FOREWORD

Although Southwestern college has, in her time, met with setbacks of various kinds, a spirit of growth and progress has remained constant. To illustrate, let us consider a few examples of the triumphant, as well as tragic, events which illuminate Southwestern's past.

For instance, there are many today who recall with pleasure the night in the "roaring twenties" that the magnificent Madame Schumann-Heink sang here. In that same era, Southwestern was instrumental in originating the Omnibus college, Beta Beta Beta, Pi Gamma Mu, and the inter-collegiate debate tournament. Also, in the field of individual endeavor, Dr. William M. Goldsmith, a Southwestern biology professor, made national news when he was called to testify in the famous "Scopes Monkey Trial" case in Tennessee.

However, after these—as well as many other brilliant interludes—the loss of two major buildings (North Hall, the original college building, condemned in 1949; Richardson Hall, destroyed by fire on April 16, 1950) precipitated a major crisis in the life of the college. Fortunately, college alumni and friends were not content to wallow in the depths of apathy. After the initial shock, they mobilized their forces and organized "The Million Dollar Building Program," and the results of their activities are only beginning to be realized in the form of new campus buildings rising phoenix-like from the ashes of the old.

Thus, the true "spirit of Southwestern," with its past fully deserving of respect and reverence, faces the future with courage and foresight.

ADMINISTRATION

DR. C. ORVILLE STROHL

To All Southwestern Students:

Through the years I have watched you climb the "77" --- stand before the "Mound" with the wind blowing in your face --- looking out over the great Walnut Valley with stars in your eyes and dreams in your hearts.

Slowly but surely the real meaning of the "Builder Spirit" comes into focus and you catch a vision and are inspired. Being a "Builder" is like climbing a hill. As you ascend the hill, you are able more and more to see and feel the great things that have been thought and said and done and believed and created.

From this vision of the past and from the comprehensive view of God's universe, you are able to plot your own footsteps for the future. The next decade holds as great a challenge as any ten years in man's existence. It is yours for the asking!

While you have been here, you have gathered sticks and lighted a fire; and now you who are seniors leave it burning to warm the hearts and guide the footsteps of others. There are few earthly things more splendid than the "Builder Spirit."

Hail Alma Mater!

DR. C. ORVILLE STROHL
President

To All Southwestern Students:

On March 23, 1885, Southwest Kansas Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, by resolution ordered the establishment of a college within its bounds. A less fortunate time for undertaking an adventure in higher education could hardly be found. The crippling conservatism of the Gospel of Wealth held the country in a cultural strait-jacket, a paralyzing business recession was less than a year old, labor unrest culminating in the bloody Haymarket riots added to the economic deterioration and the agrarian revolt was in its first feeble stages of protest. Yet the men saw educational possibilities on the verge of maturity. Conceived their venture in terms of establishing an institution for fitting new leaders for a new age.

America in mid-twentieth century cannot survive without leadership able to cope with the technological sophistication of the space age, the subtleties of modern history and the impact of a world in revolt against the past. Southwestern views with pride seventy-five years of proven service, accepts with vital concern its contemporary role, and expectantly seeks the challenge of the future. We of the college, believe we have in our "Builders" of 1960, the new man -- the new leader who will justify the aspirations of our "founding fathers."

Founders' day birthday dinner.

Founders' day, March 8, 1960, was indeed an historic occasion in the life of Southwestern College. Dr. Lewis Simes, professor of law at Hastings Law School in San Francisco and SC graduate, 1909, spoke on "The Scholar in Search of Truth." The morning assembly was further highlighted by the burning of the $300,000 note by George Templar, president of the Board of Trustees.

Miss Helen Graham wrote the diamond jubilee historical pageant, "The Heights," which was given that evening by a cast of forty-two.

Completing this memorable day was the Ralph Marterie concert and dance, held in Stewart field house, marking the first time a name band has appeared at SC.

Dr. Vinsonhaler, still brilliant at ninety-eight, has almost become a legend in his own time. Those who have not met him personally have heard stories about his flashing wit from those who have had that privilege.

A longtime and highly effective teacher of languages and literature, he was presented with an honorary degree of Doctor of Literature in 1955.

Miss Grace Russell Raymond earned her Ph.B. from Southwestern in 1897. Since then, she has studied art in Washington D.C., New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Rome and Paris. A woman of great vivacity and intellect--as well as talent--her work has been recognized nationally. She received an honorary degree of Doctor of Fine Arts in 1938.

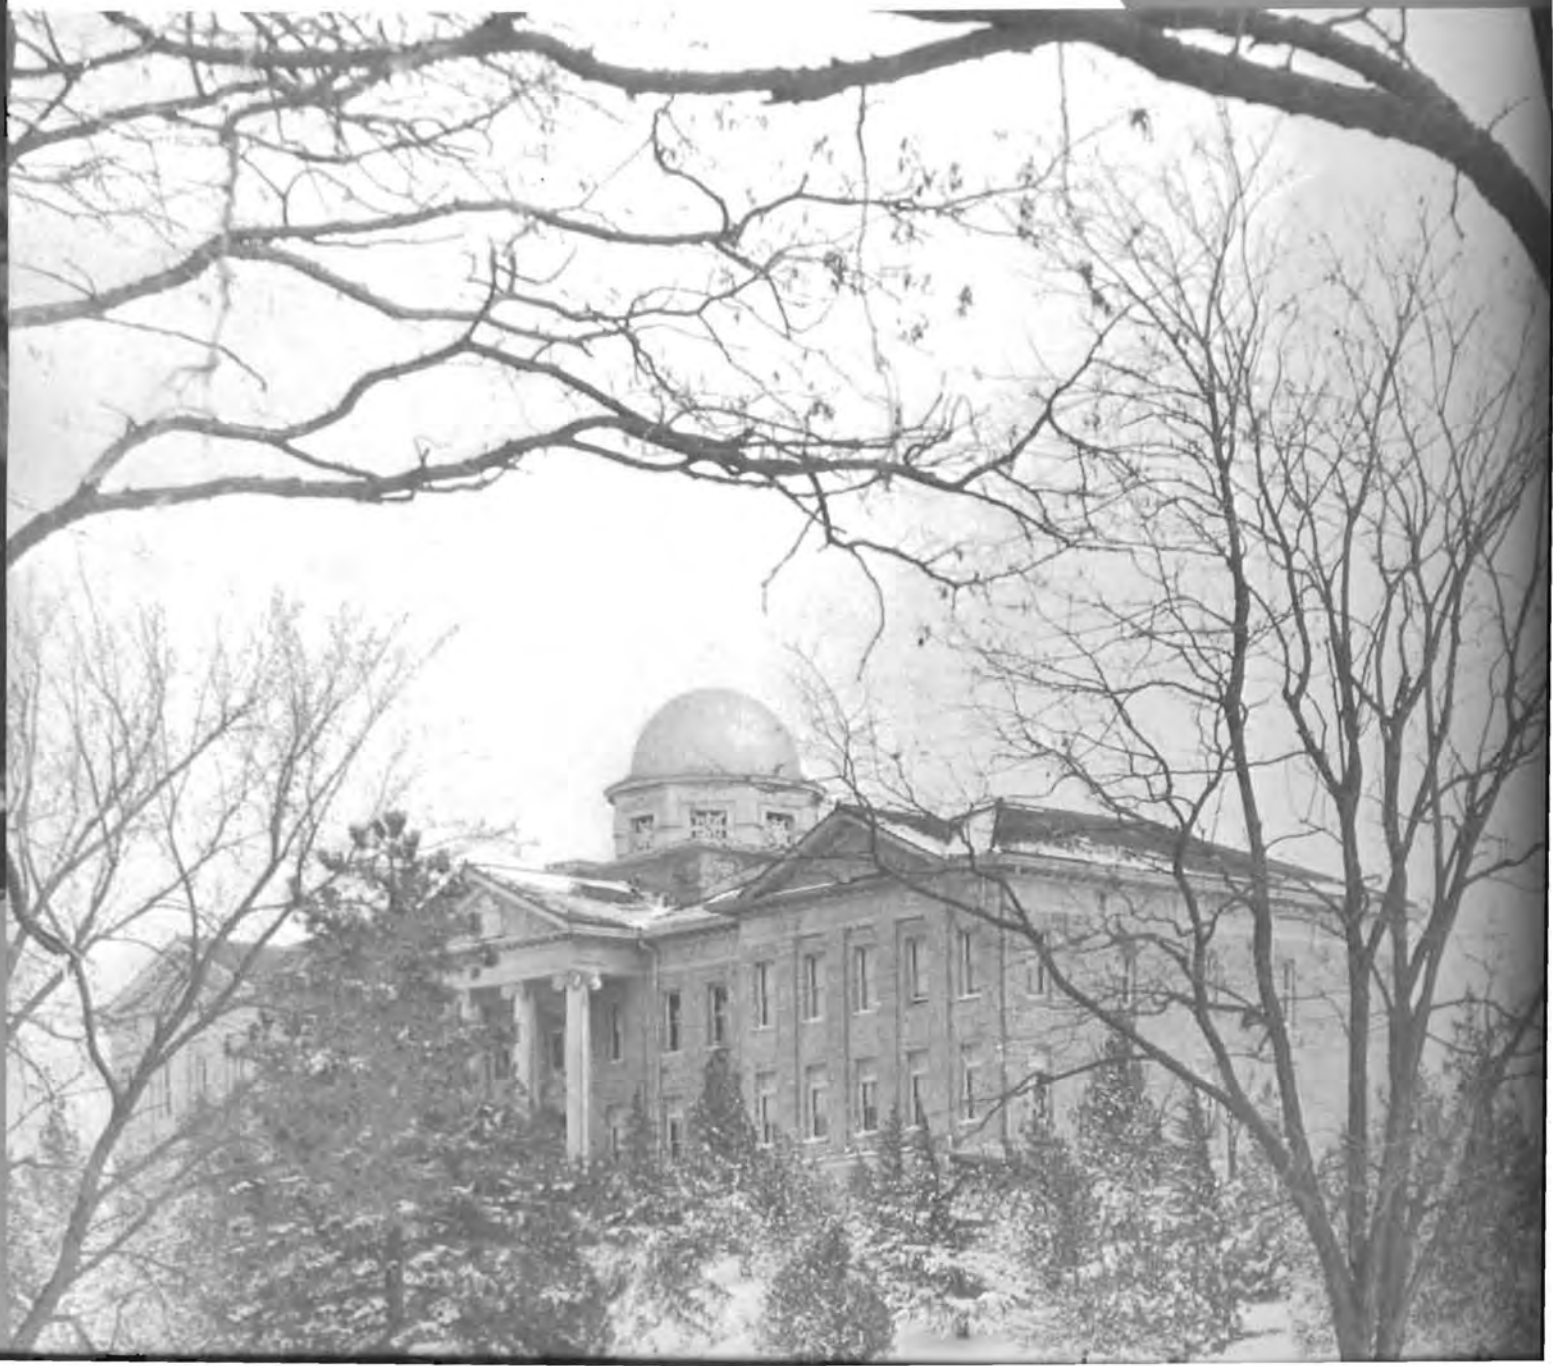

The lives of these professors emeritus, as well as others like them, have become a notable part of Southwestern's foundation and deserve to be recognized on this, our seventy-fifth anniversary year.

President Strohl hands over a check for $1,005,000 to Mr. Templar.

Part of that $1,005,000 was used to construct the new student union.

Broadhurst Hall, men's residence, was one of the first projects in S.C.'s current building program - gift of Mr. William Broadhurst, 1954.

New Hall, residence for men, was completed in 1958; presently is women's dorm.

Nearing completion is the William W. Monypeny Track, a quarter mile, 220 eight-lane runway.

Since 1954, S. C.'s campus has grown to include three new dorms, a new student center, married students' apartments, the president's home, and widely expanded classroom, athletic and administrative facilities. The drawing below shows our campus as it will be at the completion of our 75th year. Continued growth is the active hope of our college, as the sketches of proposed buildings in the upper right-hand corner of the drawing illustrate.

"Everybody's a Builder!"

Dr. Albert C. Outler, professor of theology, Perkins School of Theology, Dallas, was the 1959 lecturer for S.C.'s annual Smith-Willson lecture series. His lectures, presented in morning and evening sessions from Oct. 20 to Oct. 22, were concerned with "The Quality of Mercy."

Henry C. Wolfe, foreign correspondent and author, spoke Nov. 2, on the subject of world affairs, as this season's first event by S.C.'s annual Artist and Lecture series.

An unusual program of peasant song and dance was given Nov. 12 by the Platoff Don Cossack Chorus and Dancers of Czechoslovakia.

LECTURE SERIES—1959-1960

The New York Brass Quintet presented a program of chamber music, April 1.

WHO'S WHO, 1959-60

Among Students in American Universities and Colleges

Dr. Hage

"The Worried Man" was the theme of this year's traditional Religious Emphasis Week, observed Feb. 22 through 26. The morning chapel hour messages were presented by Dr. William J. Hage, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Fort Collins, Colorado. He was assisted in classroom discussions and evening devotions by Rev. Gene Lowry, of First Methodist Church, Wichita, and Dr. Lyman Johnson, of First Methodist Church, Arkansas City.

Judy Charlton and Dick Kinder, Co-chairmen of R.E. Week, organized and directed these inspirational activities.

Mr. Kysar welcomes Dr. Hage.

EPILOGUE

The purpose of this yearbook has been to record the complete human history of one year of college life and to build good will for the school by giving a true and comprehensive picture of what this institution is trying to accomplish.

With these objectives in mind, we, the Moundbuilder staff members, would like to express our thanks to all those who have helped make this book possible.

ALMA MATER

Far above the Walnut Valley,
On a lofty height,
Stands our noble Alma Mater,
Bathed in golden light.

CHORUS:

Lift the chorus, speed it onward,
Over hill and dale;
Hail to thee, beloved Southwestern,
Alma Mater, Hail!

Far above the stir and bustle,
Of the busy town,
Reared against the arch of heaven,
Looks she calmly down.

To the heights she calls us daily,
Alma Mater dear.
Heights of knowledge, hope and courage
Free from doubt and fear.
