Foreword

The doors to everything and everywhere are opened surely and steadily by the pressure engendered by an inquiring mind. Our presence here in college sets us knocking at the doors through which we must pass to take our place on the highways of knowledge, friendship, brotherhood, and service.

This, our yearbook, captures glimpses through the doors which we have opened, records the goals that we have achieved, and discloses the new and wider vistas with which knowledge has endowed us.

TRADITIONS ON THE CAMPUS

Paul R. Kitch, Builder alumnus and Wichita attorney, is Orator of the Mound.

On the afternoon of September 16 the freshman class made its annual pilgrimage to paint the "S" on the hill north of the campus. In short order the largest freshman class in the history of Southwestern College whitewashed the sixty by ninety foot letter of natural stone.

New students became Builders in true fashion during the Building of the Mound ceremony on the evening of September 12. Grand parade marshal, James McPeck, led the group of approximately 900 participants up the "77" through the blackness of the night with torchbearers leading each class section. Those bearing torches were Kenneth Froman, Howard Hickman, Conrad Kahler, Donald Culver, Robert Wright, Alfred Gallagher, Ward Akers, and Edward Boyd. Orator of the Mound was Paul R. Kitch, Wichita attorney.

Dr. Leroy Allen originated the Building of the Mound ceremony in 1927, and it has become one of the significant occasions of every school year.

The campus of Southwestern College was deserted on the morning of October 16 while the student body gathered on the courthouse lawn and marched through town to Island Park where they held the annual field day festivities.

The freshman class was victorious in the day's events by winning the majority of the contests. The fledgling boys climaxed the occasion by slowly dragging the sophomore boys into the lagoon in the traditional tug-of-war. Other contests in which the yearlings excelled were girls' volley ball, girls' tug-of-war, and the girls' three-legged race.

Sophomore participants led in boys' volley ball, egg throwing, boys' dodge ball, and the boys' three-legged race.

The S. C. Band introduced pep into the festivities by leading the parade to the park.

The story of the Jinx is one with which all Southwesterners should be familiar. In 1912 Southwestern College defeated its football rival, Fairmount College, now Wichita University. To celebrate the victory, Builder students chose the bad luck black cat, called it the Jinx, and adopted it as a mascot. Builders painted a replica of their new mascot on a campus boulder.

As time passed Fairmount became perturbed over the continued success of its rival and captured the Jinx stone. Each time the Jinx disappears the Builders fight to regain its possession, and this year was no exception.

No loyal Builder should ever step on the Jinx painted on the third landing of the "seventy-seven," and the penalty for so doing is to kneel and kiss it.

Initiation week reaches a climax as rushees are led blindfolded down the "77" to kiss the sacred Jinx. Field Day activities include a tug-of-war across the lagoon and contests in volley ball.

P R E S I D E N T

Dr. Mearl P. Culver who came to Southwestern College in May, 1945, is completing his third year as president. He received his A. B. degree from Albion College, M. A. from the University of Colorado, S. T. B. from Union Theological Seminary, and his Ph. D. from Yale University. He also did graduate work in college administration at the University of Minnesota.

While at Southwestern Dr. Culver has done much to improve the crowded conditions of the college by securing new buildings for boys' dormitories, a fine arts building, and a student union. Many new faculty members have been added to the staff; enrollment has more than doubled; and plans are in the making for many needed improvements and additional buildings which will make Southwestern one of the finest colleges in the Middle West.

DEAN OF COLLEGE

Dean Russell Grow came to Southwestern College a year ago last fall from Barnsdall, Oklahoma, where he served as Superintendent of Schools. Previously he had taught in several Oklahoma colleges, including Northeastern State College and Tulsa University.

Dr. Grow received his A. B. degree from Northeastern State College of Oklahoma, M. A. and Ph. D. degrees from the University of Nebraska.

During his two years of service at Southwestern Dean Grow has had a two-fold task of teaching and administrating. Last year he served as Dean of Men, and this year he has had the position of director of student personnel as Dean of the College. Through his untiring efforts in behalf of the students they have come to know him as their friend.

THEY HOLD THE REINS

Ironing out the numerous and varied problems of a college student usually becomes the responsibility of the Dean of Men, the Dean of Women, the Business Manager, or the Registrar.

William Monypeny, Dean of Men, is also director of the placement bureau and counsellor of veterans. Through his sincere efforts, many Southwestern students, upon graduation, have received excellent teaching positions or opportunities for positions in other fields.

Mrs. Mildred Skinner, Dean of Women, received her bachelor of science and master of science degrees in home economics at Kansas State College at Manhattan. She taught and acted as adviser at Fort Scott High School and Junior College for twelve years prior to her appointment at Southwestern. As Dean of Women, en, Mrs. Skinner is vitally interested in the welfare of girls who come to her for adjustments of whatever difficulties are presented.

Professor William J. Poundstone is one of the busiest persons on the campus. His duties include that of Registrar, Alumni Secretary, Director of the Summer Session, and he is also an instructor in education. With this busy schedule he still maintains an active interest in athletics and has done much to further the progress of a good athletic program at the college.

Emery McNeil, Business Manager, received his A. B. degree from Southwestern College. He came to S. C. from Burns, Kansas, in 1930 to take over the affairs of balancing the school budget and managing school finances.

THEY GET BEHIND AND PUSH

Lyman Burgess, Mrs. Anna Lawrence, Dr. Virgil C. Welch, and Walter Bynum deserve much credit for the part they play in making Southwestern College the friendly place that it is.

Mr. Burgess, assistant business manager, is new on the campus this year. He came to us from Salina, Kansas.

Mrs. Anna Lawrence is a full-time bookkeeper in the Business Office. Students always find her cooperative and very friendly.

Dr. Virgil C. Welch, director of public relations, makes wide contacts with the public in the interest of the school. His duties include compiling publications in connection with publicity for the college and making visitors welcome to the campus. His proficiency with a camera has given the journalism department access to many excellent pictures that would have been otherwise unobtainable.

Walter Bynum, superintendent of buildings and grounds, has a busy day making the rounds of all the buildings, checking equipment, and keeping things in working condition.

ALL THE WORLD'S

Ilene Watson as "Eagerheart" appears before Lawrence Bartley, one of the kings.

Campus Players, as always, has presented three plays this year. Their first production was "Dear Ruth," a three-act comedy by Norman Krasna, given as the traditional Homecoming play on November 6 and 7. In addition to Player members the cast included Dorine Tuckwood and Barbara Stuber.

The annual Christmas morality, "Eagerheart," made its fifteenth appearance at the regular chapel period on December 17. Ilene Watson in the title role was supported by Rosemarie Grow as Eagerfame and Barbara Stuber as Eagersense. Joseph and Mary were portrayed by Howard Hickman and Mary Marie Glaser.

The third play of the year was the traditional Commencement play, "Daughters of Atreus." All dramatic productions were under the direction of Miss Helen Graham, associate professor of expression and dramatics.

A STAGE

Among those whose interests or aspirations lie in the realm of the theater, membership in Campus Players is a much coveted goal. Campus Players, honorary dramatic organization, is financially independent, and the business of the group is executed by the membership under the direction of Miss Helen Graham.

A career in Campus Players is not all learning lines and performing behind the footlights. Although members are chosen largely for their dramatic talents, ability as a stage hand is also important. The most valuable member is the one who handles flats, hammers, spotlights, and script with equal ease and agility.

Present membership of the organization includes as full members Tim Aley, Daniel Kahler, Ilene Watson, Gene Adair, Donald Wade, Howard Hickman, Patricia Wheeler and Helen Dewell, and probationary member, Rosemarie Grow.

"Close eyes, ears, nose and mouth," has a familiar ring in the Little Theater dressing room where make-up is applied. Here Dorine Tuckwood applies makeup to Al Gallagher while Miss Graham expertly transforms Lois Samuelson into character.

NOSING FOR NEWS

The "Collegian," student newspaper of Southwestern College, is published bi-monthly. It affords students of the journalism department an opportunity for work in writing laboratory. Twelve times all-American since 1941, and once Pacemaker in 1946, the paper has maintained its high standard of journalistic endeavor.

The publication is now in its 53rd year of existence. Earl W. Shaffer serves in the capacity of adviser, succeeding Miss Margaret Miller who resigned at the close of the 1946-47 school term.

Contrary to procedure in the past when one person was editor for the entire year, the 1947-'48 paper had three student editors. Lowell Gish held the position for the first five issues, Rosemary Templin edited the sixth copy, and Bill Scott served as editor of the final nine issues.

Others on the staff included Dwight Cook and David Doig, business managers; George Weber, photographer; Elma Dannenfels, circulation manager; Velda Marquardt and Howard Henley, exchange editors; Norma Hunsinger, society editor; and Bill Medley and Irving Simpson, sports editors.

DEALING WITH DEADLINES

The 1948 "Moundbuilder," as in the past, has been constructed with the idea of recording all the events of Southwestern College during the year, both pictorially and journalistically.

Betty Dozer, the editor, has added new features to this year's book, making it one of the largest to be published in several years. Earl W. Shaffer was adviser of the yearbook publication activity. J. R. Majors and Elbert Winesburg, business manager and photographer, respectively, served in these same capacities for the second successive year.

The 1947 "Moundbuilder," edited by Janet Allen, was awarded the first all-American rating ever accorded to a Southwestern College yearbook.

In spite of the fact that Betty Dozer was selected as editor in November because of the withdrawal from school of the original editor, she and her staff made remarkable progress in creating a suitable yearbook for the Builder students. Concentrated effort and the full co-operation of the staff made it possible to meet all deadlines.

In addition to the editor, business manager, photographer and adviser, the staff included Norma Hunsinger, assistant editor; Bob Lloyd, activities editor; Elma Dannenfelser, classes editor; Bill Scott, sports editor; Betty Hackworth, art editor; and George Weber, assistant photographer. The editorial staff included Pat Wheeler, Margaret Lonker, James McPeck, and Paul Jandreau.

This year, with the exception of Majors and Winesburg, only students enrolled in journalism shared the responsibility of producing the "Moundbuilder."

PI KAPPA DELTA

The purpose of Pi Kappa Delta is to promote interest in forensic activities on the campus and to participate in inter-collegiate debate. Members of the Delta chapter of Pi Kappa Delta this year are Gene Adair, Shirley Anderson, Bryce Anderson, J. C. Fikes, Donald Wade, and Ilene Watson from the student body and J. D. Hansen, sponsor, Miss Eleanor Hoag, and Dr. Virgil Welch from the faculty.

Southwestern College now has an up-to-date, fully equipped radio studio from which it broadcasts three fifteen minute week-day programs and one half hour Sunday program each week. Through the facilities of KSOK the control room is equipped to broadcast by remote control from this new acoustically treated Music Hall studio, Richardson Hall auditorium, the new Sonner Stadium, and the Stewart Field House.

RESOLUTIONS AND REBUTTALS

Major events in forensics this year were the sponsoring of two tournaments and an international debate with Oxford University, Oxford, England, during the first semester. At Thanksgiving time the speech department sponsored an invitational college extemporaneous speaking and debate tournament, the first to be held on the campus since before the war. Approximately 150 college students from twenty colleges in seven states attended and debated the proposition, "Resolved: That a federal world government should be established."

The crowning event of the season was the international debate in which Ilene Watson and Bryce Anderson met the traveling Oxford University team in a public debate in the Richardson Hall auditorium.

Additional events in which Southwestern College participated were the debate and discussion conference at the University of Oklahoma, and debate tournaments held at Bethel, McPherson, Southeastern at Durant, Oklahoma, and St. John's Colleges. The best scores in these events were made by Betty Lou Harrison and Shirley Anderson who survived the four-round debate tournament at Bethel without a loss, and Gerald Wheeler and J. C. Fikes, who came through the same tournament with three wins out of the four rounds.

Those active in inter-collegiate debate this year have been John Adams, Bryce Anderson, Shirley Anderson, William Brooks, Henry Cease, Helen Dewell, Billy Dobson, J. C. Fikes, Betty Lou Harrison, Robert M. Jones, Dan Kahler, Merle Nauman, Norman Nelson, Robert Roessler, Kenneth Shaw, Ilene Watson, Leo Whalen, and Gerald Wheeler.

PI GAMMA MU

Members of this organization represent every field included in social science. Southwestern College is the birthplace of Pi Gamma Mu. Dr. Leroy Allen founded this National Social Science Honor Society in 1924 and it now boasts of having over 125 chapters. Membership of the Kansas Alpha Chapter is composed of students from the junior and senior classes and professors in the field of social science.

Each spring upperclassmen in the social science division who possess outstanding character, personality, and scholarship are invited to join Pi Gamma Mu and a dinner is given in their honor. Their motto, which they endeavor to follow, is "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free."

ENGLISH CLUB

The English Club, under the sponsorship of Dr. Mildred Silver, was reorganized in 1945 after having been disbanded during the war years. Its purpose is to provide, for individuals interested in any phase of English, a social and informal atmosphere in which to express and pursue these mutual interests. This purpose is achieved by holding bi-monthly work meetings, discussions, reviews, and social programs.

At each monthly work meeting the students divide into groups according to the field of writing in which they are interested. The five different fields of writing in which the club members work are short story, poetry, one-act play, radio script, and essay.

This year the English Club helped in the sponsoring of the Kansas State College English Teachers convention which was held at Southwestern. The group presented a one-act play written by Lowell Gish, one of the club members, entitled "Afternoon at Thompson's."

The officers for the year were Ray Collins, president; Virginia Welch, vice-president; and two secretaries, Medrith Robinson, first semester, and Norma Hunsinger, second semester.

THE FLEDGLING

The English Club compiles each year the "Fledgling," a publication which contains the literary creations of members of the club as well as those of others who do creative work in the literary field.

A writing contest is sponsored each year by the club. It is open to all members of the student body and is held to inspire interest in creative writing. The contest is divided into five sections—short story, poetry, one-act play, radio script, and the essay. A first and second prize is given for the best work in each section. The grand prize is given for the best of all the literary works submitted. This prize may be awarded in any one of the five different sections. The judges for this year's contest were G. A. Kuhlman, St. John's College; Helen Johnson, Winfield High School; and Ethel B. Colbrunn, instructor of foreign languages at Southwestern College.

Editor for the "Fledgling" was Lowell Gish, and the adviser Dr. Mildred Silver.

STUDENT CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION

The Student Christian Association now has the largest club membership of any organization on the campus. The purpose of this organization is to promote Christian brotherhood and good will among Southwestern College students of different races and beliefs. S. C. A. offers fun, fellowship, and worship, and a standing invitation for membership to all students.

This year's themes, worked on the commission plan, were church, campus, community, and world relations. Some of the commission projects were a carnival during Pan-American week, a study of church symbolism, cheating in classrooms, and a good news bulletin board. All club members took part in the Big and Little Sister tea, watermelon feed and show, Sing on the "77," and a Christmas party for under-privileged children.

The S. C. A. was in charge of concessions at football and basketball games. The year's activity was climaxed by the week of pre-Easter sunrise services.

Student Christian Association members entertain a group of under-privileged school children at a Christmas party.

STUDENTS EXERCISE AUTHORITY

The student body of Southwestern governs itself through the Student Council, a group composed of four regular members and two alternates from each of the four classes. The Council meets weekly to discuss problems and suggestions submitted by students, council members, and members of the faculty. Assembly, finance, social, student union, and activities, are the standing committees into which the council is divided.

Activities which were planned and executed by the student council this year include the freshman picnic, freshman mixer, Building of the Mound ceremony, and Field Day, four annual events which aid in acquainting new students with the college and in promoting school spirit.

The council was in charge of all Homecoming events this year, some of which were a broadcast, dance, purchase and sale of mums, crowning of the queen, and the house decorations contest. The group also sponsored the all-school banquet and dance. The change in attendance rules was due to a certain extent to the efforts of the student council.

Other activities for the year were the council breakfast, awards for scholarship, purchase of the Order of the Mound keys, election of class officers, conference with the Administration Committee to approve allocations of the student activity fee, assemblies, committee to help in the selection of persons for Who's Who, election of May Queen and Master of Ceremonies, sponsoring of the election of student officers, selection of the spring holiday, election of Masterbuilders, helping with the housing survey, representation on the student publications committee, and helping with the reception for Winfield high school seniors.

This year the Student Council sent representatives to the UNESCO conferences held in Wichita and Manhattan.

Officers for the first semester were Wayne Thorne, president; Stewart Boone, vice-president; and Velma Miskimen, secretary. Second semester officers included Stewart Boone, president; Gene Adair, vice-president; and Lowell Gish, secretary.

ACHIEVEMENTS BRING HONORS

WHO'S WHO

Standing: Ralph Pruitt, Wayne Thorne, Ray Collins, Tim Aley.
Sitting: Mary Marie Glaser, Ruth Murray Brown.

Scholarship, leadership, participation in extra-curricular activities, character, potentialities for future usefulness, and success determine the selection of students from the senior class to receive recognition in the publication "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

The choice is made by a committee composed of an equal number of representatives from the student council. Selections this year include: Tilghman Aley, Ruth Murray Brown, Ray Collins, Mary Marie Glaser, Ralph Pruitt, and Wayne Thorne.

Marilee Sundbye, Keith Greeson, Gladys Mizuno, William Hutton, Janet Yoder, Lloyd Coon, Margaret Dungan, James Fry, Josephine White.

MASTERBUILDERS

Masterbuilders are elected each year by popular vote of the student body. Usually the group is composed of graduating seniors; however, this year two members were chosen who will not graduate until January, 1949.

Loyalty, service, and contribution are the factors on which Masterbuilders are supposed to be elected.

Chosen for 1948 were Gene Adair, Tilghman Aley, Stewart Boone, Ruth Murray Brown, Ray Collins, Mary Marie Glaser, Lois Mae Miller, Wayne Thorne, and Rosemary Templin.

SCHOLARSHIPS

Moundbuilder scholarships are awarded to students who have a B average. Eligibility depends upon passing a test on loyalty and service. Selected for 1947-'48 were Lloyd Coon, James Fry, Keith Greeson, William Hutton, and Ruth Murray.

Chosen this year to receive scholarships from the National Board of Education of Methodist Churches were M. Dungan, S. Hammond, G. Mizuno, M. Sundbye, J. Yoder, and J. White. To be eligible a student must have one year's B plus average and participate in school activities.

ORDER OF THE MOUND

The Order of the Mound is a general scholarship society organized in 1917 to promote and recognize good scholarship. Election is made each spring on the basis of all the grades for four years. Names are announced at the Honors Assembly when those selected are given the Order of the Mound key by the Student Council and are invested with the purple ribbon which is worn over the academic gown during the commencement season. A grade point average of B must have been maintained over the four years work; student work must be in the upper ten or twelve per cent of the class; two of the four years must have been resident work at Southwestern in order for a student to be eligible.

Students elected to the Order of the Mound this year will not be recognized until 1949. Those receiving this honor last year were Janet Allen, Winfield; Sidney Brown, Leon; Margaret Chapman, Winfield; Bill Cloud, Winfield; and Keith Moore, Wellington.

SIGMA PI PHI

Sigma Pi Phi, a women's literary society, entertained several rushees last fall with programs, parties, and dances. Outstanding events were the joint talent show with Delphi, its brother literary society, and the barn dance in Stewart Gymnasium, featuring a real barn dance "caller." Elaine Baird, the Sigma rush captain, arranged for dates for the Sigma rushees. At the close of rush week Sigma entertained with a formal Mardi Gras masquerade dance.

At the night meetings at the top of the "seventy-seven" pledges learned tongue twisters to the amusement and satisfaction of Sigma members. During the day pledges could be seen wearing clothes hangers tilted at rakish angles in their hair and hitching at skirts which had been donned upside down. Any disobedience, trivial or otherwise, was treated as a crime, for which punishment was given in Kangaroo Court. After satisfying their tormentors, the blind-folded pledges began the traditional crawl down the "seventy-seven," urged on by the paddles of enthusiastic members.

Pledges officially became Sigmas after their ceremonial initiation at which they received a white carnation and recited their membership vows. The ceremony was followed by a musical program, given by the older members.

First semester officers were Rosemary Templin, president; Elaine Baird, vice-president; Venita Downing, secretary; and Dorothy Lear, treasurer.

Highlights of the year for the society were the one-act play, "The Happy Journey" by Thornton Wilder, presented at Assembly, and the Christmas buffet dinner. The society's production of the "Fakelty" was an entertaining farce.

Second semester officers were Virginia Welch, president; Corlie Sanders, vice-president; Arletha Almack, secretary; and June Winchester, treasurer.

DELPHI

The Delphi members, together with their sister organization, Sigma Pi Phi, entertained 110 rushees at Stewart Gymnasium with their "Moonlight Jubilee," a big barn dance. Music for the square dance, Virginia reel, fox trot, schottische, and the waltz was played by Bert Woodward and his fiddlers. Rush captain, Stanley Abel, helped arrange for dates. Rush week ended with a formal Mardi Gras masquerade dance.

Delphi pledges were instructed nightly at the top of the "seventy-seven" by learning confusing tongue twisters and receiving orders regarding acceptable attire for the following day. One day the pledges appeared with their pants wrong side out and one pants leg rolled, revealing a shaved leg. Another day they wore headscarfs and make-up. Any pledge who disobeyed an order was duly punished in Kangaroo Court. All pledges crawled down the seventy-seven steps at the close of the court session. Paddling members and blindfolds were two "helping" factors in the traditional crawl.

Fledglings became members by the initiation ceremony at which each received a white carnation and repeated the membership oath. Pledges received into the society were Kenneth Cole, Delbert Jackson, Richard Texada, John Adams, John Green, Donald Adams, William Halligan, William Burnett, Vernie Langhofer, Jimmie Wene, and John Metheney. The officers of the society took part in the ceremony, and a program was given in honor of the new members.

First semester officers were Richard Conover, president; Stanley Abel, vice-president; Herbert White, treasurer; and Leonard Elliott, secretary.

During the year Delphi, in joint action with its sister society, produced a one-act play, gave an elaborate formal Christmas buffet dinner, supported Virginia Ward in the Moundbuilder Queen election, and gave a hilarious impersonation of the faculty members in their traditional "Fakelty."

Delphi's second semester officers were Stanley Abel, president; Harold Holliway, vice-president; William Emura, secretary; and John Metheney, treasurer.

BELLES LETTRES

Of the organizations on the campus today, Belles Lettres, a women's literary society, is one of the oldest. Belles Lettres was organized in the spring of 1890 by a group of young women who were not asked to join the Cadmus Society, the same society which precipitated the organization of Athens. In the fall of the same year, the Belles joined with the Athenians to become brother and sister societies.

The Belles opened their initiation week this year with a "Carnival in Costa Rica," given jointly with the Athenians in the student union. At the conclusion of rush week the two societies also entertained their prospective members at a formal dance, using a six-piece band in a nightclub atmosphere.

At the early morning meeting on the football field the well dressed Belle pledge wore pajama pants and a sweater. Her hair-do was ten dainty pigtailed tied with multicolored ribbons. On the day Kangaroo Court was held all rushees could be seen sporting blue-banded legs. When the court was over, blindfolded pledges, aided by paddle wielders, climbed the traditional "seventy-seven." Initiation was completed in the Belle-Athenian hall where the new members received the symbolic yellow rose and repeated the membership oath.

Officers for the first semester were Janella Hill, president; Dona Bettis, vice-president; Margaret Hetzke, secretary; and Avenell Reazin, treasurer.

The Belles Lettres society, with the Athenians, took part in many of the school's activities this year. One of which was the Christmas party that replaced the usual Belle-Athens banquet. They also introduced new society pins, enjoyed numerous parties, and gave a spring banquet.

One of the year's outstanding student dramatic programs was the Belle-Athens production of the three-act play, "Papa Is All" by Patterson Greene.

The society's second semester officers were Dona Bettis, president; Helen Dewell, vice-president; Judy Black, secretary; and Monna Lee Barns, treasurer.

Back row: Ogle, Hogue, Bergner, Rolf, Dryden, McClaren, Shaff, Falen, Reazin, Dewell, V. Miskimen, Frazier, Hammond, Reynolds, Kuehn, Hunsinger.

ATHENS

Since the Athenian literary society is the oldest society in Southwestern College, its history is no insignificant part of the history of the college itself. Founded four years later than the college, Athens has been a factor in shaping the character of a majority of the men who have gone out from the institution.

The first meetings of the society were held in the old library room of North Hall. Later the faculty assigned the society the southwest room on the fourth floor of North Hall. In the spring of 1893 Athens proposed to Belles Lettres that the two societies unite to form a mixed society. The proposal was rejected, Belles Lettres preferring to be considered a sister to Athens, and to occupy the same hall with them.

When Richardson Hall was completed in 1910, the Athenians and the Belles were assigned the southeast room on the second floor. In the past the Athenians have taken part in many activities including oratory, debate, music, and drama, as well as the many social events which they have sponsored.

In opening rush week this year the prospective Athenians were entertained in the student union with a "Carnival in Costa Rica." During the week pledges of the society met at the football field early each morning to fulfill part of their initiation. They were dressed with pajama tops pulled on backwards and had rocks dangling from their necks. Later their initiation called for the wearing of aprons and rolled pants legs to school. One evening pledges were hailed into Kangaroo Court and required to climb the seventy-seven steps blindfolded. They were given unwelcome assistance in climbing by members with sturdy paddles which were used unsparingly.

First semester officers were Lowell Gish, president; Frank Longley, vice-president; Leonard Richardson, secretary-treasurer; and Robert M. Jones, program chairman.

During the school year Athens participated in intramural basketball, sponsored Ravera Rolf as a Moundbuilder Queen candidate, and with Belles Lettres, their sister society, produced the three-act play, "Papa Is All" by Patterson Greene.

Second semester officers were Frank Longley, president; Richard Jones, vice-president; Hector Gomez, secretary-treasurer; Robert M. Jones, program chairman; and George Weber, chaplain.

This year the campus Art Club became the Alpha Alpha Epsilon chapter of Kappa Pi, National Honorary Art Fraternity. The organizational meetings held twice a month are usually informal gatherings at Mrs. Covacevich's attractive studio. Conversation invariably turns toward the various fields of art and interesting discussions follow.

To be eligible for membership in Kappa Pi a student must be an art major and must have attained a "B" average in art subjects for one semester.

Officers who guided the new Art Club through its first semester were George Paris, president; Betty Hackworth, vice-president; and Betty Dozer, secretary-treasurer.

PI SIGMA GAMMA

Pi Sigma Gamma, more commonly known on the campus as the Science Club, is an organization whose members are deeply interested in any branch of science or scientific project. Eligibility for membership in the club is determined by the individual's interest in science.

Regular meetings of Pi Sigma Gamma were held once a week throughout the year. Each week a paper or lecture relating to some phase of science was presented by a student, faculty member, or some individual outside the school. This presentation was always followed by an informal discussion and by tea made from distilled water. The slogan of the club, and the final statement of every announcement made in Assembly about the organizational meetings, was, "Tea will be served."

Some of the most interesting discussions during the year were given by Richard Imagawa, Letha Bunch, Etyl Blair, Dr. Theodore Eaton, and Lawrence Oncley, former professor of chemistry at Southwestern College. Etyl Blair gave a talk on steel and its properties, and discussed the relative strength proportional to carbon present and other metals that increase durability. Dr. Theodore Eaton elaborated on the protective coloring of insects. Specimens of various insects from Africa and India were shown.

Mr. Oncley discussed biochemistry and the work that is being done at the Snyder Research Foundation. Richard Imagawa spoke on Dr. Hamilton's research work at the State School, and Letha Bunch talked about "Acetylchlorine in relation to multiple sclerosis."

One of the highlights of the year for Pi Sigma Gamma was the winning of first place in the Homecoming parade on their float, "Kickapoo Joy Juice."

During the year the Science Club collected and sent several bundles of clothes to Europe, and the group also sent several CARE packages to needy Europeans. The club received a letter of thanks from Dr. Robert Meertens, director of the Senckenberg Museum and professor at Senckenberg University. Dr. Meertens said in part, "I am thanking you with special gratitude for your package, as it encourages me to go on working as intensely as possible at the task, certainly not a very easy one, to show to foreign countries that there still exists another Germany that is anxious to contribute to the promulgation of knowledge and to the work of peace."

Officers of the club for the year were Kenneth Froman, president; Howard Hickman, vice-president; Dorothy Bronnenkant, secretary-treasurer; and Phil Stansifer, J. R. Majors, and Bill Hamm, tea brewing specialists.

GAMMA OMICRON

Mu Chapter of Kappa Omicron Phi, national professional home economics fraternity, has been active on the Southwestern campus since it was organized in 1929. Miss Helen Evers, sponsor of the group, was a charter member. Girls are chosen for membership on the basis of scholarship, leadership, ability, and character.

With the themes of "Becoming Skilled in the Techniques of Hand Work" for business meetings and "Family Traditions and Customs in Other Countries" for social meetings, the organization has had a very busy and most profitable year. The group meets twice each month. Special speakers entertained at many of the meetings.

Officers for the year were Phyllis Walker, president; Mary Marie Glaser, first vice-president; Alice Miller, second vice-president; June Winchester, recording secretary; Avenell Reazin, corresponding secretary; Grayce Abrahamson, treasurer.

Gamma Omicron Phi is a local home economics organization providing social activity for those girls who are especially interested in home making. Any girl who has completed eight or more college credit hours in home economics is eligible for membership in the group.

A CAPPELLA CHOIR MAKE MINE MUSIC

The A Cappella Choir, organized in 1925, is comprised of sixty-one members, selected from the student body. Many of these are enrolled in liberal arts courses, majoring in chemistry, mathematics, or social science. In A Cappella, however, they find a common bond, the love of music and enjoyment of singing. The choir went to Wichita to participate in the annual Central Kansas Conference in October. Their next public appearance was in the Christmas Vespers program. On January 18 the choir took part in the dedicatory program of the new Music Hall by performing "God's Time Is Best," a Bach cantata. This presentation was a real climax to the choir's first semester activities.

The A Cappella again assisted in presenting the "Elijah." Orcenith Smith, chairman of the division of fine arts, had the honor of singing the title role, ably supported by the Winfield Civic Orchestra and the Elijah chorus of 400 voices.

The most important event of the school year was the ten day trip which the choir made through western Kansas—a memorable occasion for the choristers in spite of the hard work involved. In the short space of ten days the choir gave over thirty concerts and traveled nearly a thousand miles.

The officers for the year were Hal Wilcox, president; Lois Mae Miller, vice-president; Garth Peacock, vice-president; Moselle Hainline, secretary; Patricia Knowles and Robert W. Jones, robe chairmen.

MUSIC GROUPS

The mixed quartette is a new group on the campus this year. Its members are Betty Lou Eckl, soprano; Velma King, contralto; Hal Wilcox, tenor; and Charles Ramsdale, bass. The group has sung at numerous places during the year, including appearances on the radio, at the Lion's Club, Organ Club, "Eagerheart," Assembly, Parent's Day, and the County Teachers' Convention. At Christmas time the quartette presented a Bach Cantata which was well received at several community performances.

Another musical group which has been newly organized on the Southwestern campus is the Madrigalians. This group of talented musicians is under the direction of P. Fredrick Hall. Other musical groups of equal merit are the Boys' Quartette, the String Ensemble, the Double Trio, and the Faculty String Trio.

LITTLE SYMPHONY

The Little Symphony, a group of twenty-five selected musicians directed by Ross O. Williams, was organized during the 1946-'47 school year.

Although this is a young organization, it has succeeded in giving pleasing, varied, and interesting concerts to its listeners.

Each year the Little Symphony makes a tour throughout Western Kansas. It is a custom of the orchestra to take a soloist on the trip. This year Betty Lou Eckl added much color to the concerts with her pleasing soprano voice.

The itinerary for this year included Arkansas City, Planeview, Kingman, Cunningham, Bucklin, Cimarron, Garden City, Dodge City, Larned, Hoisington, Raymond, Lyons, and Winfield.

Other activities in which the Symphony has participated are several radio broadcasts over station KSOK and school assembly programs.

The symphony is also cooperating with the Winfield Civic Orchestra in helping to make that organization a success.

Sitting: Margaret Hetzke, Arletha Almack, Janet Yoder, Earl Cowen, Joann Miller, Barbara Brown, Margaret Bartholow, Lloyd Miller, Nedra Starkey, Bonner Ruff, Aaron Johnson, Ruth Sullivan, Rowena Taylor, Marilyn Green, Mary Knapp, Wanda Stiner, Tom Ward, Tom Henderson, Janella Hill, Charlotte Mossman, Lois Wind.

Standing: Mr. Klingman, Jackson, Dobson, Langhofer, Baker.

IN RHYTHM

Under the direction of Creston Klingman, the Band has once again completed a successful year of supplying that good old "musical punch" which means so much to Southwestern pep. The Band gave its first performance of the year at the Southwestern-Baker football game. They gave ample support on that memorable evening to the dedication ceremonies of the new Sonner Stadium.

The organization marched in the Armistice Day parade and stepped right out in front to lead Southwestern's Homecoming parade. After the crowning of the Homecoming Queen the Band marched onto the field and gave the crowd a spectacular performance by doing some very colorful drills and formations.

A familiar strain which was heard at the football games last fall was "The Dipsy Doodle," the Southwestern fight song. The Band has participated in many parades held in neighboring towns and cities and has performed in a number of the school assemblies. One place where you can always see those blue and white uniforms and hear those inspiring marches is at a basketball game in the Stewart Field House.

The Band climaxed its year's activities as the Queen of May descended the "77" to the Green during the annual May Fete by sending its melodic strains across the Southwestern campus.

Marjorie Pruitt, Ralph Pruitt, Barbara Brown, Margaret Dungan, Miss Sellers.

ALPHA MU

Alpha Mu was organized at Southwestern College in 1942 with intentions of becoming affiliated with a national association. During the war years the organization became inactive and was practically disbanded. This year Alpha Mu has been reorganized and hopes again to become one of the strong groups on the campus.

Any student enrolled in the division of fine arts is eligible for membership in the music organization. Qualities which aspiring Alpha Mu members should possess are character, scholarship, and musicianship. Since Alpha Mu is a cosmopolitan organization, its members have varying talents and interests evidenced by their wide range of abilities. Some play the piano, organ, violin, cornet, or cello, and others have a deep interest in vocal music.

Alpha Mu members are often asked to furnish entertainment at various school events and to usher at recitals. Each year the group presents an assembly program, gives student recitals, and holds its traditional breakfast.

The officers for the 1947-'48 school year were Marjorie Pruitt, president; Barbara Brown, vice-president; Phyllis Semisch, secretary; Freda Nix, treasurer; and Margaret Dungan, program chairman.

ORGAN CLUB

The Southwestern Organ Club was organized fourteen years ago by Mrs. Cora Conn-Redic, professor emeritus of Southwestern College. It was designed and organized as a "study club" to cultivate and further interest in the organ and its literature among the organ students both on and off the Southwestern campus. Through the years the club has had a tremendous influence on these students, and through special programs and other events has made a fine contribution to the general cultural life of the community. Among the highlights of the year was the meeting of the American Guild of Organists at Southwestern in March.

Membership in the club includes all interested organists in the community in addition to the organ students at Southwestern. There were twenty-five members in the club this year.

Highlights of the year's activities include a Christmas organ recital at the First Baptist Church. An added feature of the program was an appearance by the Southwestern mixed quartette.

The January meeting was held in the United Brethren Church to hear the new Wurlitzer organ which had been installed recently. The February meeting was held at Richardson Hall. The program was devoted to a study of compositions by Flor Peeters, contemporary Dutch organist-composer.

At the March meeting Arthur Poister, visiting concert organist, was the guest of honor. He presented a concert in Richardson Hall on the same evening.

Officers for the year were Arnold Lynch, president; E. Marie Burdette, vice-president; Norma Hunsinger, secretary-treasurer; and Cora Conn-Redic, president emeritus.

PI SIGMA PHI

The honorary athletic fraternity, Pi Sigma Phi, offers membership only to those who letter in varsity athletic competition.

Objectives of this group are to maintain good sportsmanship, preserve the position of athletics at Southwestern, promote high moral and scholastic standards among athletes, and offer an incentive to compete in athletics.

The present club was formed in 1923 to take the place of the S Club which was then the lettermen's group.

Officers for this year were Joe Vann, president; Mike Pietkiewicz, vice-president; and Marvin Webster, secretary-treasurer.

BUILDER GRIDSTERS

Above: Even though many were perpetual bench-warmers they contributed much to the success of the Mound-builder football team. This scene was taken during the 1947 Homecoming game with St. Benedict's College.

Left: It's up and over as Bodge Roberts, Builder end, scores the second Southwestern touchdown in the Homecoming game against the Ravens.

Johnny Swafford, 77, attempts to elude two St. Benedict's tacklers after a big gain from scrimmage.

GO INTO ACTION

Although the Moundbuilders failed to repeat as Central Intercollegiate Athletic Conference grid champions, they did manage a tie for third place in the final standings. Coach Art Kahler's squad emerged victorious against all non-conference foes in addition to maintaining an unbeaten home record which started before the war.

At the beginning of the campaign, which also was the case in the preceding year, Southwestern was chosen by sports writers and coaches in the conference to finish in the cellar; however the Purple amassed a season record of six wins, two losses and a tie. In league competition Southwestern finished with two wins, two losses, and one deadlock.

The Builder grid machine opened the pigskin parade against Baker University in a game highlighted by the dedication of new Sonner Stadium, a structure with a seating capacity of 4,000 persons.

Southwestern invaded Emporia to engage the E. State Yellowjackets in their annual Homecoming Day game. Our own Homecoming Day of 1947 saw many former Builders returning to the campus to view the Southwestern-St. Benedict's tussle, which the Purple won by 24 to 0.

Grid careers ended for Johnny Swafford, quarterback, and Marvin Ross, center. Swafford was selected to appear in the annual Mo-Kan bowl game held in Kansas City, Missouri, December 7.

Dan Kahler, tall end, and Mike Pietkiewicz, guard, landed berths on the 1947 Associated Press all-conference squad. Both Kahler and Pietkiewicz are sophomore lettermen, and have two more years of football eligibility remaining.

Southwestern has great prospects for the 1948 season in view of the fact that only Swafford and Ross will be lost to the team. Joe Vann, all-star quarterback in 1946, will return for another campaign, and the starting backfield of Lara, Vann, Spoon, and Sidener should be a conference threat next year.

CAGEMEN HIT THE LOOP

Towering high above the others is Floyd Martin. Builder speedster, as he scores against the Pittsburg State Gorillas.

For the second successive year and the third since the Central Intercollegiate Athletic conference came into existence, the Moundbuilders of Southwestern College finished in the cellar of the circuit. The builders compiled a record of 11 and 5 in non-conference play, but their 2-8 mark in the CIAC shoved them into the cellar.

The high spot of the season came on the night of February 27, when the Washburn Ichabods roared into town tied with Emporia State for the league lead, and only the Southwestern-Washburn and the Emporia State-Hays State games remaining to be played.

What happened that night is now history, but playing inspired ball, the Moundbuilders piled up a 34 to 27 margin at half-time to go ahead and win 71 to 64, the highest scoring game of the season. The Washburn team was toppled into second place as Emporia nosed out Hays 47 to 45 in the final 10 seconds of play.

For a team nucleus Coach Kahler had Marvin Webster, Dan Kahler, and Marty Sidener from the 1946-'47 squad. D. Kahler, fifth place scorer in the CIAC last year, who tallied 310 points in his freshman season, was the kingpin of the Builder attack.

Southwestern opened the season on December 9 at Tulsa, and dropped a 69 to 57 battle in spite of D. Kahler's 30-point scoring performance.

During Christmas vacation the Builders engaged in a two-game tournament at Springfield, Missouri, and lost to the hosts 39 to 57, and to Drury 51-56.

At Hays on January 10 Southwestern lost its first conference tilt. In succession Emporia and Pittsburg bowled over the Purple cagesters. The low point in the campaign came when Wichita University walloped the Builders at the Forum 65 to 37 as the Builders blew extremely cold. The finale of the season on March 1 saw Wichita U. again defeat Southwestern, but by a narrow margin.

Dan Kahler was chosen all-CIAC center and was the second highest scorer in conference play. In 1947-'48 the powerhouse center racked up 384 points in 25 games for a 15.4 average. Marvin Webster, who because of illness was able to play in only five conference games, had a 10.4 average and had 148 points in 17 games. With no seniors on the squad, Southwestern should have a good team in 1948-'49.

INTRAMURALS

One of the most extensive intramurals programs ever held at Southwestern was staged this year under the direction of Russell Davis, director of intramurals, and Miss Lillian Cloud, director of the social and recreational council.

The intra-school sports program led off with boys and girls singles and boys doubles table tennis tournaments. Boys singles were divided into three brackets with a total of forty-six players, while boys doubles consisted of sixteen teams. Dan Kahler won the boys singles, and with his brother, Conrad Kahler, captured the boys doubles. Girls singles had twelve participants, and Lois Cole won the championship.

Enthusiastic bowlers began their tournament early in the year and continued through March. A medal was awarded to the high scorer.

Boys basketball was divided into two leagues, the American and National. The Braves won the National and the Fireballs won the American league. Girls basketball was a new feature this year. Teams from the dormitories and the gym classes competed. The Bulldozers was the winning team. The girls' elimination volley ball tournament was won by a senior girls' team with Janella Hill as captain.

Intramural bowling provides leisure hours for Builder enthusiasts.

The hardwoods hold an attraction for many students. The "Bulldozers" outclassed all rivals to win the girls' intramural basketball championship, and the Pennsylvanians copped the title in boys' intramural basketball.

COMPETITION IS FUN

Right: Lois Cole demonstrates her winning technique. She won second place in the Kansas College Table Tennis tournament at Wichita this year.

Right: Spoon, Armstrong, Vann, and Spigarelli compete in the intramural doubles table tennis tournament.

Betty Dozer, Moundbuilder editor, presents the Queen with a large bouquet of roses as Marvin Webster, the Queen's escort, watches from the sidelines.

QUEENS REIGN FOR A DAY

Adding hilarity, anxiety, and excitement to the scheme of things on the Southwestern campus, the elections of the Queens are highlights of the school year.

The Pi Sigma Phi athletic fraternity members selected Grayce Abrahamson to reign as their Homecoming Queen and Lois Wilson and Elaine Baird as her attendants. Miss Abrahamson was presented in the Homecoming parade and officially crowned as Queen between halves of the Builder-Raven football game.

Climaxing a busy week of campaigning and balloting was the crowning of Ellen Oda, Student Christian Association candidate, as the 1948

Moundbuilder Queen. Other candidates and their sponsors were Dorine Tuckwood, Collegian; Raveria Rolf, Athens; Norma Black, Kappa Rho; Jane Wheeler, Pi Epsilon Pi; Venita Downing, Jinx Jane; Ilene Watson, K K; and Virginia Ward, Delphi. The highlight of the affair was the Moundbuilder Assembly and the leap year Moundbuilder dance which was held in Music Hall.

From the senior class the student body chose Virginia Welch and Gene Adair to reign as Queen of May and Master of Ceremonies respectively.

Virginia Welch, Builder senior, was the choice of the student body to hold sway over the May Day events. Master of Ceremonies for the occasion was Gene Adair, popular senior. Caught between classes Virginia and Gene pose for the Moundbuilder photographer.

Back row: Pruitt, Templin, Dungan, Clawson, Stuber, Miskimen, Semisch, Stratton, Rolf, Murray, Mizuno, Glaser, Black, King, Hainline, Hunter, Eckl.

JINX JANE

"For better or hearse" was one of the mottoes for Casey's coffins advertising department as portrayed by the Jinx Janes on their skit night for freshmen early in October. Even the corpse made a few comments. "Medicine Man" Burns and "Hillbilly Singers" Glaser and Eckl contributed their talents.

The Jinx Jane pep club began the year with fifteen members. Officers for the first semester were Lois Mae Miller, president; Janella Hill, vice-president; Dorothy Kirkwood, secretary; and Dorcas Burns, treasurer.

The vice-president was in charge of rush week. Invitations to the rush activities for the fourteen rushees were white satin evening bags decorated with the JJ emblem. Events included a skating party at Wellington and a campfire sing at "S" hill, followed by a slumber party. Rush week closed with a formal dance in Smith Hall parlor.

All rushees were pledged to become members, and the informal initiation took place in downtown Winfield.

Officers for the second semester were Janella Hill, president; Maurine Clawson, vice-president; Patricia Meeker, secretary; and Janet Yoder, treasurer.

Ruth Murray was happily surprised with a miscellaneous shower by the club prior to her wedding.

On the list of activities for the year was the Moundbuilder Queen campaign, in which Venita Downing was supported by Jinx Jane. Publicity for their candidate was aired on the five minute broadcasts between classes over radio station JINX.

In addition to their other activities the Jinx Jane pep club sponsored an assembly program for the entire student body late in the spring.

KAPPA RHO

Kappa Rho pep club was organized in 1937 with the purpose of maintaining vim, vigor and vitality on the campus of Southwestern College, and to that end does the club devote its effort.

Highlighting the Kappa Rho year were traditional rush week, the rush stag, and the formal banquet and dance. Rush week, also known as "Hell Week," scratched a place on the calendar with its burlap and adhesive, no strings attached. Stewart gym was the scene of the climax of rush week as the pledges were tried and found guilty by the Judge of the Court, Tim Aley.

Along with all this came the Kappa Rho assembly, which comes in for much discussion and ballyhoo.

The club was instrumental in uncovering the Jinx, which was buried for several years during the war. While being buried the Jinx apparently became somewhat impotent, as it failed to accomplish the desired results at the Southwestern-Wichita basketball game; but, given time, the Jinx will likely once again demonstrate its old power.

"The best yet" are the three words which properly label the occasion in recalling the spring sweetheart banquet. This was the last formal club function of the year, and was consistent with the organization's policies of vim, vigor, and vitality.

Another old custom of the group is the "paddle ceremony" for those members who are late for meetings. They must suffer the sting of the paddle as administered by the sergeant-at-arms.

Several all-school dances were sponsored by Kappa Rho during the year. The first dance ever to be held after a basketball game at Southwestern College was a function of the club. This took place on February 6, immediately following the Builder-Hays State game.

First semester officers were William Stanley, president; Richard Conover, vice-president; and Herbert White, secretary-treasurer. For the second semester they were succeeded by Everett Samuelson, president; Kenneth Froman, vice-president; and Herbert White, secretary-treasurer.

KK

To the KK pep club goes the honor of being the oldest organization of its kind on the campus. Traditions come with age and the wearers of the black and white have several dear to their hearts.

Rush week was a busy one for all KK's as they formulated plans for their annual slumber party, buffet supper, and formal dance. The informal initiation was held on the streets and in the stores of downtown Winfield where the strangely clad girls sold kisses, sardines, evening papers and other odd commodities.

Formal ceremonies for the initiation of the rushees was held on December 11 at the home of Lorraine Chapman with Violet Beatty presiding. The meeting was then turned into a party with an exchange of Christmas gifts and the serving of refreshments of apple cider and cookies.

Other activities included the Homecoming banquet, the Christmas dance, the informal dance given by rushees, the spring breakfast, the chain of concentration, and the pep meetings at "Pop's" before the games.

First semester officers were Violet Beatty, president; Joyce Henkle, acting vice-president; Velma Mease, secretary; and Marjorie Mulligan, treasurer. For the second semester, officers were Joann Miller, president; Joyce Henkle, vice-president; Freda Nix, secretary; and Corlie Sanders, treasurer.

The KK club members are ardent backers of almost all school functions, and they add much pep and "spice" to the school atmosphere. Their annual assembly program emphasized the "new look" in an historical fashion show presenting such attractions as "Cave-woman" Hunsinger, "Amber" Samuelson, and "Flappers" Sanders and Shaff.

The KK candidate for Moundbuilder Queen was Ilene Watson. The club sold programs and ushered at football games, and entered a float in the Homecoming parade.

PI EPSILON PI

Pi Epsilon Pi in 1948 rounded out its seventh year of existence on the campus of Southwestern College. Operating with a capacity crew of thirty members this pep club contributed much toward the promotion of school spirit. Buses were chartered for the more important out-of-town football and basketball games, and their popular "pep" band was better than ever.

Throughout the year those familiar black and white sweaters were to be seen at every type of school function and gathering. Beginning with rush week, the Pi Eps maintained a full calendar of social events, including the first dance held in the new Music Hall.

As expected, the Pi Eps launched a colorful campaign for Moundbuilder Queen and kept their reputation intact when it came to putting on assembly programs. A highlight of the year was the basketball victory over Kappa Rho in the "Milk Bucket" game. This contest was held for the first time this year, and it is hoped that it will become an annual affair. The trophy for the winning team was a "Mae West Doll" mounted on a milk can. The "Milk Bucket" game was an all-school function, and was followed by a dance in Music Hall.

Pi Epsilon Pi made its first big noise when it was organized in November, 1942. The members chose for a club name one which spelled with its initials the word "PEP."

The club was organized by a small group of men on the campus who felt that there was a need for more spirit of competition in pep. "To stimulate pep on the campus of Southwestern College" is the Pi Epsilon Pi motto.

The big event of the year was the traditional spring banquet.

First semester officers were J. R. Majors, president; Howard Hickman, vice-president; Phil Stansifer, secretary-treasurer. Elected for the second semester were James Basore, president; Irving Simpson, vice-president; and Brad Darling, secretary-treasurer.

SMITH HALL

Smith Hall is the largest dormitory for girls on the Southwestern campus. The first semester it housed sixty girls; the second semester the number was reduced to fifty-five.

The year's many activities included the traditional initiation of the freshmen, the walk-out, which was held on Halloween night, several house parties, an invitational informal dance, and open house.

First semester officers were Lois Mae Miller, president; Barbara Brown, vice-president; and Gladys Mizuno, secretary-treasurer. Second semester officers chosen were Velma Miskimen, president; Barbara Brown, vice-president; and Esther Sheldon, secretary-treasurer.

Miss Eva Rosecrans has served as housemother at Smith Hall for the past three years.

HOLLAND HALL

JRN

Holland Hall as a dormitory for girls came into existence only last year, when it housed thirteen girls. This year the number was increased to thirty-one with the addition of an annex to the building last fall.

Activities for the past year included the annual Valentine dance to which persons other than residents are invited, and a Christmas party, an inside affair.

Officers for the first semester were Mary K. Hamilton, president; Helen Dewell, vice-president; Norma Hunsinger, secretary-treasurer; and Minnie Lou Higgins, social chairman. Officers for the second semester were Donna Nichols, president; Minnie Lou Higgins, vice-president; Ruth Sullivan, secretary-treasurer; and social chairman, Diana Erdman.

Mrs. Mabel Cooper serves as matron of Holland Hall.

ALLISON HALL

In 1925 Mrs. Emily Allison of Wichita gave the hall which bears her name to Southwestern College. This dormitory is the only house where the girls prepare their own meals. Each girl is "cook" for one week, and during that time pays the grocery bill.

Activities for the year included parties honoring the three girls who were married during the winter.

First semester officers were Thelma Unruh, president; Mildred Shrauner, vice-president; Phyllis Walker, secretary-treasurer. Officers for the second semester were Phyllis Walker, president; Doris Snare, vice-president; and Thelma Unruh, secretary-treasurer.

Miss Mabel Meadows, college nurse, resides at Allison Hall as the housemother.

Baker, Reazin, Kirkhuff, Dryden, Falen, Kawakami, Rose, Black.

EAST HALL

"East Hall of Hospitality" was moved to its present location in 1923. It was formerly a Y.M.C.A. headquarters. East Hall has room for twenty-five, but its present personnel includes only sixteen girls.

During the year the girls participated in the initiation of their freshmen members, a walk-out, and inside parties.

Officers elected for the entire school year were Avenell Reazin, president, and Freda Mae Rose, vice-president.

Mrs. Mabel Casburn is the housemother for East Hall.

Sigma-Delphi places second on their float in the Homecoming parade.
Sellers' "House of Culture" places third with their house decorations in the Homecoming contest.

REMINISCING

First place in the house decorations for Homecoming was won by Ellinger's boys on their "open season on Ravens."
Sweepstakes in the float decorations went to the Science Club for their entry, "Kickapoo Joy Juice."

NORMA JEAN BLACK

VENTURA

Capers and oratory reigned at the Moundbuilder Queen Assembly.

Queen Grayce Abrahamson and judges held court in Junior Assembly.

Clinton Keller, Builder magician, removes "water on the brain" from Mr. Snyder with the help of Dr. Chen and Dr. Spitz.

Dr. Culver, Miss Cloud, Miss Welch and Mr. Grandy give forth with melody for Queen Grayce.

Helping to raise funds for Foreign Student Relief, Mr. Williams willingly shines Hal Wilcox's shoes—for a small sum.
 Sigma-Delphi rushees will never forget the shoe hunt.
 Belle-Athenians came all decked out for their costume party.
 Field day was not all play—the girls discover that some of it meant work!

Governor Carlson, speaker for the Founders Day program, gave the Builders an interesting address.

Cindy, Mr. Shaffer's dog, has a busy day at the Public Relations office.

The all-school parties furnish enjoyable recreation.

A future Pi Ep basketball star performs between halves of the first annual Milk Bucket game.

The "Elijah" was one of the most inspiring musical programs of the year.
The girls turn out in full force at the leap year Moundbuilder formal dance.

Literary society rushees endure the torture of rush week to become full fledged members.

The Christmas spirit was quite evident at the annual Christmas formal ball.

Band members step out to lead the Homecoming parade through the business section of Winfield.

The victorious Pi Epsilon Pi basketball team and their cheerleader sport the newly won "Milk Bucket."

The "Raven" succumbs and becomes a Ravenburger between halves of the Homecoming game.

The 'Dipsy Doodle' brings enthusiastic Builders to their feet.

MID-CONTINENT
ENGRAVING COMPANY, INC.

May this volume do its part in creating a closer bond between those of you who have lived and labored together. In the years ahead may it shorten the interval between your present activities and your work of the future by rekindling memories of incidents that no one knows except you who have lived these experiences.

Our relationship has indeed been a pleasurable and stimulating one and we are grateful to have had a part in creating this volume.
... The Mid-Continent Engraving Company . . . Wichita, Kansas.

THERE is hardly anything in the world that some man cannot make a little worse and sell a little cheaper, and the people who consider price alone are this man's lawful prey
