Face to Face . . .

Each other. Challenges. Competition. Ourselves.

In the course of our year here at Southwestern College, we have all come face to face with many things; some good, some bad. Yet, all of our experiences have helped us grow, individually and as part of a larger group; as students, faculty and administrators of Southwestern. Ours was a great year, and here, a time to reflect and review the past accomplishments and triumphs. Still, our learning and growing does not stop here. We add new experiences and new triumphs every time we have the chance to come face to face . . .

Ours was a year of conflict and change, from Washington to Wallingford, President Reagan to President Sessions. Whether internationally, nationally or locally at Southwestern, change was all around us as people came face to face with different situations and discovered the answers for themselves. We saw many changes that will affect the future of Southwestern and our future as well.

We all have something to offer, something of value that makes us special. This past year has also been a year of challenges. It has challenged many of our perceptions of ourselves and the world around us. We have had to re-examine our own values and determine what we want out of life; and individually, as people who have changed a little or changed a lot over the past year, we will all have more courage now to meet that world head on . . . face to face.

Homecoming '83 brings out the smiles of SC

Highlighted by the appearance of Miss Kansas, Laura Watters, Southwestern's Homecoming was a success once again. The builders beat St. Mary's of the Plains, 13-9, to finish off the days events. Earlier in pre-game ceremonies Lisa Boling, a junior nominated by the Fellowship of Christian Athletes organization and Broadhurst Hall, was crowned Queen; Brad Long was her escort.

Those also nominated were Ann Channel, a senior escorted by Mike Howe, and nominated by Theta Phi Delta. Nancy Zimmerman, a junior, was accompanied by Joel West and nominated by Reid Hall. Alpha Kappa Omega nominated LuAnn King, a senior, who was escorted by Paul Bixel and her sister Tara King, a junior, was nominated by the Cheerleaders and was attended by Paul Steele.

Lisa Boling, Queen 1983

The Homecoming 1983 ceremonies were held before the game and Lisa Boling was crowned queen. Jane Williams, last years queen, came down from Michigan to present Lisa with a bouquet of flowers and turn over the title.

Lisa is a junior from Greenwood, Indiana, and was nominated by the Fellowship of Christian Athletes organization. Her escort was Brad Long, also a junior from Greenwood.

Other candidates were LuAnn King, a senior nominated by Alpha Kappa Omega and escorted by Paul Bixel; her sister, Tara King, a junior nominated by the Cheerleaders and attended by Paul Steele; Nancy Zimmerman, a junior, was accompanied by Joel West and nominated by Reid Hall; and Ann Channel, a senior nominated by Theta Phi Delta, and escorted by Mike Howe.

Congratulations to all those involved and best wishes for the future.

AKO presents the Ugly Men of 1983

Along with Homecoming came another group of Ugly Men. The Ugly Men of 1983 were a very crative group, making it very tough on the student body to pick the "ugliest." A total of nineteen men were nominated from various groups, this number was then narrowed down to six by the sponsoring sorority, Alpha Kappa Omega. Then it was up to the student body to vote for the winner by copper (positive votes) or silver (negative votes) coins. The lucky person receiving the honor of Ugly Man on campus was Calvin Andrews. Other nominees were Randy Smith, Mark Richardson, Mark Saville, Dave Durben and Grant Bumgarner.

coming Queen. It is a tradition carried over by Alpha Kappa Omega from Iota Pi Omega. It is a fun tradition at that!

"Guys and Dolls" a smash

"Guys and Dolls," a musical involving gangsters and their ladies in New York City during the 1950's, was the spring musical.

Paul Jackson, Joni Matthews, Don Allgood and Shanna Nispel were cast as the four lead characters backed by a cast of chorus singers, transients, tourists, mission band members and policemen.

The play centers around Sky Master-son's (Paul Jackson) search for the right girl and his involvement with a "mission dame," Sarah Brown (Joni Matthews). The play proceeds to follow Sky through the streets of New York City to Havana, back to a crap game in the sewers of New York and into Sarah's mission.

As it ends, all is well as Sky gets his girl, Sarah, and the cast brings down the curtain with the rousing finale, "Guys and Dolls."

The play was directed by Darnell Lautt. Darnell and Chris Lautt designed the set and Doug Delaney served as assistant to the Director. Stage managers for this production were Gayla Rapp and Anne Tuchscherer.

Halloween fun at SC

October brings many things to a college campus including mid-term grades, and even more fun than mid-terms, Halloween.

Halloween at SC, 1984-style, began at dinner with a costume judging parade, hosted by the master of ceremonies Todd Conklin, and sponsored by SAA. This parade of masked and made-up characters culminated in an awards presentation. First place, with a prize of fifteen dollars, went to Chuck Elder, alias "Dorothy" (Ah, Kansas indeed!). Second place, accompanied ten dollar prize, went to our resident me Street experts, Steve Wick (Bert John Nichols (Ernie). The third place went to two belles(?) from the South, Ferguson and Terri Saunders.

The Halloween dance, held later night, was sponsored by Wallingford and SAA. Chad Anglemeyer was the for the dance.

Spring Fever Hits SC

What Is Pledging?

What is pledging? It is fun, hard work and friendship. It is a group of people who want others to be in their group. It is people putting themselves through mild torture because they want to be closer to others.

Pledging was in full bloom this spring in all the fraternities and sororities, each adding members who had the desired qualities. Some groups are big, some small, but each group is just that—a group. Keeping the fraternity or sorority alive and steering it in its initial direction is a goal which at first is invisible but which becomes the focal point in the eyes of veterans eyes.

Too many cooks cannot spoil the broth of a well meaning group. Two heads are better than one, and ten heads are better than two, provided that the heads are screwed on straight and have a brotherly respect for each other.

Cultural Arts Thrives

Southwestern College's Cultural Arts was thriving, to say the least, in the 1983-84 school year. The campus was treated to a diverse and full schedule of events: pianist Janice Kay Hodges on March 26 and R.G. Langenwalter, who travelled the world with National Geographic displaying his photographs came in February. There was Baroque music, Southwind (a Bluegrass band), composer Gary White, The Vienna Boys Choir, and the Oxford Chamber Theatre.

Daniel Llords of Llords "International" presented his marionette show and Francois Camain, an award winning writer, read stories and held discussions. Black Awareness held a talent show sponsored by Black Student Union. In addition, five plays were done on campus: Guys and Dolls, Fahrenheit 451, Bedroom Farce, a series of one act plays written by Doug Delaney and Hamlet, which culminated the Renaissance Festival. What a year!

The spring theatrical production of "Bedroom Farce," was a British farce about personal relationships between couples and the humorous effects resulting from the problems in their interactions.

The eight characters in the play were Jill Delaney, Susannah; Blaine Kingsbury, Trevor; Lori Heine, Jan; Troy Kurimsky, Nick; Betsy Harden, Kate; Dereck Hood, Malcolm; Shanna Nispel, Delia; and Shaun Hollis as Ernest. The play was directed by Darnell Lautt, the set and costume design by Darnell and Chris Lautt and lighting design by Don Allgood and Dereck Hood. The stage manager for this production was Dan Shadoin and Doug Delaney served as Technical Director.

"Bedroom Farce" was seen by approximately 300 people in the three nights of performance. However, this was the first time in his six years at SC that Darnell Lautt has missed a performance.

SGA Involves Students

Student Government Association's concepts are based on the direct involvement of the student in the formulation of campus concerns and policies. Members of SGA are busy all year long holding positions in the many committees that are on campus. In these committees the student representatives are there to voice the viewpoint of the student body and has equal voting privileges as the faculty members. SGA maintains it's own budget and allocates money to worthy on campus activities.

SGA was also busy this year continuing with it's annual Wallingford steak fry, providing funds and a new committee for the Renaissance Festival, renting out refrigerators and remodeling the Builder Room. SGA also recognized a strong feeling of student concern this year and assisted in this area by sponsoring forums on items of concern.

SAA Successful

The Student Activities Association had a very successful year. Besides providing the weekly movies, SAA has also sponsored many other activities this year. We started out the year with a Back-to-School-Dance. At Halloween, SAA sponsored a costume contest and a dance. SAA has also helped the Intramural Council.

The purpose of SAA is to provide activities for the entire campus community. Many groups have been able to coordinate dances and other activities with the help of SAA funds.

The SAA officers this year are Pam Ferguson, president; Blaine Kingsbury, Vice President, and Cindy Kutz, Secretary-Treasurer. Other members are LuAnn King, Troy Kurimsky, Leann Starkey, Hal Small, Aaron Watters, Robin Rogers, Steve Wick, Dr. Caldwell, Fran Broadhurst and Dr. Wimmer.

Alpha Omega Chapter of Theta Phi Delta was formed to promote fellowship and brotherhood among its members. Thetas annually sponsor the Jan Term Basketball Tourney and Study Jock Day. They also have a yearly Ad sale for Homecoming and promote campus spirit in many ways. The Mash Bash Dance was quite a success.

Activities included road trips to Wichita and Kansas City, a summer campout with Alumni and a chili feed at sponsor, Max Thompson's. This was the 17th anniversary for Theta Phi Delta on Southwestern College campus.

Pi Delta Sigma

Since the 1973-74 school year, Pi Delta Sigma has continued to be the only co-ed social fraternity on the Southwestern campus. But the uniqueness of the Delts does not stop there. While the Delts were relatively small in number, they were far from small in the areas of friendship and brotherhood. While brotherhood and loyalty are an integral part of the bond between members, a more important concept of the Delts is that they are all friends. The bond between members starts at or before pledge session and is further strengthened throughout the pledge process. During the pledge session, prospective members come to know the members and their fellow Delts. The Delts were once again active this year by continuing their annual tradition of sponsoring the Sinister Sweetheart Dance to help relieve the February cold. The members of the Delts were also active in SAA, SGA, drama and yearbook staff just to name a few. So, with a hearty "Oooooe SON!!!" the Delts are looking forward to another great year on the Southwestern campus.

ΣΙΣ Has Active Year

Sigma Iota Sigma is a group of girls who enjoy being together and enjoy doing things for other people. Throughout the year, SIS members do many things to help promote sisterhood among its members and help to provide activities for SC. This year along with AKO, SIS helped sponsor the first annual Formal Christmas Dance at the beginning of December. The Christmas Formal was the first of its kind and it was held off campus at the Elk's Club. Music was provided by John Spears of FKDI-FM. Brad Booton Studios provided the photography.

We moved Pledge Activities to begin at the end of March. This provided the pledges with the opportunity to enjoy being part of a sorority second semester. One of our rush parties was an outdoor barbeque with our brother fraternity, the Thetas. SIS provided the food and the Thetas cooked it. This was the sixth year of SIS and we are still going strong. We accepted 17 new members, the largest pledge class ever. Our SIS-Wallingford Spring Round-Up capped the year off perfectly. It was held at the Winfield Fair Grounds and was a success.

A K Ω Moves Into Third Year

Moving into their third year, Alpha Kappa Omega, (AKO), continued to strive to be the most active social and service organization. In keeping with tradition, AKO sponsored the Ugly Man contest as part of the Homecoming activities. But not busy enough, AKO built a float for the Homecoming parade. All the work paid off when AKO won second place in the float contest. The AKO women were also proud to see their nominee and president, LuAnn King, riding in the parade as a queen candidate.

AKO then proceeded to spook the faculty and administration with candy ghosts for Halloween.

Trying something new, AKO and SIS joined efforts this year in the first annual semi-formal Christmas Dance held at the Elks Club. It proved to be a fun event for all and a nice change of pace.

The Kappa Kaleidoscope Beach Party Dance, an event looked forward to by the bored students in Jan Term was again in a smashing success.

As second semester started, AKO did not slow its pace any. The second annual Valentine cake sale went well again with many students and faculty treating their "sweetie" to a sweet.

AKO reached out to the campus community to hold a tea for the Southwestern Dames. This event always gives the AKO members a chance to meet and visit with the wives of many of our faculty and administrators.

Along with these many events, the women of AKO also found time for secret pals, picnics and dinners, holiday parties and other social events. The members formed close bonds through the many activities. Wherever one AKO member is, another is usually very nearby. AKO members are not only friends but they form a sisterhood, always there to help and encourage one another and to share a laugh.

BSU Has Active Year

We, the members of the Black Student Union of Southwestern College, in order to form an equal system of representation (representative and responsible to our black culture and ourselves) as students in this college community, do join together to establish a brotherhood and sisterhood in coordination with other student organizations, the faculty, and the Board of Trustees.

The 1983-84 officers of the Black Student Union set its goals to perform exclusively the Preamble and the purpose statements of the organization: in an effort to provide activities for the campus, the Black Student Union presented the following:

In the opening of the school year the BSU started with a sale of hands for the SC football fans. Before too long, the officers of the organization saw fit that the organization have shirts to expose the group. In the midst of it all the BSU sponsored a "Punk Rock" dance which included a nice portion of the campus. After the BSU aided in sponsoring the presence of Ed Smith, a former Chicago Bears professional football player, the group found it necessary to have a bake sale. The bake sale project provided goodies for people and a money-making project for the Black Student Union.

The Black Student Union of Southwestern kicked off the second portion of its campaign during the January term. The BSU presented "A Tribute to Martin Luther King, Jr." This program involved participants of the group, FCA, and CCOM, and the Speaker of the Night from the community, Ray Dempsey. The previous honoring of Dr. King, Jr., was a warm up for the Black Awareness Week planned for February. During the week the group accepted a mission "... to furthering an appreciation of Black Culture ..." The challenge was met with the following activities: The theme of the week was presented by a former mayor of Arkansas City: the Dream Lives on. During the week the Black Student Union was proud to have the marvelous voice of Ernest Alexander. Mr. Alexander was just one of the highlights of the Black Awareness week and including lots of interested participants such as students, faculty and staff, and the community. Towards the latter part of the week the Black Student Union did not let up. A Wichita State University Professor of Minority Studies and Speech Communications, John Gaston, astounded the students of SC. Although Saturday was the last day of Black Awareness Week, the last day did not end morbidly. The event on the last day—The Martin Luther King III banquet—was a fabulous program assembled by the Black Government Council at Oklahoma State University. Again representatives of the community, various student groups, and faculty and staff involved themselves.

The Black Student Union has emphasized a fulfillment of its constitution this year. In an effort to fulfill the constitution The Black Student Union has strived to appreciate Black culture, and to open itself to all people.

Gamma Omicron's King Spice Is A Winner

Gamma Omicron is a Home Economics related club and is open to all students interested in Home Economics. This year the girls voted on programs for each month. This included programs on candy making, "Holiday Fashions" put on by local merchants, creative stitchery and a holiday tour of homes.

A few of the projects Gamma was involved with this year included the annual King Spice Dance; a seminar on wife abuse; "Clean Out Your Closet" day in which unused clothes were donated to the Women's Crisis Center in Wichita. Gamma also sponsored an Alumni Homecoming reception for former SC Home Economics graduates. Some of the women attending graduated from SC in the 1920s. Renovating the Life Resource Home Economics department is a long term goal for Gamma Omicron.

A $\Sigma$ X, New sorority.

Alpha Sigma Chi (Agage Sisters) is a new women's society started on the Southwest College campus to provide a close fellowship for Christian women which will promote growth through friendship, service and the worship of God. The society has chosen the Bible verse I John:3b, "Our fellowship is with the Father and with his Son, Jesus Christ" as their guide.

The society meets twice a month, with the first meeting being a business meeting while a speaker or activity is provided for the second meeting. The society is working currently doing different things within the community. They are working with different modes making money for their group and for the lives of others.

Pledge season takes place during the fall semester of every year. Membership is open to any full time student attending a college in the Winfield Cooperation of Colleges. A scrapbook page is kept for every member and their activities.

Peer Group Offers Aid

The Peer Ministry program was initiated by Joni Matthews as a campus project. Its purpose is to seek out persons on campus who are experiencing difficulty and visit with them to help them work through their dilemma. The basic goal of the group is to show others that someone cares and is willing to listen. It also serves as a training program for the person who serves as a Peer Minister. Those in the program this year are Joni Matthews, Gayla Rapp, Jolene English, Micki McCorkle, Calvin Andrews and Dr. John Paulin, Advisor.

Π Δ Κ Practices Rudeness

Alpha chapter of Pi Delta Kappa, National Dishonor Society, had its most successful year in its history at SC. The purpose of the organization was fulfilled with all members participating in the few but outstanding events. The fall Valentine party provided disgust and degradation, the Pearl Harbor party in December was a bomb and the Spring Christmas party was a disreputable bash.

The Spring picnic, held at Riverine Farm, home and shrine of Humongus Gall, gave our new pledges their first taste of the Pi in Pi Delta Kappa.

Kappa Dela Pi is a small closeknit sorority dedicated to having fun. Organized in the spring of 1982, Kappa Delta Pi was formed so the members could all have matching sorority shirts. Money making projects provided funds for many social functions. This will be the last year for the sorority due to the fact all members are seniors and we've kept our tradition of never pledging.

Jan Term Difference

Jan Term in 1984 was action films, aerospace, antiques, Arizona deserts, and Hawaii. Students played business or math games, dueled with swords on stage, ate elegant meals they fixed themselves, debated, made music or jewelry. Performances of Leonard Bernstein's opera, TROUBLE IN TAHITI, and of blue-grass music came at the end of Jan Term, as did exhibits of jewelry and dulcimers.

For seniors, Jan Term 1984 was their fourth non-traditional learning experience. Many seniors had at least one travel course. Personal income taxes and Arizona desert biology attracted the most seniors this time.

Tri Beta's Clean Up

Southwestern's Delta Chapter of Tri-Beta is a national biological society. It is made up of more than fifty biology majors whose goals are to continually learn more about and promote the natural sciences. With Mossman Hall as a second home, Tri-Beta members work closely together on projects, both group and individual, and in fellowship. The organization began the year with a picnic at the lake to welcome back old and new members.

This year, Tri-Beta's main project has been to clean out and replant the planters around the Student Union, which turned out to be an all-year job.

Officers for the 1983-84 term were Jeff Rabe, Mark Saville, Lynnette Smith, and Carol Craig. Sponsors were Dr. Bob Wimmer, Mr. Max Thompson and Dr. Charlie Hunter.

Campus Players Provide Unity

The Campus Players is a drama organization which has as its goals the objective of providing better dramatic performances and more unity among the cast. The members of Campus Players are devoted not only to the art of dramatic performance but also to the technical aspects of production. Campus Players come not only from the drama department, but also from various departments of the school including Music, Art, English, and the Sciences. The president of Campus Players, DeAnne Hastings, was responsible for the general organization and activities. She was assisted in this by an executive board consisting of Don Allgood and Betsy Harden. The organization has undergone some major changes recently. The decision to discontinue the production of the annual Christmas play, EAGERHART, is one example. The members of Campus Players hope the organization will soon become more active and are considering different ways in which they can help promote the art of quality drama at Southwestern.

Teachers of the Future

SNEA is the student organization of the National Education Association. It is a professional organization for those students working toward teacher certification. Through SNEA, students have the opportunity to learn about many aspects of the teaching profession. Our local chapter has guest speakers, attends conferences, takes part in the National Education Week and participating in other school sponsored events. This year for National Education Week, we gave cupcakes to faculty and administration just to say "thanks". We also did a couple of bulletin boards and display cases. We took part in the Renaissance Festival by making a time line for that period in history.

The members of SNEA also have a chance to learn what is happening across the country in their specific teaching field through magazines and newsletters from the National Education Association. SNEA gives support, information and encouragement to future students.

For the 1983-84 school year the officers were President, Brad Smith; Vice President, Grant Bumgraner; Secretary-Treasurer, Susan Mueller, and Sponsor Dick Valyer. Members: Fred Howie, Lucinda Torres, John Fishback, Kathy Stout, Jeff Stout, Pam Otis, Calvin Andrews, Kyla Goering and Kermit Colvin.

Phi Beta Lambda Means Business

The field of business is growing and PBL at Southwestern is striving to meet this growth. This year our club enjoyed growth and success as our membership rose to 46 members. We participated in many school-related and money-making projects including program sales at athletic events, building a float for the Homecoming Parade and actively participating in the Renaissance Festival. Major project for the year was SC's first ever "Spookhouse." It was a great success and tremendous money maker.

Our Opportunities to share with some of the local businessmen and discuss topics related to business included informative speeches from Dave Warren, City Manager; Mark Krusor, Attorney; and Leroy Wheeler, Businessman.

Money raised through our various projects helps sponsor our members at the annual PBL State Conference. The Conference allows PBL members to compete in written or oral business events, participate in workshops and have fun. 24 members participated this year with the following people taking home awards: Earl Brownlee, Margy Dillon, Amy Dyer, Kevin Ganoung, Kent Morey, Robin Mousley, Art Neely, Marianna Plumber, Mary Swayne and Steve Zendejas. Named to Who's Who in Kansas PBL were Jody Fishback, Karla Hall, Robin Mousley and Larry Williams. Marianna Plumber and Art Neely will represent Kansas at the National PBL Conference in Atlanta in July.

Officers for the year: Art Neely, President; Mike Dunbar, Vice-President; Jody Fishback, Treasurer; Jennifer Jantz, Secretary; Tom Fell, Director of Finance and Robin Mousley, Director of Recruitment.

Pi Gamma Mu Brings the World to Winfield

After a fall planning session, the chapter sponsored an evening for the initiation of new members and for orientation on the Middle East situation with focus on Lebanon. Provost Willoughby provided the orientation for a packed classroom in which "town met gown." Murrel Snyder inducted the new members.

At another program, DeAnn Dixon told the chapter about her experiences as a student in the Phillipines, the homeland of her mother.

In February, Slawomir Szulc, an exchange graduate student from Poland spoke on campus about life in Poland—political, religious, economic, international and personal.

These internationally significant programs were true both to the name International Honor Society for Social Science and the vision of the founder, SC's own Dean Leroy Allen.

WFA Serves International Student

World Friendship Association was organized to help serve the needs of International Students, to promote mutual understanding between foreign and American students and to provide opportunities for social and cultural activities.

Some of the highlights of our year were to go to the Dexter Candy Factory. Fran Broadhurst invited us to visit her church and we were able to visit several ranches owned by members of her congregation.

Other events included several potluck dinners fixed by our international members, a Halloween Party at the Session house and the Christmas Dinner.

Members included: Dee Ann Dixon, President; Megumi Hatakeyama, Vice-President; Dopse Ikiwoho, Secretary-Treasurer, Wallace Gray, Faculty Advisor; Fran Broadhurst, Rick Johnson, Casey Kannappiah, Matthew Karuppiah, Chuck Elder, Chris Basore, Todd Conklin, Soh Toda, Tony Dixon, Randy Stout, Jody Kittleson, Micki McCorkle, V.J. ## Debate Has Great Year

The 1983-84 academic year was one of transition, growth, and accomplishment for the SC Debate team. Coach Gary Horn served as Vice President of Pi Kappa Delta, the national debate fraternity, and led a very young squad in an active year.

First semester team, Scott Nonken and Gayla Rapp plus Steve Wick and Linda Haug travelled to Central State in Oklahoma, Colorado College, and East Central of Missouri taking trophies at every tournament.

During Jan-Term, first year debaters Lynn Griffith and Sherrie Johannes joined Wick and Haug for a three tournament series starting in El Paso, Texas and concluding at the Univ. of Southern Colorado. Lynn and Sherrie progressed with phenomenal speed and took fourth at the third tournament of their careers. With help from the campus and community, Southwestern hosted college teams from six states at the sixtieth annual J.H. Johnson Memorial Tournament.

Terri McCorkle teamed with Steve Wick and also with Lynn and Sherrie formed the second semester travelling squad. This squad attended several tournaments and continued to improve. In March at Province Lynn, Terri and Steve were awarded 2nd, 3rd, and 4th speaker respectively and both teams had a 3-3 record at nationals.

Overall, SC Debate moved to an all-time rating of 43rd after three years in the decade-old, national Cross-Examination Debate Association which consists of nearly 300 colleges and universities.

1984: Year of Changes

This year was a year of many changes as the Moundbuilder staff (and advisors) came face to face with many difficult situations. To begin with, we had the usual understaffing and hard work ahead of us. Then, to complicate things, our advisor, editor and photographers all left after Jan Term. They were replaced by Kathy Hickman as advisor, Kevin Layton as editor, and the entire staff pitched in to supply the necessary photography. Our thanks to Wes Jones, Grant Bumgarner, Fred Howie, Sheila Willis and ex-photographers Todd Conklin and Chris Basore for their help.

We moved into second semester with lots of plans and little accomplished, but we managed to meet our deadlines and surpassed even our own expectations. The "consistent" staff for this book was Kathy Hickman, Kevin Layton, Paul Nyberg (Assistant Editor) Jeff Wampler and Scott Nonken. First semester we were assisted by Cindy Mavis, Sandy Humphries and John Anderson. All assistance is greatly appreciated whether mentioned or not. Thanks everybody for an "awesome" book and a great year!

Collegian is Catalyst

Reporting the news on campus again this year, the Collegian staff tried to be unbiased and cover all newsworthy topics. Debbie Minick served as editor and her undying enthusiasm kept the staff together. Cecil Findley, the Advisor, used level-headed constructive criticism while not over-controlling the paper's format. Don Allgood gave valuable experience and top notch reporting to the Collegian as assistant editor.

Others on the staff were Eric Strand, writer and photographer; Shiela Willis, photographer; Carol Patrick, artis and columnist; Daryl Jones, reporter; Paul Nyberg, reporter; Micki McCorkle, reporter; and Kevin Layton, layout. Others on the staff included Hal Small, DeAnne Hastings, Dave Fink, DeAnn Dixon, and Terri McCorkle.

Pop, Soul, Rock, Punk—KSWC

KSWC, the campus radio station, broadcast a diverse selection of music in 1983-84, ranging from soul to rock 'n roll. Top 40, Christian, and soft rock signals covered the SC campus throughout the year, also, usually at fitting hours of the day.

General manager Bill DeArmond assembled an excellent army of students for the staff. Holding the higher ranks were: Linda Haug, Publicity and Promotion Director; Debbie Minick, News Director; Cindy Narvaez, Sport Director; Lisa Boling, Production Assistant; Curtis Smith, Manager; Steve Brockway, Station Engineer.

Other staff: Jennifer Henderson, Stef

Mu Phi Leads

Mu Phi Epsilon, a fraternity dedicated to supporting the musical events on campus, established itself as a leader. After most musical events, Mu Phi would serve a reception allowing everyone a chance to speak to the performer. Members of this chapter received many types of recognition this year.

MENC Serves

MENC (Music Educators National Conference) had a busy year. In the fall A special dinner was held for music students, faculty and special guests. Marie Burdette gave a presentation. In Jan Term, the group sponsored a handbell choir with 100 ringers attending the workshop. One member was sent to the National Convention in Chicago.

Choirs Sing With Renewed Enthusiasm

The A Capella Choir, Southwestern Singers and College Chorus are under the new leadership of James Schuppener. The A Capella Choir and Singers began the year by giving a fall concert. After the Christmas concert, both groups started elaborate work towards their tour literature. Tour took them throughout North-Central Kansas, ultimately ending with a home concert. They finished the year with a final concert in Richardson Auditorium after Baccalaureate Service. The SC Singers represented SC by performing at different functions both on campus and abroad throughout surrounding communities. College chorus helped during Chapel services by performing periodically during the year, singing a variety of music.

Band Strives For Togetherness

The Southwestern College Wind Ensemble, though small, played a wide variety of music. Highlighting this large variety was a piece by Gary White that was played for the composer during a Cultural Arts program.

The Pep Band played at most home football and basketball and basketball games, providing half-time entertainment. This band was made open to all Southwestern students who wanted to play and have a good time.

The highlight this year was the annual tour, which was taken to southwestern Kansas. The year was concluded with a home concert after tour, and by performing at the graduation exercises.

Builder Football, Champs Again!

For the second consecutive year, Southwestern remained Kansas Collegiate Athletic Conference Champions, clinching the spot with a 17-17 tie with Sterling College one game before the end of the regular season. In his first year as head coach for the Moundbuilders, Charlie Cowdrey posted an 8-0-1 KCAC record and an 8-1-1 season record and finished the regular season with a ninth-position national ranking, narrowly missing the national championship play-offs.

Southwestern was selected to play in the second Sunflower Bowl, the NAIA's only bowl game. Missouri Valley College of Marshall, MO dropped Southwestern's overall record to 8-2-1 with a 51-21 victory.

Running back Jackie Jackson, a junior from Bixby, OK was selected to first team All-American status and teammate Monty Lewis, a junior from Greeley, Colorado was named to the offensive line honorable mention squad as a tackle.

Southwestern fielded a full women's team for the first year ever. They were very successful, winning the KCAC title over Bethany by 2 points. Senior Carol Camp was named to the KCAC All-Conference team and the 6th slot on the NAIA All-District 10 team. Sophomore Denise Robbins was 5th on the KCAC All-Conference team and placed 9th on the NAIA All-District 10 team.

Cross Country Wins Fourth KCAC Title

The 1983 Southwestern Cross Country team had another fine season under the guidance of Coach Jim Helmer. With only three seniors, this could easily have been looked on as a rebuilding year. However, Helmer molded his young runners into competitive collegiate runners to make the team one of the best NAIA teams in the area. The Builders won their fourth straight KCAC title, beating second place Bethany by 18 points. SC placed second in the District 10 meet, losing to Pittsburgh State by four points.

Stevell DeLano finished his fine cross country career at SC with his 2nd consecutive NAIA National Championship. He set a new meet and course record of 24:44 for 8000M to win by nineteen seconds. During the season, he won eight of ten races including his 3rd straight KCAC title and 2nd straight District 10 title.

The top five runners for SC for the season were DeLano, Stuart Walling, Dennis Smithisler, Paul Bixel and Mike Howe. Walling and Smithisler provided solid second and third positions on the team. Bixel turned in his best ever CC season with strong performances throughout. Howe had a fine season although an ankle injury hampered him during the final meets. DeLano, Walling, Smithisler, and Bixel all raced at the NAIA National meet after qualifying at the District 10 meet.

Moundbuilder Volleyball

When the Lady Moundbuilder volleyball team took the floor, it was with one of the youngest teams in KCAC history. Sole senior Ann Channel was the primary pillar around which head coach Becky Schroll created her team. Schroll opted to use a variety of players attacking from different directions to achieve a more effective total offense.

While gaining valuable experience, the team's 3-15 KCAC record and overall 12-24 record did not reflect the heart and enthusiasm that made up the team.

SC Men's Basketball Wins in a Handicapped Season

For the second time in three seasons, the Southwestern College Men's Basketball Team won a berth in the NAIA Tournament. A tough non-conference schedule, according to Moundbuilder Coach Mike Sandifar, was the main reason for his team's push at the end of the season.

Throughout the 1983-84 season, seniors Mike Funderburk, Kevin Edwards, and Randy Dick provided leadership, scoring, and rebounding, while juniors Paul Steele, Ron Barnett, Brad Long and Ron Hunt added scoring and quickness to the Southwestern lineup.

Boasting perhaps the most balanced scoring attack in Kansas, the Moundbuilders put four players in double figures throughout the season. Steele (16.1), Barnett (10.6), Long (10.5) and Funderburk (10.2) all averaged in double-digits.

En route to the 16-9 campaign of 1983-84, the SC crew broke 11 school records, including three individual marks and eight team standards.

Young Team Gains Experience

The Southwestern College Women's Basketball Team started the 1983-84 hardwood season "short" on height and experience.

First year mentor Gerald Raines pushed his Mound-builders to a fast 3-1 start in the rugged Kansas Collegiate Athletic Conference title chase, holding down second place at the Christmas break, the best league start for SC in school history!

Injuries eventually sidelined six of the 12 member team, including three starters.

Freshman Lisa Collins led the team in scoring, tossing home 11.8 points a game, including a school record 32 counters against Tabor College.

Denise Fruechting added 11.1 tallies a game followed by Cindy Smith 8.6, Ella Dickens 8.5, Lynda Brenner 7.6, and Tracy Gillespie 6.7. Senior Stacy Gee chipped in with another 7.2 markers to the SC score sheet.

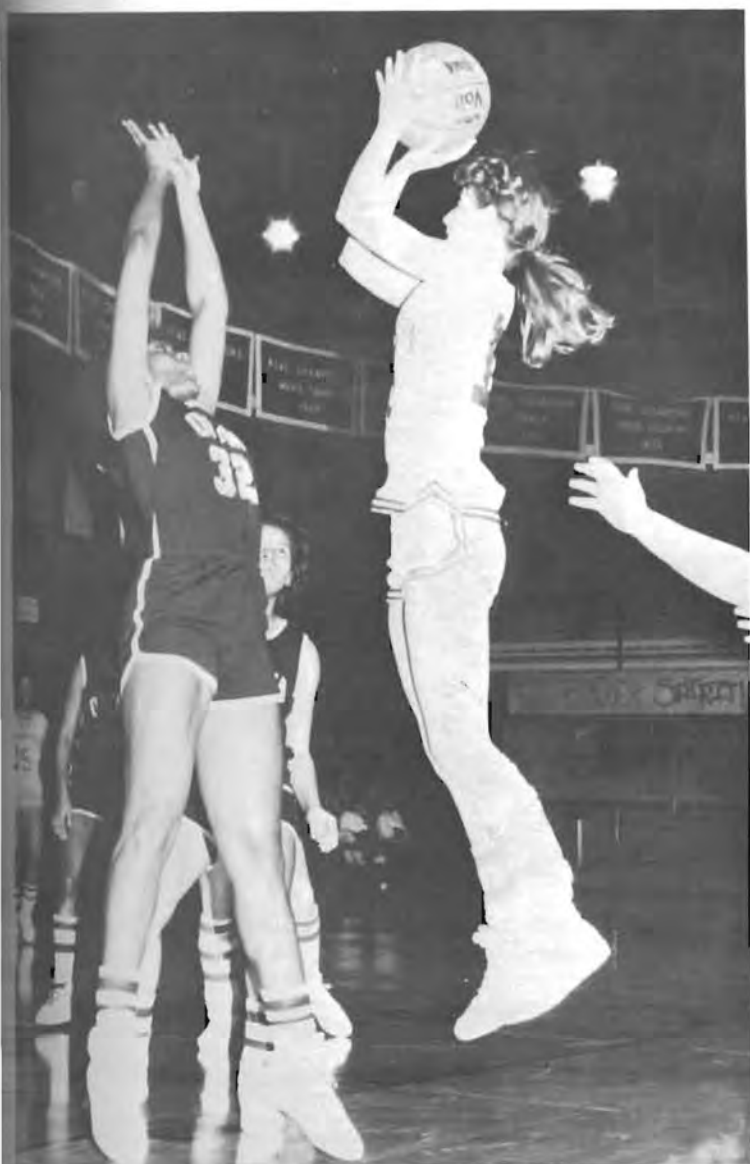

Fruechting, Smith and Collins were all selected to the All-KCAC squad, all receiving honorable mention status.

Golf Team Scores Low

SC's Golf Team had a very successful year, producing the KCAC champion and placing second behind Bethany with a score of 1010 to Bethany's 1001 in the conference. The thirteen member Golf Team, coached by Bill Stephens, did very well and SC can be proud of their achievements.

Cheerleaders Bring Spirit

The 1983-1984 Cheerleaders made up for their lack of experience with enthusiasm and dedication. To urge the football team on, spirit was led by Robin Mousley, LuAnn King, Laura Dee Merrel, and Tara King.

Basketball cheering was led by Debbie Minick, squad leader, Tom Fell, Connie Beavers, Terri Hudson, David Henke and Julie Nilles.

Trainers Keep Athletes In Good Shape

The Builder Training Staff were kept very busy covering eleven men's and women's inter-collegiate sports or roughly 270 athletes, as well as being accessible to the intramural program.

Often thought to have a "thankless job," Trainers receive their reward in the form of self satisfaction when an injured athlete can once again return to the field of competition. This, in turn, develops a unique feeling of trust and reliability towards the trainer.

Returning for his fourth year, 1982 graduate, Head Trainer Mike Kirkland brings with him valuable experience and versatility to go with those skills already possessed by Rhonda Davis and newcomer Carmella Williams.

Men Netters Show Conference No Love

Coach George Gangwere's first year as Men's Tennis coach proved to be one in which records were set. The team got off to a good start in the fall by beating Cowley County in a practice match and then in regular play. This was the first time in seventeen years that SC beat strong competitor Cowley County. This is also perhaps the first time Men's Tennis has qualified to go to the District Ten competition. Their berth in District Ten was clinched by beating Washburn 9-0. The District Ten competition is for the championship for the State of Kansas for NAIA and winners will qualify for national competition. Mark Saville and Randy Smith won the KCAC championship in doubles.

Builders Dominate KCAC Track

"They are awesome!" This quote from the Bethany track coach sums up the 1983-84 season for Helmer's outstanding track team. SC won the KCAC championship with 304 points, winning 16 of the 20 events. They then went on to win the District 10 championship with 210 points. This is the first time SC has won a District 10 championship in any sport. While winning this prestigious title, 11 individuals qualified for Nationals. In addition, 14 SC team members were named to be All KCAC and 11 were named to be All District 10. Steve DeLano was named the men's Most Outstanding Athlete in KCAC track and Jim Keesling was voted men's District Coach of the Year. Without a doubt, "they are awesome."

Intramural Program Offers Competition

The intramural program provides competitive sports for those who do not compete in the intercollegiate athletic program. Those sports offered through the program first semester and Jan Term were co-ed volleyball, chess tournaments and co-ed basketball. Second semester offered track and co-ed softball to prospective athletes. Gerald Raines was the director of the Intramural program and the Intramural Council consisted of Jeff Anderson, Deb Bennett, Randy Habluetzel, Brad Smith and Gerald Young.

To whom it may concern,

This is my section of the yearbook and I would like to use it as an open letter to the students, faculty, administrators and staff of SC.

Well folks, this is it. We have done it. We have come "face to face" with the problems, realities and situations of this year and we are all better because of it; better prepared and better equipped to deal with life, and better people. As a staff, we have made our deadlines for the first time in years. (No little accomplishment.) As a college community, we have evolved through a number of changes—administratively, educationally and socially—and now we move on.

I would like to thank everyone who helped put this book together. You all did a fantastic job. We had our usual problems, but we outdid ourselves rising to every challenge and succeeding far beyond our expectations. This is a great book and you are all a part of it.

Thanks again,

Kevin
