picked group because there can be only ten Americans for each foreign member. Their chili suppers, lesson studies, and evenings of fun and frolic are always enjoyable.

THE OXFORD FELLOWSHIP is formed of students interested in some branch of Christian service. The club meeting hour is spent in directed meditation.

The purpose of the club is to foster a deeper devotional life. The club has had the custom of raising, annually, a $25.00 scholarship for helping some deserving student in entering college. The highlight this year was a special Institute on Christian Life Work.

RELIGIOUS PROGRAM

THE OUTSTANDING RELIGIOUS organizations of the campus are the S. C. M. and Youth Fellowship. They were influential in bringing Dean "Nick" Comfort of Oklahoma University to Winfield for Religious Emphasis Week and also the Methodist Youth Conference with Kirby Payne as the main speaker.

S. C. MOVEMENT

The Student Christian Movement includes everyone as a member and endeavors to make practical the living of Christianity on the campus and in the world. The sing on the "77," the watermelon feed and snake dance, the Fun Fests, the Negro children's party and special Easter services are annual events sponsored by S. C. M.

YOUTH FELLOWSHIP

Youth Fellowship of Grace Methodist Church is the link between the church and the college and serves students mentally, spiritually, and physically. When Sunday evening meals were suspended on the hill it was M. Y. F. who started serving fifteen cent suppers. Its annual events are the ghost-walk in the fall which serves as a get-acquainted affair, and the Christmas carolling. Their flag waves high in the Cup of Triumph bearing the challenging words, "Look up; lift up."

Kappa Omicron Phi

WHEN YOU TASTE good cooking and see smart clothes, you know she's a home economics' student. For the girls who are more keenly interested in the details of home-making we have two organizations. The local group, Gamma Omicron, is open to any girl with eight hours work in the field of home economics. Kappa Omicron Phi, a national organization, is honorary.

It is the custom for Kappa to have a monthly dinner meeting at which time a paper on a current topic is presented for discussion. They are kept busy preparing and serving banquets and with the extra money purchased a bond. The Gamma members this year were identified by a knitting bag and the outstanding event of the year was a Valentine banquet.

ENGLISH CLUB

ENGLISH CLUB is an organization for English majors to broaden their knowledge of literature. Every meeting includes a social hour in the form of a tea, a picnic, or a buffet supper. The theme this year was international and included a study of the literature, poetry, novels, and drama of Russia, Japan, Ireland, Italy and Germany.

PI KAPPA DELTA is a group closely related to the English Club because they, as speech-makers, really should have English as a prerequisite.

Public speakers are given practice and help under the direction of Dr. Leroy Allen. His original plan of advancement from a "private" to a "generalissimo" has been a stimulus for hard work.

Although travel was limited, the debate teams and orators attended several tournaments and did themselves proud. The season reached its climax with the Province of the Plains meet at Kearney, Nebraska.

The outstanding speakers on the forensic force who have successfully participated in several events are eligible for membership in Pi Kappa Delta.

PI GAMMA MU

THE BIRTHPLACE of a National Social Science Honor Society and its founder on the faculty is the distinction given Southwestern College. Pi Gamma Mu was founded by Dr. Leroy Allen in 1924 and now has over 125 chapters. The membership of the Kansas Alpha Chapter is composed of twelve percent of the junior and senior classes and the professors in the field of social science. Character, personality, scholarship, and a distinguished record in social science are considered when choosing new members. They endeavor to follow their motto: "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free."

ALPHA MU

ONE OF THE NEWEST organizations on the hill is Alpha Mu with a membership of twenty-four. Three things are considered in choosing new members: character, scholarship, and musicianship. Although only in its second year the organization is very active — it sponsors student recitals every two weeks, furnishes ushers for artist programs, and is in charge of an assembly program. Social events of the year included a Valentine dance and the annual breakfast at the park. The aim of Alpha Mu is to become a member of a national association.

Pi Sigma Gamma

"TEA WILL BE SERVED" is the slogan of Pi Sigma Gamma as they announce their weekly meetings. The feature at these meetings are outstanding lectures by the members on scientific subjects. Digressing from these lectures the members took time to prepare a float which took first place in the Homecoming parade. The group enjoyed two picnics and presented a program before several different audiences.

International Relations

A FILIPINO REFUGEE; an Oklahoma cowpuncher; a Gandhi biographer; a Catholic, Jew, and Protestant round-table on a central Kansas college campus actually became a reality this year. It was Madam Lim who brought first-hand information from Corregidor; Dr. Dale told humorous and heart-breaking stories of the old and new Oklahoma; Dr. Muzumdar came with news from India; Rabbi Nussbaum, Father McGuire, and Rev. Lyman Johnson knocked knees under a little square table and discussed the problems of religion and peace. These lectures along with bi-monthly "chats" in the student-union helped I. R. C. members keep an alert interest in the world — how and why it runs like it does.

CO-OP FOR GIRLS

Best of luck
to a sweet guy
Sincerely
Loretta Anne

"AREN'T THE POTATOES BURNING?" "Someone please answer the phone." "No shows this week the bills are in." All are familiar sentences from East Hall of Hospitality and cooperative Allison. Those large white buildings where the girls eat each other's cooking, share the bills, and play, live and work together with a spirit of cooperation.

Initiations, walk-outs, and parlor get-togethers help to liven up the year. Listed among the traditions of Southwestern is the pre-Christmas custom of East Hall. Each year the girls hang up dolls several days before vacation and with a ceremony each evening they mark off the days.

The housemothers help the girls keep order, make ends meet and obey the rules. Mrs. Cobb has served in this capacity for seventeen years, while Miss Rosecrans is a newcomer to the campus.

A DAY IN THE DORM from the first jingle-jangle of an alarm clock until the last clang of the fire escape at night is one of varied activity.

When Smith Hall is mentioned, several things stand out in the minds of its members — seniors decorate for Christmas and the Juniors take it down, Mr. McPeck with his armload of mail at the noon hour, sun-tans and chats by the fish-pond, the notorious fire-escape kids, walk-outs, open house, and the dining hall.

Mrs. Zoe Osen, who is always ready with advice and help and, incidentally, campuses, is a friend to all the girls in her capacity of house-mother.

SOCIETIES

YES, IT'S THURSDAY night and if you look down the "77" you see dressed-up ladies and slicked-up men on their way to the second floor of Richardson for an evening of relaxation. The two societies start the year of friendly competition when they vie for new members during the second week of school, and it continues during intramurals, Homecoming, and the annual one-act play contest. Sigma-Delphi, with three consecutive wins in this last contest, took the plaque for keeps this year.

BELLE-ATHENS, the oldest literary society on the hill, began the year with a rush week influenced by war conditions. The scavenger hunt became a scrap-drive, the Student Union was turned into a U.S.O. center, and the society completed the week's activities with an old-time barn frolic.

Orphaned by the loss of the ceiling in the society hall, the group was temporarily adopted by Miss Graham and the Little Theater was the scene of formal initiation, installation, quiz programs, parties, and miscellaneous programs. The informal initiation was traditionally held at the corner of Ninth and Main. Industrious members spent the second semester redecorating the hall and put the finishing touches on the powder blue and cream room in time for the final meeting of the year.

SIGMA-DELPHI welcomed new members to the campus with a spirit of southern hospitality. The rushees were entertained at a barbecue, a minstrel show, and a real Southern dinner at the Brettun.

Evenings at the gym, interesting programs provided by local talent, a "White Christmas" buffet supper, and a "Kiss the Boys Goodbye" dance rounded out the social life of members of Sigma-Delphi.

INTER-SOCIETY COUNCIL served as the co-ordinator for the two societies. The group is under the leadership of Miss Margaret Miller and is composed of an equal number of representatives from both organizations. They work out the plans for rush week and other activities of the year and ably cope with any problems that arise.

Six members are chosen annually from each of the societies as honor members. This recognition is given them because of their loyalty and contributions to their respective societies.

THE HONOR MEMBERS for the societies were chosen this year after the men in the Army Air Corps Reserve received their orders; thus the explanation for Bill Cloud, Delphi; Etcyl Blair, Athens; Bradley Light, Athens; appearing in their uniforms.

All in this honor's group have been loyal and hardworking members of their respective societies.

The group to the left has done an excellent job this year of maintaining cooperation among the societies.

BELLE-ATHENS

OUR TRADITIONS

ALL MEMBERS of all organizations participate in the ceremony of the "Building of the Mound." This tradition was originated by Dr. Leroy Allen, and it has been written up by him in Southwestern's Traditional History.

"The 'Building of the Mound' is a type of tradition created out of whole cloth by the fertile brain of one who long ago fell in love with Southwestern and its ideals." The first Thursday night of a new school year is the traditional time for the long torch-lit procession to make its way from the College Hill Drug, up the "77" to the Far North Plateau, where the ceremony is held. Each student builds into the mound of loyalty, a rock bearing his name or initial. The oration is given by any Southwesterner — president, professor, old grad, whatnot. The first address was given by Dewey Short, now an outstanding orator of Congress. The 1943 oration was given by Levi O. Rymph, '23, of Wichita, Kansas.

"The greatest of all Southwestern traditions is the ingrained spirit of friendliness, helpfulness, and democracy that prevails among students and faculty. Freshmen are hailed with open arms as long lost brothers, and sisters, especially the sisters, who are given everything they ask, even the beaus of the upperclass girls! It's the Spirit of Southwestern!"

ALMA MATER

Far above the Walnut Valley,
On a lofty height,
Stands our noble Alma Mater
Bathed in golden light.
Chorus:
Lift the chorus, speed it onward
Over hill and dale;
Hail to thee, beloved Southwestern
Alma Mater, hail:

Far above the stir and bustle
Of a busy town,
Reared against the arch of heaven
Looks she calmly down.
To the heights she calls us daily,
Alma Mater dear,
Heights of knowledge, hope and courage,
Free from doubt and fear.

WHO'S WHO

Each year a joint committee composed of representatives of the faculty and student council elects ten seniors as Southwestern's representatives in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, an official publication of the University of Alabama. Requisites for election are a high scholastic average, character, personality, leadership, and potentiality for future usefulness. Those honored this year are Mary Lou Beck, Betty Birchenough, Marvin Cook, Betty Lou Dieterich, Dale Dunlap, Kenneth Hiebsch, Katherine Isely, Ralph Thorne, Herman Wandmacher, and Byron White.

SCHOLARSHIP

The quotation from Julius Caesar that 'Yond has a lean and hungry look; he thinks too much,' probably doesn't apply to all Southwestern students. However, there are those who study, and among them are the holders of Moundbuilder Scholarships. These scholarships require a scholastic achievement of at least an average of B. On October 17 the recipients of Moundbuilder Scholarships were given recognition at the Fall Honors Assembly. The Moundbuilder scholars are Marvin Cook, Betty Lou Dieterich, Dale Dunlap, Louis Gosting, Kenneth Hiebsch, Marvin Hiebsch, Walter Lindberg, Elinor McIntosh, Keith Moore and Clifford Winters.

C. A. A. WAR TRAINING SERVICE

DURING THE PRESENT year Southwestern College has sponsored what was originally known as a Civil Aeronautics Administration Civil Pilot Training Program. This name was changed by the Government during the year to the CAA War Training Service Program. It is a continuation of the Government Aeronautics program which has been on our campus since 1939.

The groups that have completed their training here this year have, except for one man, been groups of Naval Aviation Cadets. The groups took either the Elementary Course lasting eight weeks and consisting of at least 240 hours of ground school and from 35 to 40 hours of flight instruction, or else the Intermediate Course which lasted four weeks and consisted of at least 72 hours of ground school and from 18 to 25 hours of flight instruction.

The men were housed at Holland Hall with Mrs. Casburn as house-mother and fed at Smith Hall. After December 15, 1942, all the Naval Aviation Cadets were put on active duty with pay and were under strict discipline.

While all of these men were with us for only four to eight weeks, nevertheless they were all at least high school graduates and were registered as students of Southwestern College. The authorities at Southwestern believe that many of these young men should continue college when the present war is over and hope that some of them, at least, will be back on our Campus with a view to obtaining an A. B. Degree from Southwestern.

The MOUNDBUILDER

"CUT OUT THIS PAGE — Society pictures will be taken at 4 p.m.," rang the quick words of our 1943 Moundbuilder editor. Losing the staff photographer plus a decreased budget increased the worries of Editor Schriver and "Money-Man" Hiebsch.

Institution of a new tradition was caused by the assembly performance of the staff in its presentation of the 1943 Moundbuilder Queen. Keeping up the old traditions was the hours spent in the "dark room," tussles with the "dummy" and business chats over cups of tea.

Though at times the tables were stacked so high that it seemed as if no good would come of it all, the staff victoriously turned out a traditionally "super" Moundbuilder.

The COLLEGIAN

MISS MARGARET M. MILLER serves in the capacity of faculty advisor for both COLLEGIAN and MOUNDBUILDER. She is always willing to give help and advice where needed. Her cheerful smile has kept up the courage of many an editor. We praise Miss Miller for her help on the two publications.

"ALL-AMERICAN" — yes, that's the rating from Associated Collegiate Press for which Editor Dunlap and his staff have worked diligently. Although the decisions have not been made yet, those of us who have read this year's COLLEGIAN might make some promising guesses in that direction.

S. C.'ers have eagerly scanned the COLLEGIANS for forty-eight years. The same hustle-bustle of last minute stories and columns was notable again this year. Quite untraditional has been the new, stream-lined set-up of the college paper. Also rather uncommon was the feminine charm added as Ruth Franklin maneuvered the business end of the COLLEGIAN.

With an all-out-for-victory attitude, the entire COLLEGIAN staff can safely chalk up another score as the last 1943 COLLEGIAN rolls off the press.

B. Dieterich, Morris, Shields '41, Miss Graham, Cloud, Resler, Wandmacher, Burt.

THE SCHOOL OF FINE ARTS, including music and dramatics, is one of the finest divisions of our college. Students representing these departments are known far and wide for their abilities. The music department was headed by Luther O. Leavengood until his leave of absence second semester when Ralph Briggs took his place. The dramatic groups are directed by Miss Helen Graham and Miss Edith Dielmann. These two departments have worked together in maintaining one of the most impressive traditions of Southwestern, the Christmas Vespers. CAMPUS PLAYERS, the honorary "little theater" group, contains the dramatic artists of Southwestern. The organization is exclusive in that only those who prove themselves worthy by performance are accepted for membership. The "army calls" came and spring found the group with only feminine members.

The outstanding reputation of Campus Players has been maintained since 1919 by their presentations of such plays as "Death Takes a Holiday," "Romeo and Juliet," "Queen Elizabeth," and this year's sizzling success straight from Broadway, "Out of the Frying Pan." Miss Helen Graham is the mainstay of this group and each member is not only a master in drama but an expert at stage managing, make-up, and props. Dinners at the Graham home are annual events. To S. C. traditions the Campus Players have added their annual presentation of the Christmas morality, "Eagerheart." This year the group was headed by Betty Lou Dieterich, president, and Herman Wandmacher, business manager.

THE LENEANS have been one of the finest groups representing the college with their presentation of religious dramas. Since 1927 the group has traveled 14,125 miles and presented 339 performances. During these fifteen years each of the 81 Lenean members has felt keenly the close fellowship and friendship which exists within the group. The traditional "howling" holds special significance for the members.

In spite of existing world conditions and Uncle Sam's formal invitation to Bill Cloud, this year's play, "Judith," was presented in numerous towns and cities in this part of Kansas. The feature of the group is that it has always been self-supporting and has maintained excellent equipment and costumes necessary for Biblical productions.

President Asher Kantz, and Business Manager Jack Smith, very ably managed the organization which was under the direction of Miss Edith Dielmann.

The BAND

ADDING ZIP to that traditional Southwestern spirit and enthusiasm with their "bang-up" rhythm and the "dipsy-doodle," the Builder Band has certainly marked up another score in its favor this year. In spite of the small number in the band, it was always on the spot at all the games, pep rallies, and other school events. Whenever asked, the band members gladly helped with stunts or other special occasions.

Creston Klingman's first year as director of the band definitely added youthful zest and spice to our campus life. It was following the C. I. C. championship game that he won recognition as an A-No. 1 cheer leader as well as band director.

The major's baton was capably handled by Donloe Lewis, and flashy twirling was performed by Jeanette Doughty and Dorothy Higginbottom.

The ORCHESTRA

KEEPING UP ITS TRADITIONALLY fine work, the concert orchestra has added much to the campus arts. Because of a decreased enrollment as well as necessary changes in many students' courses, the orchestra membership was much smaller than usual this year.

During the first semester, under Luther O. Leavengood, an annual concert was presented. At this concert the group accompanied Professor Briggs in a piano concerto.

During Mr. Leavengood's leave of absence the second semester, Creston Klingman did some interesting work with ensemble groups. These small groups were called upon to assist at plays and other school functions. Though the music activity of this group may have been conducted in a different way, the group still holds its outstanding reputation.

UNCLE SAM disrupted the usual program of the Southwestern A Cappella Choir in more than one way. During the first semester, however, the Choir followed much the same routine as in former years — singing "Beautiful Saviour" and other old favorites as well as adding new ones. Its traditionally fine music was appreciated as much as ever during its appearances in chapel, Christmas vespers and at other times.

Because of rationed gas and tires, the Choir was unable to make its yearly tour. Public concerts were mainly in the various churches of Winfield. At a Valentine banquet for the Choir, Professor Dees presented bits from his diary about an imaginary spring tour which the Choir might have taken.

During February, several young men were called into active service; therefore it was impossible to continue the mixed choir. Not wishing to disband the Choir altogether, Professor Dees organized an all girls' choir. Besides some strictly religious numbers, this group also did some modern arrangements.

GRACE CHURCH CHOIR

ALL WHO HAVE attended services at Grace Methodist Church this past year are well acquainted with the fine choir which appeared there every Sunday. Inspiration was added to these services by anthems as well as the offertory solos by individual members of the choir.

The highlights of the choir-year were the Christmas concert and the joint-concert with the First Methodist Church Choir at Easter time. Parties and picnics figured in the social side of the choir.

The personnel of the choir was made up largely of college students, who gladly found time in their busy lives to contribute to the church work. Even though the ranks of the men may have been depleted during the year, the choir carried on as usual. Professor Dees is also the director of the Grace Church Choir.

BROCK GRIDMEN FINISH THIRD

THE BUILDER ELEVEN finished its first and perhaps last pigskin season of the war, by copping third position in the fast C. I. C. The Moundbuilders won two, lost two, and tied one in loop play to finish in a deadlock for the show position with Emporia State, behind the two leaders, Pittsburg and St. Benedicts.

Faced with rebuilding completely, because of losses of manpower to the armed service, Head Coach Henry Brock and Assistant Bob Layden turned in a better-than-average season by winning four, losing three and tying two games for the year.

Brock, in this first year as Builder grid mentor, brought the T formation to S. C. The system proved to be popular both with players and spectators at Alumni Field. The purple gridsters, with only seven returning lettermen, a new system, and a new coach, opened the season after three weeks of practice by routing Sterling 40 to 0.

Next in line came the Brockmen's C. I. C. opener with Hays. The squad returned victorious with a 13 to 0 win over the Tigers at their own lair. After another week's practice the rapidly-improving squad had a field day at the expense of C. of E., winning 34 to 0 at Alumni Field as Vann, J. Thornton, and Spoon ran wild. During the fourth week of the season, S. C. invaded Emporia to fight to a deadlock with the Hornets, 6-6, a Vann to Morris aerial tying the ball game.

Returning home the following week, the Builders dropped their first loop tilt to the champion Gorillas, 13 to 0. At Springfield, on Oct. 31, the local eleven again fought from behind to gain a stalemate, 7-7, with the Bears. After an early Springfield score, the Vann-Morris aerial combination clicked to set up a Builder touchdown with Vann going over from the one and making the conversion.

On Homecoming Day the badly outmanned purple pigskin club held the Ravens at bay for one half, but couldn't check two last-period drives; and St. Benedicts left the field winners, 20 to 7.

Invading the W. U. campus, Nov. 14, the Builders dropped an uphill battle to their ancient rivals, 20-13.

The final battle of the season saw Brock's charges in fine form as they easily defeated the Washburn Icabods at Topeka, 22-0. Two touchdowns by J. Thornton, one by Spoon, and a field goal and conversion by Vann constituted the S. C. scoring.

'BUILDERS' WIN C. I. C. CHAMPIONSHIP

SOUTHWESTERN'S 1942-43 purple-clad court quintet notched another conference basketball championship, its seventh in the past nine years. Coached by William Monypeny and led by Co-captains Phil Moore and Don Smith, the Moundbuilder hoopsters won 9 out of 10 C. I. C. loop tilts and 16 out of 18 regularly-scheduled games, losing their only two verdicts to the powerful Oklahoma University Sooners and to the Pitt Gorillas.

Not content with topping the won-lost column of the league, this year's quintet led the loop both offensively and defensively, scoring 50.6 points per game, while limiting the opposition to 35.5 tallies.

Another honor accorded the court champs was the selection of four of its members on the official all-conference team. Center, Phil Moore; forward, Steve Frazier; and guard, Don Smith were named on the first team, while Winston Balke was placed on the second squad at a forward position.

S. C. opened the season with five non-conference home games before Christmas vacation. The Monypeny men were victorious in four, winning easily over Friends in their opener, losing to the powerful O. U. Sooners led by G. Tucker in their second encounter, and then downing decisively Edmond, Springfield, and Baker in rotation.

During the holidays, the Builders traveled to Oklahoma City for the annual invitation tourney, where they dropped two close contests to Marysville Teachers and Rice. Returning from vacation, the purple machine opened conference play against Washburn at home, rolling over the Icabods by a 62 to 20 count. The Builders then went on to turn in their longest win streak of the season, nine consecutive games, six of them in the C. I. C. and three non-conference affairs.

With their loop record showing six wins against no reverses, S. C. invaded the Pitt Gorilla camp on Feb. 22, and dropped its lone conference encounter to the Lancemen, 33 to 49. In their three remaining C. I. C. games, the Builders downed consecutively Emporia, St. Benedicts, and on March 2, clinched the circuit bunting by annihilating the Hays Tigers in Stewart Gym, 63-30.

After completing the regular season, Southwestern received an invitation to the National Intercollegiate Basketball Tourney at Kansas City. S. C. won its opener from Ouachita Teachers, 70-36, but bowed out of the competition in the second round of play, losing to Murray Teachers, 44-42. Another successful season came to a close just in time for the majority of the squad to go into action for Uncle Sam.

INTRAMURALS

UNDER THE DIRECTION of Jack Smith, an extensive intramurals program was carried on this year. The intramurals program has maintained friendly rivalry among the organizations on the hill.

The season started off with touch football and when the snow began to fall the boys moved inside for basketball, volley ball and other indoor sports. With spring came the spring sports of baseball, tennis, and track. This was a well-rounded program for the year and the finish mark found the Pi Sigs in the lead in nearly every sport. Competition was keen and some close and interesting contests were observed.

Because of the abolishment of track, tennis and golf this spring, more attention was given to intramurals. The contests are open to all except the lettermen. They cannot participate in the sport they lettered in.

HARD TO BEAT! Sooter, K. Hiebsch, G. Dieterich.

IN THE LOCKER-ROOM! R. Thorne, McGuire, W. Thorne, Roderick.

WARM-UP! G. Beck, Lewis, Kantz, Hanlen, Jack Smith.

WOMEN'S ATHLETICS

TO KEEP THE GIRLS in form, physical education classes are open to all girls interested. Out of the variety of sports and exercises offered this year, archery and tennis proved to be the most popular. The classes are under the direction of Miss Lillian Cloud.

TIME-OUT FOR A CHAT: Murray, Cox, Snyder, Roberts.

PI SIGMA PHI

A WHITE SWEATER with a large purple "S" is the mark of a real man, for it takes real men to uphold the traditions of "Builder" teams. Pi Sigma Phi, an honorary fraternity for lettermen in college sports, was organized in 1923. Only the men who have lettered in one of the major sports are eligible for membership, and the final test of worthiness of membership is the stiffest initiation on the hill.

The Sweetheart Banquet each spring is anticipated by the members and the feminine friends of the members.

The club is outstanding because it promotes the highest standards of morals and scholarship among athletes, and it maintains the traditional Southwestern code of sportsmanship.

PI EPSILON PI

THE NEWEST PEP CLUB, whose initials spell P E P, did its share to back the athletic squads and bring pep to all South-western activities during its second year of organization.

Station P E P presented a day in radio-land, bringing various programs of the air before the student body.

Prison stripes, bread and water gave the background for the Pi Ep rush banquet. A stiff initiation under a cold shower and finished off with a feed down town was the welcome to the new members.

Military drills and vocal renditions of "In The Fuehrer's Face" furnished entertainment between-halves at the basketball games. Spring brought "Truth or Consequences" to the South-western assembly, which proved to be another Pi Ep hit.

With pep, cleverness, and victories in intramurals, the Pi Eps are rapidly establishing their traditions on the campus.

JINX JANES

THE "SPARK" of the Jinx Jane Pep Club adds to the fire of enthusiasm of the student body of S. C. The pep club loyalty and enthusiasm is in evidence at all Southwestern athletic contests.

Cherished in the heart of every Jinx Jane is the magic charm of the "Jinx." Just as sure as the leaves fall in the autumn, the "wet paint" sign appears part way up the "77" and the Jinx Jane pledges have once more done their annual paint job — blacking the face of their beloved "Jinx." The Southwestern battle colors still exist in the purple and white uniforms of this group.

In November the new members were gained through a week of WAAC activities. Not satisfied with one presidential inauguration on the campus, the club, with an "S O U" and an "Amen," presented a mock ceremony for the entertainment of the student body. The "C'mon gang" of sponsor Helen Graham has kept up the morale (pep) of the club and the "Builder" teams for eighteen years.

KAPPA RHO

DONNING THEIR WHITE sweaters with the purple and white KP shield at the first of the year, with an intent to add to the pep of S. C., Kappa Rho pep club stuck to their purpose.

Mabel's Fable or It's a Dandy, the rush banquet, built its theme around Friday the Thirteenth. The Homecoming parade found the club featuring mountaineers and Light's Lincoln V-8 with a new finish. Kappa Rho was successful in backing two winning queen candidates, the MOUNDBUILDER Queen and the Victory Queen.

Presenting the "Ebony Follies of '43" the club brought to the campus "Crab Crawl-away." "Hi-de-ho" from this assembly soon became the password of pep at S. C.

Versatile musicians and athletes make up the organization for they also held the title in basketball in the intra-mural program. Tradition for the club, according to Adrian Richardson, is to do things just a little bit better than the next fellow.

K K's black and white-clad pepsters have rounded out another year filled with memories and new experiences that will long be cherished by each member of the club.

The fall pep production of the organization turned one's thoughts to "Sweet Salt Breezes" and the rhythmic swish of grass skirts. Rush week progressed with a buzz of activities and was climaxed by the informal initiation held downtown despite a howling snow storm.

The new members were formally initiated at a candle-lit ceremony and tea at Genevieve Burt's home. The annual K K paddle dance was the final fall activity.

A Sweetheart Dance, with the Jinx Janes as guests, was a good starter for second semester activities. K K boosted pep from the bleachers all season and topped it off with the between-half skit, a take-off on "Holiday Inn."

I T ' S T H E J I N X

A CUTTING of Dr. Leroy Allen's account of the tradition of the "Jinx," published in the Collegian, is given below.

One of the most unique college traditions in America, absolutely original with Southwestern, is the story of the "Jinx." When old Fairmount College—Wichita U. to you — was defeated in a football game to the tune of 41 to 3, a Southwestern student prepared a tombstone with the figure of a black cat, the "Hoodoo" at the top, and the score underneath.

It began to be noticed that from that time on Fairmount couldn't defeat Southwestern! Occasionally S. C.'s rivals would manage to tie the score, but they could never win. Then the black cat came to be called the "Jinx."

This remarkable record was kept up for fourteen successive years. Finally the Fairmounters got superstitious. They concluded they couldn't win against the invisible "Jinx," which really was the unconquerable Southwestern Spirit. A night visit to our graveyard followed and the "Jinx" was gone. It was concealed in Morrison Library on the Fairmount campus.

One fall a former Southwestern student enrolled at Fairmount. He got all the knowledge he wanted in one day and returned to Southwestern! A few nights later a group from Southwestern visited the same repository of learning and brought the Jinx back home and locked it up in an underground vault in Richardson Hall. The football victories continued. Fairmount became desperate. The students were stumped. They sought the superior strategy of a faculty member, and a most dastardly plot was promulgated. A fair coed from Fairmount, in her turn, registered at Southwestern. In a few days she cancelled her registration and went back to Wichita with her tale.

A few nights later the Fairmount professor of physics and his minions appeared, lifted the iron grating of a ventilating duct that led to the vault and tampered with the lock in such a way that the professor could work the combination. The "Jinx" was carried away out on the Cannonball highway, placed in a ditch with a stick of dynamite and blown to bits. The pieces were gathered up and used as charms in the pockets or fists of Fairmount football players!

The truth of this story is disproved by the fact that three or four stones with the figure of the "Jinx" are known to survive concealed in various places on or near the Southwestern campus, and by the still more convincing evidence that, every now and then, the "Jinx" appears on the gridiron, sometimes in the form of a living cat, and awards Wichita U. a telling defeat! The "Jinx" still lives and fights for old S. C., and for her alone.

IT HAPPENED

IT'S SEPTEMBER 7 and there are a group of bashful-looking youngsters around — they're freshmen, just arriving for the pre-entrance examinations, picnics, and parties. September 8 and 9 sees the cocky upperclassmen rushing in just in time for registration. The Building of the Mound, the S. C. M. watermelon feed and the Big and Little Sister Tea give the first week a fine finish. It's September 14 and time to start Rush Week, which calls for a full week of activities. September 24, Whoopee! no school! It's class day and the freshmen are successful in pulling the sophomores through the lagoon. All's quiet, and the first month of school is over.

October and books begin to appear. Not much happening, just football games and S. C. M. fun fests. The Smith Hall open house is on October 18. A large crowd turned out for the inauguration of President Schofield on October 20. When October 31 arrived, everybody was ready to cut loose and have a good time at the All-School Halloween Party.

Not much time to let down though; 'cause mid-semester exams crept up on us and it was November 3 all of a sudden. Time to celebrate — exams are over and Homecoming is here, getting off to a good start with the hilarious comedy, "Out of the Frying Pan," a Campus Players production, on November 6, and everybody up all night to finish floats and house decorations. Shucks, November 7, and it's cloudy, but it was a swell Homecoming even if St. Benedict's did rack up the score. November 9 to 21 the pep clubs took over and did a lot of "rushing." November 26, and the very welcome Thanksgiving Holiday. November 30, Dean "Nick" Comfort, University of Oklahoma, arrived to be the leader during Religious Emphasis Week.

It's December, kids, and just 18 more days till Christmas vacation, and all of the nice things that happen before that — formal dinners, the traditional Christmas Vespers on December 13 and "Eagerheart" on December 15.

Everybody is up bright and early on January 5 to give the new year of classes a good start, and most of January was spent preparing for the semester exams which started January 18. The second semester started January 25 with an all-school party and the usual registration excitement. On January 31 the boys' dorm had their first open house.

February and it's cold and not much doing except a lot of exciting basketball games, and good times in the new recreation room at Richardson Hall.

March blew in and there's more basketball, and the first all-school dance in the Student Union. Red Letter Day, March 2, basketball team won C. I. C. championship. Grace Eckel announced Victory Queen on March 18 at the candle-lit box-supper and square-dance. March 19 and we are mighty happy to be hosts to the Kansas Methodist Student Movement Conference, with Kirby Page as the main feature. Gloomy days, March 22 and 23, when we "Kissed the Boys Good-bye," twenty-four of them; and, to top it off, it's mid-semester exam time again. But spring vacation starts March 26.

Spring is here! April Fool. No foolin', the Sigma-Delphi amateurs gave a nice performance in "The Far Off Hills" on April 8. It's April 20 and Easter is just five days away with beautiful Holy Week Matins leading up to it. April 23 and the mothers are guests of their daughters at a tea.

May is here and you seniors might as well get ready to pack up, for May 1 is Cap and Gown Day. From now on the calendar's full — May 11, Fakelty program; May 13, MOUNDBUILDERS arrive; May 15, all-school banquet and prom at the gym; numerous receptions for Miss Herr, retiring. May 23, Baccalaureate and Vespers; May 24, May Fete; May 25, "Mrs. Moonlight" by the Campus Players; May 26, Commencement, and it's all over for the seniors of '43. And so the curtain closes on the year 1942-43. Our traditions are holding tight, our banners are flying high, and Khaki-clad, we're carrying on.

HELLO, 'BUILDERS':

Shucks! Here goes the last page. I just listened to Azy's recital through the rafters, just as I have heard many other performances this year. To the editor of an annual this last page brings both relief and regret — relief because the worries are over; good or bad, it's finished. Regret because the fun of making it up, taking pictures, and answering the question, "When will we get the MOUNDBUILDER?", is all over.

Our fun will now be in watching you enjoy this, your book. We've tried to give you your classmates, the important events, and the traditions of Southwestern in such a way that you can enjoy them in the years to come. If you like it, say so; if you don't, keep quiet — we've done our best; "Money-man" Hiebsch and me.

And now to give praise where praise is due; the first on the list are the faculty advisers, Miss Margaret Miller, who assisted as adviser and photographer; and Dr. Penrose S. Albright, who helped Kenneth solve the financial problems. The assistants, Evangeline Jackson and Harold Grabill, were always ready to help where help was needed.

If you want to check up on something, see Vera Mae Krause about the Organization Section, Helen Cox about the Class Section, Cathryn Young about the Athletics, "Chick" Winters for the sports write-ups, and Betty Birchenough about the Activities Section. I pause here to say, "Give Betty a pat on the back"; she was also my roommate, my companion in the MOUNDBUILDER office during the late hours, and always ready to dash to town to get some copy on the 1 a.m. train.

A variety of photographers gave a variety of pictures and for these I'll say "thanks" to "Hank" Brown, Raymond Welch, Rex Huff, '41, Margaret Miller, and Kenneth Hiebsch.

You've heard about them all now; they did their part in maintaining this tradition for you. They have the Southwestern Spirit! According to tradition, I'll peck off the last line of copy with —

Ye ole editor,

MID-CONTINENT ENGRAVING CO.
THE GRIT PRINTING COMPANY

WICHITA

*It has been a pleasant experience to share with Marguerite Schriever,
Kenneth Hiebsch, Miss Miller and all the staff in re-creating the "Moundbuilder," story of the year nineteen forty-two and forty-three.
This is your story, your book, may it shorten the interval of the years that lie ahead by rekindling the
