A grade point average of B must have been maintained over the four years' work; student work must be in the upper ten or twelve per cent of the class; two of the four years must have been resident work at Southwestern in order for a student to be eligible. Students elected to the Order of the Mound this year will be recognized in the 1950 "Moundbuilder." Dan Kahler, an all-conference choice last winter in basketball for the third successive time, goes up for a rebound against the Rockhurst Hawks in a CIAC game here. Southwestern won the contest. a low-scoring affair, 37 to 22, as Marvin Webster accounted for 11 points.

It was this tilt in which Kahler saw his low of the season by picking up but five counters when he was closely guarded by the entire Rockhurst team. The Hawks could manage only 13 points in the first half as the Builders strictly emphasized defense.

Rockhurst's appearance was the first in history in Winfield. The Hawks were admitted to the Central conference in May, 1948. The Kansas City crew ended its season in the loop with no wins in 12 attempts.

Wylie Smith (13) leaps high into the air for a setup in the Pittsburg State contest which the Builders lost after leading all the way. Smith, known for his aggressive play and rebounding, showed considerable improvement over his freshman year, and he still has two more seasons of eligibility remaining.

As a result of Pittsburg's winning the game, Southwestern and the Gorillas ended the year tied for fourth in the Central conference each with five victories and seven defeats. Both squads defeated Rockhurst twice while Southwestern beat St. Benedict's, Fort Hays State and Pittsburg. The Gorillas held wins over Southwestern, Washburn and St. Benedict's.

Dan Kahler goes underneath for a layup shot in the intra-squad basketball game played at the beginning of the season. The Whites were victorious, 46 to 34, over the Purples as Kahler led with 16 points. Marvin Webster, captain of the losing outfit, gained runnerup honors with 11. The game was run off to give head Coach Russ Davis an opportunity to see his charges perform under fire.

A number of high school students from surrounding towns, who were on the campus for High School Day, attended the contest and split into two separate cheering sections.

Others in the picture include Max Rife, Philip Pestinger and James Pake.

Marvin Webster, the second leading scorer on this year's varsity squad, flips in two of his season's total of 222 points against Pittsburg State as 6' 8" John Spillman looks on from behind. Webster, who was instrumental in bringing Southwestern a 67 to 64 win over St. Benedict's with a dazzling 20-point performance, had 10 tallies in this contest.

The Builders set the pace for 37 minutes of the Pitt game but the Gorillas staged a brilliant comeback with nine points in the final three minutes to win 50 to 48. Marty Sidener, however, was high scorer with 15, and Spillman, tallest player in the conference, made 14.

Bill Laggren, Builder hurdles star, is shown at the extreme left running second in the 120-yard high hurdles event here in 1948. The meet was with McMurry College of Abilene, Texas, and Laggren finally won the race in the unusually good time of 15.2 seconds. He also was victorious in the 220-yard low hurdles for an individual total of 10 points.

Laggren closed the season as Southwestern's high scorer followed by Robert Blake, who specialized in the hurdles and the 440-yard dash. Seen running third is Kenneth Sessler, who also took part in the low hurdles event.

Cheerleaders were Dr. Arthur Chen, Helen Graham, Sue Jean Covacevich, W. N. Grandy; floor sweepers — Dr. Eleanor Hoag and Dr.

Blaine Nolan; water boy, Dr. George Whipple; lineups, Earl W. Shaffer, and scorekeepers, Paul W. Healy and Dean Monypeny. The faculty was featured in sideline attractions.

Between halves Jinx Jane Pep Club defeated KK Pep Club, 10 to 2, in a girls' game as added entertainment.

INTRAMURALS

Intramural basketball and table tennis are sports to which students devote much time. An intramural program under the leadership of Russell Davis and Lillian Cloud featured a table tennis tournament in the fall and a boys' basketball tournament during the winter.

Intramural girls' basketball is an event which always attracts much attention from members of the student body.
