SOUTHWESTERN COLLEGE LIBRARY

For forty years a symbol of Southwestern.

WE DEDICATE THIS BOOK TO RICHARDSON HALL

Richardson Hall has since 1910 served as a landmark for travelers approaching Winfield from all directions. Its silver dome gleamed in the sunlight and cast a silhouette of the hill against the evening sky. The crashing of the dome in the fire April 15 caused more tear wet eyes than any other event of that tragic night. But below the dome stood the portico, supported by four strong stately pillars and as lingering wisps of smoke drifted up from the ashes of all that once was the contents of Richardson Hall, these four sentinels guarding the entrance and topping Southwestern's famous "seventy-seven" remained firm.

Firm also remain the four pillars upon which Southwestern College rests: the supporting community and conference; the loyalty of the student body of today and yesterday; the ever present devotion of Southwestern's faculty; and the Moundbuilder tradition of faith and achievement. No college with four such supports need despair in the face of any calamity.

Fire has gutted the administration building; great loss has resulted, but Southwestern endures.

The pillars still stand.

Although ravaged by fire, Richardson Hall will rise again.

ALVIN W. MURRAY

President of the College

AT FORMAL FACULTY RECEPTION

A newcomer on the campus though he is, his quiet eyes have seen much and guided many since his coming.

He combines ideals with modern social thought and a fine executive ability to accomplish the difficult task of college administration during a restless, uneasy age

WILLIAM MONYPENY

of the College

His untiring efforts in ironing out the numerous and varied student problems on the campus have won Dean Monypeny the respect and affection of innumerable Southwestern Students.

His wisdom and efficiency in handling the myriad tasks that daily fall on his shoulders are to be admired by many and equalled by few

STUDENT COUNCIL

CAMPUS GOVERNING BODY

Guiding the student council this year have been the hands of James McPeek, President. Throughout the year, the council has given both financial and moral support to college projects and done much to establish a feeling of good will toward Southwestern and its activities.

Self government is made possible for the student body through the Student Council, a group composed of four regular members and two alternates from each of the four classes. The council functions through standing committees for social, student union, assembly, finance and activities.

The student council was in charge of all Homecoming events this year, including the queen coronation and the house decorations.

Each year students from the senior class who are outstanding in scholarship, participation in extra-curricular activities, and who possess potentialities for future usefulness and success are selected to receive recognition in the publication, "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

Masterbuilders are elected each year by popular vote of the student body. Only seniors are eligible for election. Loyalty, service, and contribution are the factors which determine the selection of Masterbuilders. Those chosen were Ilene Watson, Betty Lou Eckl Bean, Norma Jean Black, Dan Kahler, James McPeek, and Dwight Cook.

MASTER BUILDERS

SCHOLARSHIPS

Lloyd Coon and Ward Akers.

Moundbuilder scholarships are awarded to students who have a B average. Eligibility depends upon passing a test for loyalty and service. Students selected for 1949-1950 were Ward Akers, Lloyd Coon, and Velma King. Those receiving National Methodist scholarships were Janet Yoder, Barbara Nease, Mary Rethorst, Shirley Hammond, and Charles Yoder.

The Order of the Mound is a general scholarship society organized in 1917 to promote and recognize good scholarship. Election is made each spring on the basis of all the grades for four years. Students selected this year will not be recognized until the fall term 1950.

SOCIOLOGY CLUB

The English Club, sponsored by Miss McBride, meets monthly. Membership is open to all students interested in any phase of English. Officers were James Seely, President; Norma Strobel, Vice-President; and Doris Falen, Secretary.

ENGLISH CLUB

Edward Gribble, James Dow, Joan Fennema, Melvin G. Scarlett, George Weber, Norma Strobel, work on an edition of the Collegian.

COLLEGIAN

The Collegian, student newspaper of Southwestern College, is published monthly. It provides laboratory experience in writing, editing, and publishing a newspaper.

Through exchange with other college newspapers, the Collegian serves as a part of the public relations program of Southwestern.

The Collegian has been awarded thirteen times the All-American award for college newspapers. In 1946 it was awarded Pacemaker.

The 1949-1950 staff included Joan Fennema, Editor; Norma Strobel and Val Dumond, Assistant Editors; James Dow and Edward Gribble, Business Managers.

Herbert Reimer, George Weber, Edward Gribble, Paul Cox, Pat Iverson, James Dow, Peggy Brooks, Miriam Overstake, Joan Fennema, Norma Strobel, Melvin G. Scarlett.

The 1950 Moundbuilder was produced entirely by members of the journalism department under the direction of Melvin G. Scarlett.

In the yearbook the staff has tried to include pictures and material that will serve through the years as a record of the 1949-1950 school year at Southwestern.

The Southwestern Organ Club was organized by Mr. Cora Conn-Redic, professor emeritus of Southwestern College. It was designed and organized as a "study club" to cultivate and further interest in the organ and its literature among organ students on and off the Southwestern campus. Membership in the club includes all interested organists in the community in addition to organ students at Southwestern.

ORGAN CLUB

Alpha Mu was organized at Southwestern College in 1942 with the intention of becoming affiliated with a National association. Any student enrolled in the division of fine arts is eligible for membership in the music organization. Qualities which aspiring Alpha Mu members should possess are character, scholarship, and musicianship. Since Alpha Mu is a cosmopolitan organization, its members have varying talents and interests evidenced by their wide range of abilities.

Pi Sigma Phi is an honorary athletic fraternity, which offers membership only to monogram winners in Southwestern varsity athletic competition.

The club was organized in 1923 to take the place of the S Club which was the lettermen's group at Southwestern at that time.

Objectives of this group are to maintain good sportsmanship, preserve the position of athletics at Southwestern, promote high moral and scholastic standards among athletes, and offer an incentive to compete in athletics.

Officers for this year were Max Rife, President; Bob Dvorak, Vice-President; Frank Farley, Secretary; and Wiley Smith, Treasurer.

Builders score TD against Washburn Ichs.

FOOTBALL

The Southwestern Moundbuilders, operating under a new coach and a new system, played much more good football than is indicated by their poor 2 won 7 lost record and their sixth place position in CIC conference standings. At S.C., Coach Hunt found a veteran line, called the best in the conference by many observers, but the freshman mentor found it necessary to experiment with the backfield for the first half of the season before he finally came up with a smooth-working, potent combination.

The Builders opened the season at home by swamping out-classed Sterling College, 45-0. Then followed a string of heartbreaking defeats which was not broken until the Purple downed Rockhurst by a convincing 39-7 score. Between those two high spots were sandwiched defeats at the hands of Baker University, 6-7; Fort Hays State College, 0-14; Emporia State College, 14-30; Pittsburg State College, 12-21; Northwestern State Teacher's College, 7-13; St. Benedict's College, 0-6; and Washburn Municipal University, 20-21.

ACTION ON THE GRIDIRON

Characteristic of S.C.'s season is the fact that a touchdown in the crucial moments of any one of the Builder's losses, except the Emporia game, could have resulted in victory for the Huntmen. This attests to the unusual balance of the conference this year, as does the Southwestern-Washburn game. Washburn was the 1949 CIC gridiron co-champion, while S.C. wound up in sixth place; but on the afternoon when these two teams met, an uninformed observer might have picked either as the conference leader. S.C. got off to a fast start and led Washburn 13-0 at the end of the first half. The Builders scored again in the second half, but the Icabods came roaring back to take a brilliant, nearly even thriller by the slim margin of an extra point, 20-21.

BASKETBALL

THOSE AMAZING BUILDERS

W. Smith

Although hampered by a football shoulder injury, this 6'1" 200 pounder played consistent, inspired ball. He specialized in rebounding, tight defensive work, and smooth floor play, and he packed a scoring punch especially when the going was rough. His rugged style of play brought him many foul shots, the majority of which he converted into S.C. points.

G. Craig

Newcomer Craig, towering 6'5", gained a starting berth after the fifth game. Lanky George lacked experience, but he showed continued improvement throughout the year, and at the close of the season he was using his height to advantage under the baskets, feeding well from the pivot, and hitting a good percentage of his characteristic one-handed shots.

M. Rife

This 6'2" 205 pound cager has been troubled by injuries the last two years. Before the final game and at half time he was administered shots of Novocain, but the intense pain finally forced the plucky guard to the sidelines. His rebounding, faking and passing were tops, and he was always a scoring threat, accumulating 150 points during the '50 season.

D. Kahler

A Builder co-captain, this 6'3" 200 pounder has been called "one of the greatest athletes to show in the history of the CIC" by the Topeka Capital. The following facts substantiate that statement: Scored 1423 points in 99 games (a conference record), leading the state with 384 points in '48; placed first two years (a conference record), third one year, and fifth another in conference scoring; selected member of all-tourney team, Enid Invitational, '49; chosen captain of Lyons all-tournament team, '50; named to all-CIC four years (only unanimous choice, '50); and given a trophy as most valuable player in state AAU tournament. As a fitting climax, he was invited to participate in the annual East-West all-star game in Madison Square Garden.

M. Webster

Co-captain of the '50 Builders, Marv, with Kahler, formed the greatest forward-center combination every to perform for SC. Despite his small 5'10" frame, he was a great rebounder, competitor, point maker, dribbler, and speedy floor man. Nearly always assigned the job of guarding the opponent's best player, he invariably overshadowed his man. In 92 games he accumulated 773 points, placing eighth in conference scoring with 248 points in '50. He was named to the all-CIC squad, and was also chosen on the AAU all-state five.

FRONT TO BACK: J. Farney, M. Webster, H. Osourn, J. Woods, C. Edens, W. Smith, J. Stotts, M. Rife, D. Kahler, G. Craig.

After getting off to a slow start, the Southwestern Moundbuilders finished the 1949-50 cage season in great fashion. They worked under a new coach who introduced a new offensive system to the men, it took half of the season before they could get used to it and find a clicking combination.

The first half of the season saw the Builder quintet win seven of 13 non-loop tilts played, meeting such teams as Tulsa University, O.C.U., and Kansas Wesleyan, powerhouse of Kansas Conference.

Conference play opened Jan. 5 when Pittsburg State College came to Winfield to hand the Purple a 42-47 defeat, followed by one SC win and two defeats.

Feb. 3 saw the Builders in the basement of the CIC standings and Ft. Hays State, top team of the loop, coming to Winfield for a battle with S.C. Southwestern upset the Tigers 51-37. Two weeks later the Builders were making a strong bid for the CIC crown on the strength of five straight victories. They lost two of the three remaining games, however, and had to settle for third place with a 7-5 record.

Southwestern's season finale at Emporia saw two great Builder stars finish their college careers in great fashion against Emporia State Hornets. Dan Kahler and Marvin Webster both played a great floor game and scored 23 and 15 points respectively toward a losing cause. Emporia State won this high scoring contest, 86-77, a game rated as the greatest ever to be witnessed at Civic Auditorium, Emporia. The sum of the total points scored is a new CIC record.

The Builders hold the distinction of having beaten every team in the conference at least once this season.
