As these stone writings prove, debate has enjoyed much success at Southwestern College. This particular stone tells of the team's second place finish at the National Debate Tournament in 1926; in 1930 the team received first place at the national tournament. The team captured yet another victory in 1944 at the State Peace Tournament.

Southwestern's Debate squad is currently ranked among the top ten teams in the nation.

Below right: Brandon Sommer emcees the Midnight Breakfast sponsored by SAA.

SAA worked very hard this year to provide lots of liveliness on campus. They hosted the Homecoming Dance and Spring Formal. In addition, they provided half-time contests at home basketball games. One especially memorable event was the "What Would You Do for $100" contest where Joe Reed ate dog food and a goldfish for desert to win the prize. SAA also held a Superbowl party. Each semester during finals week, SAA sponsored a Midnight Breakfast. In the fall, a Karaoke contest accompanied the breakfast; a Talent Show was put on at the spring semester breakfast.

There were also several events that the community co-sponsored. For example, Bowling Night was an exciting time for all students. Free movies at the downtown theater was a continued tradition with more movies provided this year than last. Another popular event in the spring was the presentation by KIER, a comedian/impersonator.

SAA not only sponsored all these events but also made money available for other organizations desiring to promote an all-campus event.

This year's Student Government Association was led under the direction of President Doug Wolff and his cabinet: Kyle Rhynerson (Vice President), Christopher Smith (Attorney General), Brandon Rhodes (Treasurer), and Michelle Yingling (Secretary) who was later replaced by Christian Lutz. Most of the SGA actions were handled by the 31-member Senate and some of the issues discussed were campus security, the possibility of creating an SGA Information Center, and the issue of student trustees being replaced by student liaisons. The Senate was also responsible for the nomination of Masterbuilders and the selection of this year's Staff Citation recipient (Kathy Wilgers) and Faculty Citation recipient (Cecil Findley) who will serve as next year's Homecoming Parade Grand Marshals.

The members of the Student Government Association Senate will celebrate a successful year at the traditional Senatorial Barbeque to be hosted by Brandon Haynes, 1993-1994 SGA President, and Ben Richardson, 1993-1994 SGA Vice President at President Martin's home.

The Crystal Ballroom of the Wichita Ramada was the setting for the awards banquet for the Kansas Associated Collegiate Press. Christopher Smith, Seth Bate, Robin Hathaway and Amy McWhirt show off some of the certificates of honor for the 1992-93 Collegian. Meeting with other collegiate newspaper staffs was a learning experience for the students.

It has been a banner year for the Southwestern College Collegian. Under the advisement of Kathy Wilgers, the Collegian, garnered ten awards at the Kansas Associated Collegiate Press (KACP) awards ceremony. All three of the Collegian editors, Amy McWhirt, Christopher Smith, and Seth Bate were delighted that the Collegian was now an award winning newspaper.

With a staff of sixteen, the Collegian was able to devote more time to real journalistic pursuits. The staff investigated many stories, rumors and fabrications to try to shed light on some of the concerns that Southwestern students have. Collegian editor Christopher Smith said, "We try to do as much investigative reporting as possible. It is just that some things are not 'acceptable' to be put in print at the college. We know students don't want to read just press releases."

Those people on the Collegian staff in 1992-93 were: Amy McWhirt, Seth Bate, Christopher Smith, Tara Ghare, Sandra Gasca, Angie Fogo, Christa Pickens, Robin Hathaway, Jenny Muret, Laura Hitt, Christian Lutz, Kyle Rhynerson, Chris King, Heather Kirkwood, Brian Pettey, Gia Heller, Melinda Towne, Brady Butcher, Mike Snyder, and Cori Hawkins. Christopher Smith.

Putting together a yearbook is always exciting and challenging. 1992-93 was no different. Getting photos of the appropriate events and groups, collecting information and writing stories, and doing the final layout for the printer are all part of the learning process. After all of the work, worry, fun and decisions, the staff gives a sigh of relief when the last deadline has been met. We did it again!

Southwestern debaters captured three national titles at the Pi Kappa Delta National Debate Tournament at the University of Puget Sound in Washington. The Builders won national championships in junior and open divisions along with the overall squad national title.

The team of Carson Brackney and Ann Woodward earned top seed in preliminary rounds and reached the elimination rounds. The two won first place in the open division of competition.

Glenna Burden and Kris Martin won first place in the junior varsity division. The two were top-seeded after the preliminary competition. Freshman Kendra Pittman added two wins to the first-place finishes for SC. Pittman teamed with a Fort Hays State debater in the tournament.

The Pi Kappa Delta National tournament was open to members of the honorary fraternity. After the Pi Kappa Delta Nationals, the Builders headed to the Cross-Examination Debate Association (CEDA) National Tournament. The team of Brackney and Woodward finished the tournament with a 6th place over-all finish. Burden and Martin added four wins to SC's tournament total.

The Builder squad ended the season ranked seventh in the nation. This finish puts SC above over 350 other institutions.

The following is a list of FEA activities this year:

- Halloween Treats for members
- Speaker from the Kansas branch of the National Education Association
- Appreciation Tea for student teachers
- Christmas Luncheon at Iron Gate Inn
- Money to needy family at Christmas (in cooperation with Pi Kappa Delta)
- Trip to Southwest Missouri State to visit alternative school settings
- End of the year luncheon

Kansas Alpha chapter of Pi Gamma Mu, International Honor Society in the Social Sciences, worked to encourage the social sciences through programs and the initiation of new members.

Elections dominated the fall semester agenda. On October 9, 1992, Pi Gamma Mu sponsored a political debate in Richardson Auditorium between Republican Lin Lewis and Democrat Greta Goodwin. Both women were candidates running for the 78th district seat in the Kansas House of Representatives. An election party was arranged for the 1992 United States Presidential elections in the Student Center Snack Bar. Kansas Newman College and Southwestern College chapters met for a joint, spring initiation on March 1, 1993. The evening's events celebrated both the initiation of new members and the official opening of the relocated, international headquarters in the Carnegie Building, downtown Winfield. International first vice-president, Ms. Kay Anderson, gave a short accolade on the value of honor societies before announcing the initiates. International president, Dr. Orville Menard, swore in the initiates and then presented them as new members.

Pi Gamma Mu was founded by Dean Leroy Allen of Southwestern College, December 1924. The object of this society is to support the social sciences through election to membership, monetary support of chapter educational programs, and the presentation of awards for outstanding achievement. Pi Gamma Mu's motto is, "Ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free."

Perhaps the oldest active organization on campus (they began in 1919), the Campus Players are evident all over Southwestern college. Their rock stands next to Christy; they have an entire hallway decorated with caricatures of Campus Players alumni; they are seen in any of three theatres all day and all night and they might be practicing lines anywhere on campus. The group honors theatrical achievement, provides leadership in the theatre department and serves as producer for the mainstage shows. Their mask and dagger are seen on nearly every theatre program.

This year, the Campus Players produced Amadeus and Painted Heart in the fall, "EagerHeart" at Christmas and Nunsense and a group of One-Acts in the spring. Of course not all students involved in the productions are Campus Players; it takes students from all over campus to mount a show.

Individual Campus Players earned special honors. Heather Jacobs and Kelley Rogers were each nominated for the Irene Ryan Acting Scholarship competition; it was held in Minneapolis. Stuart Graham also competed, earning a place in semi-finals. And Campus Players President Seth Bate won the American College Theatre Festival/National Critics Institute Award, allowing him a chance to attend the national American College Theatre Festival at the Kennedy Center in Washington D.C.

Being a member of Campus Players means heavy responsibility; each member is expected to take part in everything the theatre does.

Said Seth Bate, "Being a Campus Player means hard work. Being president is even harder. Without Joy Hathaway, [Executive Assistant], I couldn't have survived the year."

The Campus Players, the drama honorary organization, is responsible for all of the theatre productions at Southwestern College. When they get together, the norm is to "ham it up." 1st row: Kelley Rogers, Stuart Graham, Sara Callender, Scott Shipman, Missy Lupton. 2nd row: Allyson Moon, Roger Moon, Angie Fogo, Heather Jacobs, Paul Brown. 3rd row: Joy Hathaway, Jill Stephens, Seth Bate, Jenny Muret, and Denise Warring.

The Presidential Election 1992 made the year very exciting for the Young Democrats of Southwestern. The group campaigned for various candidates, assisted with voter registration, and celebrated the major Democrat victories. The organization is very politically aware and act from their awareness. Meeting regularly, they often had guest speakers.

Chapel

The theme for chapel during the fall semester was, "Tearing Down and Building Up." The messages were aimed at getting rid of destructive attitudes and putting positive things in their place. A number of different ministers and various staff and faculty shared their ideas. Chapel for the spring semester used Focusing On Christ Unites Southwestern as its subject. One interesting topic during this semester was, "What Freedom of Religion Really Means." Sarah Wilke, Director of Wesley Rankin Community Center, in Dallas, Texas also spoke during the Spring.

Right: Tyrone Gordon gives a powerful message about "Tumbling Walls" during his visit to Southwestern.

Southwestern Campus Ministry. . . the place to be!

Campus Council on Ministry (CCOM) is a group of students who meet twice monthly to plan events. To be part of this group, one should be willing to model a Christian lifestyle and support many different ministries on campus.

There are numerous opportunities provided for those involved including a worship team, mission trips, fundraising projects, individual Bible groups, and groups to help freshmen students with the adjustment to college life.

All these activities give students the chance to build lasting friendships and grow in their faith.

SHARE volunteers worked in a variety of places and offered a variety of services. Following are what several students did while volunteering.

Donelle Bergeson worked with a kindergarten class at Lowell Elementary School. Daphne Dobbins worked with the students in the PALS Program at Webster Community School. Alyssa Ediger tutored several second grade students in math at Lowell Elementary. Brande Friederich worked at Cumbernauld Village reading, visiting, and playing games with the residents.

Jevon Gearhardt was a "College Friend" to an eight year old boy. Gia Heller visited with a wheelchair-bound senior adult at the senior's residence.

Mark Malcom worked with, and played with, the elementary school students at the after-school program at Whittier Elementary.

Kyle Rhynerson is a friend and tutor to a 5th grade boy who attended Irvin Elementary. Sara Rogers visited with an apartment resident at Good Samaritan.

Sigma Iota Sigma worked almost hundred hours on a SHARE project. They planned and hosted two Phone Pals parties when the Phone Pal Director broke her leg.

Brian Swafford worked on an individual basis with a student at the Middle School. Misty Weldon was "College Friend" to a 9 year old girl.

Left: SHARE volunteers gathered at the President's house for a year-end luncheon to celebrate all of the accomplishments of the group.

The members of the Social Work Club had a busy spring. It started in January when they placed boxes around campus for donations to Safe House. Senior Cynthia Ramirez chaired this project. The club members planned to care for foster children of Cowley County in April. Also in April, the Junior club members hosted a banquet for the Senior Social Work students. Melinda Fulton was elected president for the upcoming year.

Senior club members include Aaron Estabrook, Tracy Wiechman, Cynthia Ramirez and Keela Patterson. Sponsors were Mike Trollman and Kim Mercer.

Irene Tillman, ready to take charge of anything!

Always moving forward, the students in the mass communication produced SCTV and "This Week at SC" for the local cable television channel. Productions of these programs give the students valuable hands-on experience in television writing, editing, performing and producing.

The spring semester found the group producing two original movies to be aired on Winfield Cable Channel 5. The first feature is "A Conversation With Charlie," filmed at the Winfield State Hospital and Training Center. The story centers around an inmate, who may or may not be Charles Manson. It featured Geoffrey Barnett, Harry Renek and Eric Lybarger. Senior Cheryl Burr produced the movie.

The second film featured Lela Jennings in the title role, "Mrs. Engle." The story of an old lady tormented by two neighbor kids was written by Bill DeArmond and also featured Michael Clay. LaRanda Jennings produced the film.

A Dining Hall lunch is always a treat, but Tony Busch and Benn Jackson seem to be having an especially jolly time.

It was a cold and windy day in March. Fifteen students from Jennifer Morgan's Business and Professional Communication class set out for a visit to Wichita District Attorney Nola Foulston's office. Trying to keep dry in the light rain: Koichi Ishizuka, Kyle Rhynerson, Curt Miner, Jaime Vasquez, Brad Cain, Courtney Brown, Don Gifford, John Wacker, Bonnie Brown, Chris Feist, Kazumi Watanabe, Regina Gaston (hidden), Cheryl Burr, Tammy Volbrecht, and Makia Bird.

The Zeta Beta Chapter of the Delta Sigma Theta Sorority involves Irene Tillman, vice-president, Regina Musgrove, public relations, and Makia Bird. With nine new members this spring, the organization has been involved in numerous public service events. The May 7 "Who Runs the Yard" Step-Show, held at Wichita State University, was their last big event of the year.

The activities in which they participated during the 1992-93 school year were in keeping with the philosophies of their organization. The sorority was founded on the principle of Public Service and Sisterhood. Twenty-two women with a vision founded Delta Sigma Theta Sorority Inc. at Howard University in 1913. They created a five-point thrust program, the pride of the organization. Important points include Social and Economical Development and Education.

1992-93 Delta Sigma Theta members Irene Tillman, Regina Musgrove, and Makia Bird worked in conjunction with members from Wichita State University in the organization's service projects.

Pi Delta Sigma kicked off its 25th anniversary by contacting almost 200 of its alumni. In addition to giving an update about the group's current activities, the Delts asked the alums to purchase silver anniversary sweatshirts as a fund-raiser.

The Delts also participated in the homecoming parade, Phone-a-Thon, intramural softball tournament, and Greek night at the basketball game. Furthermore, the organization hosted the Valentine's Sweetheart Dance, a car wash, and the end-of-the year cookout. Adopt-a-Highway signs are in place and the group will begin cleaning soon.

A two-week pledge session was held during the Spring semester and brought four new members to the club.

Dave Gallart, an original member of Pi Delta Sigma, functioned as the sponsor and provided insight on keeping Delt traditions alive.

Executive officers were: Julie Underwood, President; Kris Cummins, Vice President; Becca Swenson, Secretary; Shannon Folck, Treasurer; Russ Eickmeyer, Cetra Oberhelman, and Don Vawter, Pledge Masters.

Beta Beta Beta, a Biology Honor Society, enjoyed an active year at Southwestern. To spruce up Mossman Hall, the group painted the general chemistry labs. Tri-Beta ended their year with a 9 1/2 hour canoe trip on the Walnut River.

Max Thompson was the sponsor. Other officers included: Tamara DePue, President; Brandon O'Brien, Vice President; Greg Stoppel, Secretary; Carla Waller, Treasurer; and Tina Kelley, Historian.

Always active, Theta Phi Delta's 26th year was a busy one. Their president, Nick Garcia, says, "The strong never die." This year seems proof of that. At Homecoming, the Thetas won the float competition; it was one more victory to add to their collection. Garcia credits their "hand-to-hand tactic." The Thetas also helped move carpet from the fairgrounds, site of the Walnut Valley Festival, so that there would be floats in the parade. During the year, the Thetas organized bus trips for out-of-town games. Theta brother Ying-Yang was credited for their success. The pledge class was a small one, but Garcia said it was strong at heart and unity. Solidly a part of this strong tradition, the Thetas are looking ahead to a 27th year.

Sigma Iota Sigma did a variety of activities this year. Along with sponsoring a very successful Winter Formal, they also participated in the Fall Homecoming Parade, a two-week pledge session, and two service projects. The first service project corresponded with the Winter Dance. Students were asked to bring canned foods for the Grace United Methodist Church food bank. Second semester the Sigmas took on the big project of organizing and actively participating in two Phone Pals parties. They decided to do this when Dorothy Neal was unable to plan due to a broken leg. This was an opportunity for both the actives and pledges to work together.

The spring pledge class for 1993 included: Glenna Burden, Michelle Calvert, Jennifer Holeman, Meriam Lehman, and Trish Parker. Officers for 1992-93 were: Lisa Bahruth, President; Melanie Allen, Vice-President; Suzanne Johnson, Secretary; Debra Wright, Treasurer; Kim Brewster and Kyndal Smith, Co-Publicists; Gillian Glover and Tina Kelley, Co-Historians. Sponsors were Kim Mercer and Joann Romero.

The Brotherhood of Gamma Lambda Upsilon made their debut in 1993 with a very successful spring semester. The Brotherhood formed as a group of eight freshmen who showed excitement, intelligence, and bravery as they went against the norm to form their own fraternity. In February, Gamma Lambda Upsilon went to the Grace House (a home for handicapped individuals) and shampooed carpets as a service project for the community. The group plans to make next year even better and hopes to help the school and community in any way they can. Watch out SC, this group is not holding back!

This basketball rock acts as a monument to the strong history of basketball at Southwestern. The rock shows that between 1935 and 1943, Southwestern either won or tied as conference champs every year.

Furthermore, in 1939 the team was tops in the nation. Builder history says that the team was invited to play at Madison Square Garden, but were finally ruled out on the basis of having freshman players on the team.

Wow! What an awesome season!

The Lady Builders, under the direction of new head coach Tonya Turner, completed what was the most successful season in the history of the sport at SC.

In the KCAC, the women finished second place with a record of 12-4, only one game away from a tie for first place. The Lady Builders defeated top seed Kansas Newman and finished as runner-up in the NAIA district tournament.

Senior Regina Gaston received several honors for her outstanding performance this season. She was selected as KCAC player of the year, KCAC newcomer of the year, named to the All-KCAC first team, and the NAIA All-District 10 team.

Senior Suzanne Orvis was also selected to the All-KCAC first team, and sophomore Tracy Lowry was named to the honorable mention team.

Women's Tennis

The Women's tennis team had many new faces this year. Janci Long transferred in from Cowley County. Kazumi Watanabe and Chika Nagao both from Japan also joined the team this year along with Gloria Morey from Spain. Tracy Wiechman, Shannon Folck, and Daphne Dobbins were the only returning players.

The team, under Coach Steve Vann, tied for second place in the Women's KCAC Tennis Tournament. Janci Long took first place in the Number 1 singles. Tracy Wiechman took first place in the Number 3 singles. Long was named Most Valuable Player, and Wiechman was named Academic Player. Shannon Folck and Kazumi Watanabe received Honorable Mention All-Conference Team. In the District 10 tournament, the team tied for second place. Wiechman took first place in the Number 3 singles. Weichman and Long were both named to the All-District team.

Women's tennis team member Daphne Dobbins returns the ball during practice.

The men's tennis team finished third place in the Kansas Collegiate Athletic Conference Championship Tournament. Jeff Everett, number 2 player, and Carlos Vargas, number 5 player, captured single's championships. Jeff's victory over Jose Garcia of Bethany was sweet revenge as he had lost to Garcia twice earlier in the season. Freshman Carlos Vargas, Arkansas City native, dominated in his championship match, winning 6-2, 6-3. Coach Vann said of Vargas, "I don't think Carlos could play much better than he did in the championship." Number 4, Jim Everett, placed second in the KCAC; Scott Sisson (number 1) and Dirk Fowler (number 6) both placed third. Ben Richardson, number 3, finished in fourth place.

In doubles play, all three teams finished third. The men were paired as follows: Scott Sisson and Jeff Everett (number 1); Carlos Vargas and Jim Everett (number 2); and Ben Richardson and Jerrod Wheeler (number 3).

Southwestern was one of only four teams who chose to participate in the NAIA tournament. The competition was the toughest in the state, and a fourth place finish was honorable.

The Builders look forward to an exciting season next year as they will be returning all players from this year's team.

This score, on the 36-hole tournament at the Hesston Golf Course, was 51 strokes ahead of the second place team, Kansas Wesleyan. Junior Kris Cummins captured the individual title, beating his teammate and brother Kurt by four strokes; Kurt finished in second place. Jason Gulley and Kip Haffner tied for fourth place with a score of 153. Andy Stephens received the sixth place medal by shooting 155.

In District 10 play at Wellington, the Builders finished with a disappointing but highly commendable second place medal. The team completed the tournament a mere five strokes behind Kansas Newman, the team that will play at the NAIA national championship in Jacksonville, FL. Brothers Kris and Kurt Cummins were the Builders who received individual medals. Kurt finished second with a score of 146, while Kris shot 151 to acquire ninth place. Congratulations on a very successful season!

The men's basketball team finished the 1992-93 season with a record of 15-10. The Builder team finished ranking 5th in the KCAC.

The Builders were well represented on the All-Conference team. Seniors,

Brian Markle and Brady Butcher both earned All-KCAC honors. Matt Gill, a junior, earned honorable mention honors. One very special honor was given to senior Brian Markle as 3rd team All-American. -Sandra Gasca

This year was a good one for the Builder track athletes. Armed with a large group of new freshmen, the men's and women's indoor track teams smashed all the competition at the KCAC championship meet. This was the first time the Builder women had ever won this particular title. Both of the teams won the contest by over a hundred points. The meet was won, the victory lap was jogged, and the cooler of ice water was dumped on Head Coach Jim Helmer's head. It was oh, so sweet.

At the indoor national meet in Kansas City, Missouri, Southwestern was well represented. The meet yielded three All-Americans for the Builders: Dale Dolezal in the 60m hurdles and Chad Hamlin and Denise Allen in the high jump.

Coming into the outdoor season, both teams continued to work and compete hard. The KCAC meet was pure bliss, except for the weather which absolutely did not cooperate with the last half of the meet. The women's championship was undecided until the last two races. Coming into the 3,000m run, they were ten points ahead but still being challenged by Sterling's distance runner and 4x400m relay team. Needless to say, the distance girls worked hard and boosted the score out of Sterling's reach. The awesome 4x400m team took first and helped the women to capture the conference title with a bang.

The men's outdoor track team, following tradition, snagged another conference title (the 11th) despite the weather. The competition was never even close. However, the men still worked hard and had some outstanding performances. Brian McGee, a senior, was named the most valuable athlete of the meet. The meet was won, the victory lap was jogged, and since coach Helmer hid from the team, the KCAC champions were dumped into the steeplechase pit.

After finals, the track teams were poised and ready to take dual championships at Districts. This important meet was canceled because of rain. For the seniors, this was indeed a sad day. The season was over before they knew it.

This particular rock, Heritage Rock, was completed during the 1989-90 school term by Dr. Leonard Laws. Dr. Laws served as Professor Emeritus of mathematics and statistics at Southwestern for 34 years; he retired in 1988. The carvings on the rock make it appear that the Indian is being supported by the buffalo. On another end of the rock, an eagle is pouncing on a rabbit. The rock was designed to call attention to the heritage of Kansas.

The Leadership Banquet was held at Baden Square Thursday, April 1, 1993. This banquet gave recognition to all those students who dedicate their time as leaders to the college in some way.

Dean Wilke gave the invocation before dinner was served. Then Cheryl Rude expressed her appreciation to the students for their efforts. Each student representative gave a short speech about their organization's major accomplishments for the year. Finally, Donna Homan, of Donna's Designs Inc., gave a presentation relating her leadership positions and extra-curricular activities at Southwestern to being the owner of her flower shop in Winfield. Below: Terry Quiett presents an original composition. Terry performed in the serious category of the talent show.

Talent Show

When the Kansas State Legislature threatened to close the Winfield State Hospital, Southwestern students, faculty and staff joined the city of Winfield to demonstrate support for keeping the facility open. It was a cold rainy day, but the participants held signs and waved to legislators as they drove to the hospital on an inspection tour.

Left: Glenna Burden "pins" Larry Wilgers making him an honorary member of Pi Kappa Delta, the Debate fraternity. Awards were presented at the annual banquet in April.

Above: In an effort to make freshman Shannon Jones feel welcome, Regina Gaston gave him a big hug. Not everyone gets that kind of treatment!

As one of the new Integrated Studies courses at Southwestern, Applied Creativity certainly lives up to its name. During finals week all enrolled freshmen show the rest of the campus what they have been creating! The atmosphere in the foyer of Christy was exciting, crowded and fun. It is a very impressive beginning.

Right: Christina Proctor mingles with the sightseers as a sun goddess, complete with revolving planets. Her bright gold and glittering costume is hard to miss.

People

Although the term Mound-builder originated in 1910, the first official Moundbuilding Ceremony was not held until 1927.

Tradition mandates that the first Thursday of each new school year every student and faculty proceed through campus, stopping along the way to recognize the various accomplishments the Builders have made in the history of the college.

Upon reaching the Mound, each person symbolically gives their loyalty to the school by adding a rock to the Mound. Each year's addition of stones is a symbol of a growing Southwestern.

Due to extremely wet weather, the Commencement exercises were held inside at Stewart Field House. The Southwestern College Concert Band provided a concert before the ceremony as well as playing the processional. Cheryl Rude, Director of Leadership Development, gave the invocation. Next, Carl Martin welcomed the audience and graduates. President Martin was presented with an Honorary Doctor of Education Administration by J.J. Banks, Chair of the Board of Trustees. After accepting the honorary degree, Dr. Carl Martin introduced the guest speaker, Mr. Gus Lee. Mr. Lee, author of China Boy, spoke to the standing-room-only crowd about "Living Life Abundantly." Then, Dean Nichols presented the graduates as President Martin conferred the degrees. Kris Martin, senior class president, formally submitted to the college the senior class gift, a sun dial. After the Alma Mater was sung, Carolyn Herman gave the benediction. Finally, the crowd recessed to the parking lot.

As editors, we felt "Written in Stone" was a perfect theme for our yearbook because of the connection stones have to the Moundbuilders. Furthermore, "Written in Stone" signifies the permanent memories we hope the yearbook will provide for everyone. We will never forget the numerous hour of work put into this book nor the many fun times we had while completing the project. We hope you find it enjoyable!
