DEDICATION

The 1955 MOUNDBUILDER is dedicated to William W. Monypeny, who for twenty-seven years has served Southwestern College. Mr. Monypeny is known to all by his warm friendliness, understanding of problems, and his unselfish interest in educational and civic improvement.

At Southwestern he has been teacher, basketball coach, dean of the college, and is now serving as the director of student personnel and admissions.

Mr. Monypeny has indeed been a great motivating force at Southwestern, and is looked upon by the entire Winfield community as a friend of education.

William W. Monypeny

Southwestern College consists of all who come into and go forth from her halls, who are touched by her influences, and who carry on her spirit. Wherever you go Southwestern College goes with you, wherever you are at work, there Southwestern is at work.

A fairly large number of students went out for forensics activities this year. A good record was made as well as general enjoyment of the season. Several long trips were planned for the year, including those to Lincoln, Nebraska, Ada, Oklahoma, and Louisiana. The biggest one, of course, was the trip to the national Pi Kappa Delta tournament at Redlands, California. Two debate teams and one individual speaker went. It was felt to be a successful year by all. A partial record is included here.

Topeka - the C.I.C. Tournament

- Third place debate team honors
- Third place discussion
- Fourth place discussion

East Central State College at Ada, Oklahoma

Although playing above their heads against much larger schools the entire season, the Purple Team won the loyal support of the school and the townspeople. Against New Mexico State of Portales and Fort Hays State College, in early season games, the Moundbuilders turned in incredibly good performances, only to come out with disheartening 14-7 losses in both contests. Similar scores were turned in from several other hard-fought games, including the Homecoming game, which was played against Pittsburg State.

The Builders' night to shine came against Northwestern State College of Oklahoma at Alva, when a blazing first half was enough to insure their victory.

This was coach Hower's first year at Southwestern College, and judging from the vast improvement in school and team spirit, the future football fortunes of Hower-coached teams can only be anticipated with optimism.

C. I. C. CHAMPIONS

The 1955 basketball season brought Southwestern one of the biggest thrills she has seen for many a day! For the first time in twelve years, this spring found the Builder cagers at the N.A.I.A. Championship Tournament in Kansas City's Municipal Auditorium. For a spirited student body, the possibility of again becoming national basketball champions became more of a reality.

Our first opponent for a place in the tourney was Loyola University of Los Angeles. This crack team presented a formidable barrier to our success. So enthusiastic were the Builders that surprising numbers of them poured into Kansas City to witness the first of our matches. That night between 9:00 and 10:30, the CIC champs, backed by three-fourths of the student body, beat a team that was ranked so far superior to ours that the defeat echoed and re-echoed across the nation. It was well established by the spectators that Southwestern put not one man on the floor who did not in some way make himself absolutely indispensable to the first booming upset of the entire tourney! The student body displayed a rallying spirit worked up to a feverish pitch. The enthusiastic display of the rooters was so magnificent that they literally led that entire crowd into a mass of Southwestern fans! Southwestern was the underdog from the start. To those who knew the ropes, matching these two teams more than implied the winner. A lot of money changed hands in Kansas City that night. It was indeed a happy procession of cars and busses that rolled back across the dark highways to Southwestern's campus that night, while in the big city, a crushed California team packed up to go West.

The second game against Eastern Texas State Teachers College wasn't quite so encouraging. The Lone Star team floored a group of players who were crafty, fast, and well-trained. Southwestern set to play a team equally as good as the preceding game. The boys played hard and earnestly. Again, in the stands there roared and clanged the heartening cheers of a very representative student body. A surprisingly large number of students had returned to be staunch backers of their well-loved team. Although the score never favored us, discouragement lurked nowhere in that mammoth arena! The final buzzer left us on the lower end of the score. Again the student body had brought that crowd to cheer for the purple and white. They wanted the world to know that we would not take defeat lightly. A rousing S-O-U-T-H-W-E-S-T-E-R-N broke from section 21 of the arena balcony, and escorted a wonderful, high spirited, and only slightly defeated Southwestern College basketball team from the floor. Certainly this epic of spirit and enthusiasm has proven the old proverb "Where there is no vision, the people perish" to be quite true! We had a vision and proved it! We have not perished and next year will see us in Kansas City to prove it again!

DETAILS OF THE N. A. A. GAMES

YOU couldn't have sold stock in the Southwestern college basketball team for popcorn—say, the price of a Homburg—before the team took the court last night in the N. A. A. basketball tournament in the arena of the Municipal Auditorium.

Maybe not even to the 200 students, or the faculty members who shut down the school yesterday for two days, and then took off together in three buses and numerous motor cars for the 200-mile trip from Winfield, Kas., to Kansas City.

Boost to Their Price.

But look out for the price tag. If the Cinderella victory over a highly touted Loyola of Los Angeles team, 83 to 79, has any reason, it is watch your basketball investments when the boys in the pep club show up in Homburgs and smoking cigars.

The wise money boys around the press box before the game had summed up Southwestern's chances succinctly:

"They don't even belong in the tournament."

As for the students, like Bill Tristram, Wichita, a cheerleader, they were not surprised at the crappiness shown by their team against the Californians, who had taken such formidable foes as the University of Southern California and Santa Clara. Still, they may have been one of the Homburg pep club boys, Bob Bradley of Lawrence, Kas., who said as the game started, "I'm surprised we got this far." No one was heard to dispute him.

Not in Since 1943.

Southwestern hasn't been in an N. A. A. tournament since 1943.

A resurgence of spirit this year is typified by the Homburgs, or, in the case of Bill Williams of Cedarvale, Kas., a black derby, or white corduroy numbers in a Homburg shape, a couple of others of the even pep club boys so equipped. "Somebody around school just started wearing one," Bradley said, "and others in the pep club sort of followed along. We just decided to buy the cigars on the way up here. I guess you could say they were good luck charms in a way."

Bradley had a car horn, with his girl's initials painted on it, and the others, Glenford McDonald of Caldwell, Kas.; Melvin Cheatham, Winfield; Larry Wiserman, Wichita; Pete Moore of Wichita, and Dick Redfield of Highland, Kas., had cowbells or at least a fancy vest or sport coat. Half the school enrollment of 800 saw the game.

Time From the 1930s. As soon as the team ran out to warm up, the band broke into "The Dipsy Doodle"—a swing tune from the 1930s that became a school pep song in some fashion unknown to most of the students.

"It just seems fantastic that our team should be here," observed Anita Martin of Winfield, who sat behind the pep club boys, 800 the students betrayed no lack of confidence in their opening cheers.

For a while it looked like the smart money boys were all downcast. Loyola jumped into a quick lead, 12 to 3, before the game was five minutes old.

Then something happened. The Winfield boys started to wrap. Perhaps the din from the Southwestern section helped, but, as the students said, the aggressive "swarm" was no surprise. The Mountbalders just started to lag. The rebounders and their shots started going in. At half-time, it was 35 to 41 for Southwestern.

Close All the Way.

Any number of times in the last half Loyola tied things up and once forged a 3-point lead. Finally, with only two minutes to go, Southwestern slipped ahead, 78 to 76.

"On you guys, come on," yelled Anita Martin.

All the Southwestern rooters were on their feet, shouting "Go, go, go, go!"

A couple of rough scrambles and Southwestern had 81, and the clock was running out. Loyola hit a field goal to make it 80, but the clock clicked off three, two and then the game was over.

Anita Martin put her fingers in her mouth and stifled the "A" boy. She friend in the next seat, Leta Finzer, Norwich, Kas., screamed. The pep club boys clanged cowbells. And the band, as excited as ever, happily played "The Dipsy Doodle."

The exultant atmosphere began to leak about St. Benedict's courtyard. "Acoustic" Homburg beams were sent scuttling nowhere when the tournament opened last night. Who do you think was the sub-bang then?

THE PARADE OF CHAMPIONS

Southwestern College took its place among the thirty-two teams from all over the nation in this thrilling and spectacular parade. It took place on the first night of the tournament, just before our encounter with and defeat of Loyola.

SMITH-WILLSON LECTURESHIP

Roy L. Smith

An outstanding event of the fall semester was the Roy L. Smith - Willson Lectureship, which included a series of lectures over a period of five days. This was the first in line of the annual lectureship which is sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Willson of Floydada, Texas. This annual event is expected to bring nationally known people to Southwestern College and the city of Winfield each year.

Dr. Roy L. Smith, the speaker this year, is one of the most distinguished graduates of Southwestern, and is widely known as a journalist, editor, author, and world-traveler.
