The Joke's on ■ ■ You ■ ■

Due to institutional downsizing and lack of funds, this will be the final edition of the Southwestern College Moundbuilder. Based on this fact, the Moundbuilder staff has dedicated themselves to making this volume a book to remember.

This was the first year, and the last, this book was constructed almost solely using the Josten's YearTech program. This software was used to produce the book on the computer. Using digital and scanned images, the book came together slowly at first. Except for the few times we had to revert back to our old ways, everything went smoothly.

Throughout the year, the sound of the machines at work became a normal part of everyday life. Despite a few small inconveniences, it was an interesting sight to behold. However, the construction of the new freshmen women's dormitory caused financial strain on the institution, which led to a massive overhaul of the college's curriculum.

The Board of Trustees voted on which department would be downsized, and the Mass Communications department won, or lost, the process. It was a close call, and there were many people who wanted a manual recount of the votes. However, this request was denied in the best interests of the entire college, so the department graciously conceded to the decision.

Over the past 95-odd years of publication the Moundbuilder has preserved the history of Southwestern College as well as the changing world. The Moundbuilder staff regrets they have to say goodbye to all of the stressful work and hopes in the future, if funds increase, the yearbook program will be reinstated.

Oh, and one more thing, if you believe everything you just read...

Sincerely,

The Staff

Student Government Association Th

By Megan Herzer

Some revolutions are fought louder than others are. On the Southwestern College campus the Student Government Association fights for the students. According to sophomore Lisa Reynolds, "SGA is a great opportunity for students to get involved in campus life and the decisions that are made." When problems arise on the Southwestern campus they are generally brought to the Student Government Association, from this point the students brainstorm and workout ways to solve the problem. No this isn't the end of the line for a problem. Student Government is only the beginning, from there is goes to student life, the board of trustees, or the president, but what is important is that the students do have a say in what happens.

This years leadership was a mix of old and new. Seniors Lisa Phillips, Jacob Tuttle, and Seth Leeper returned for another year, while Juniors Shelley

Good and Brad Newell took on new roles in SGA. Another new face to SGA this year was their advisor Dr. Bruce Storey. Dr. Storey is thankful for the Student Government Association. "There is a good group of student leaders involved in SGA and other aspects of campus life. They feel that the job is to make SC a better place and in my opinion they are doing a great job of that," says Storey. "They take their job seriously yet know how to make it fun."

Problems faced by SGA, like leaders, were old and new. The issues of parking and the homecoming coronation were present in the minds of students in SGA, but this year there were other issues to be discussed and added to the docket. Each of these issues is assigned to a specific committee that can look at every aspect of the problem, concern, or even and come up with a proper way to handle it. SGA is broken down into six different committees: the student concern committee, elections committee, activities committee, housing committee, food committee, and the constitution committee.

Life Is A Party

By Megan Herzer and Amy Govert

Campus life wouldn't be nearly as lively if it wasn't for the hard work of those involved with the Student Activities Association. The organization provides funding and, in some cases, makes the arrangements for most activities held at SC. The result: Free Movie Night, Bowling Night, Skate Night, and other such fun-filled events.

In addition to keeping students amused, the organization encourages other campus groups to help out. The Purple Heart Award is given to those organizations that demonstrate leadership on and off campus.

This year, four members of the organization attended the National Convention of Student Activities in Nashville, TN.

Martin Rude, SAA sponsor said, "This has been one of the best years yet. President Paul Mages has provided great leadership. He has been great with the follow through and communication."

"The 2000-2001 school year was a great success. We tried many new events such as a mentalist, a drive-in movie, and a live band. Some went well, others didn't. It was a great year for learning and growing. The members of SAA really came through."

YearTech, YearTough

By Candace Krug

Under the direction of two editors senior Amy Govert and sophomore Julie Morgan the 2001 Moundbuilders slowly pieced together. With the work of 10 dedicated staff members, the page layouts were designed, the stories were written, and the photos were taken and arranged. A creative new approach allowed the out-dated method of cut-and-paste to be eliminated. "We reopened the Winfield mental institution in Christy 13, when we abolished the use of rubber cement." Commented Julie Morgan. This year being the first to create the entire book in Josten's YearTech format, the staff was able to use an innovative technique to design the pages. With the help of YearTech, the pages were designed on computers and were delivered to Jostens on disk. With the purchase of new equipment including a negative scanner, students were able to eliminate some of the time-consuming darkroom work. "YearTech allowed us to experiment with design elements that were not possible with cut-and-paste.

However, things went a little slowly at first because most of the staff had to learn to use the new program," explained Amy Govert.

New technology was just the first of the changes brought on by this year's staff. The students chose to stray from the more serious themes of the past years and take a light-hearted, playful approach. The Joke's on You called for cartoon drawings and creative headlines to emphasize the 'comical outlook' prevalent on campus. So along with documenting the year's events and recording the trends of the time, the 2001 Moundbuilder staff also tried to provide a little comic relief.

Big Format, Big Paper

By Candace Krug

A new look provided a new beginning for this year's Collegian staff. Desiring to duplicate the appearance of a professional newspaper, the staff chose the common full-size paper rather than the tabloid look of the past. Additional pictures were added to each story to emphasize photojournalism and visual appeal. James Larson explains the new look, "..."

Kasey Dumler and James Larson, both seniors, took on the job of co-editors, seeking to document the current events on campus and in the community. Each of the 8 to 10 staff members was charged with the task of gathering newsworthy events and current opinions on campus. The staff had to set goals and reach deadlines in order for the publication to go out every two weeks. After the pages were designed and compiled on a desktop program, the camera ready product was then sent to the Winfield Courier for printing.

The Education Builders had a very active year. In the fall, they hosted activities for children during Homecoming weekend including fishing, face painting, basketball and bubbles. In the spring, they sold suckers with the proceeds going to the local elementary schools to buy library books. They created the winning banner for this years banner night and sponsored the Plot and Plop activity for Spring Fling.

Southwestern employs a team of tutors that assist other students with their various subjects. They're available for proofreading papers, helping with math problems, and explaining physics concepts. "Tutoring makes me feel like I'm helping the world," said senior tutor Kasey Dumler. Each tutor has their own area of knowledge which was available in the student life office every week.

Rock On!

By Jamie Jansonius

What team puts together Freshmen Workday? Members of what organization petitioned the school for Phi Delta Theta Chapter Housing, and started the proposal for the Soccer scoreboard and the ATM machine outside of the cafeteria? What team mentors at Irving Elementary school? Leadership has been actively involved in many projects like Freshmen Workday since it was established in 1996. The award winning team received an honorary rock as a souvenir of being the 1997 award-winning Leadership team. The group has evolved since then. First year members do a collaboration on a project with another person on their team.

"I have learned a lot in Leadership. Many projects that the other students see is the end result. All of the purple, silver, white and black teams work hard on their project. I have learned a lot about knowing that making it happen requires paying attention to detail," senior Randall Walz said.

Chris Ford's senior project was to petition the school for fraternity Phi Delta Theta's Chapter Housing. "Leadership has encouraged my journey," Ford said.

The 2000-2001 Leadership team has become an organization with over 50 members. "Leadership has taught me that all the doors to the future are marked 'push'," Walz said.

Y'all come back now

By Jamie Jansonius

Many Southwestern students remember their first visit to SC. Most reported that they were somewhat nervous about what college would be like. One of the first faces most new recruits see or saw is one of the eight ambassadors. As a part of these diplomats' work-study, they receive a discount on all SC bookstore items as well as meeting some possible new students.

"Students become Ambassadors to share ideas and experiences with those looking to attend SC. They like to share their stories and experiences with other SC students," Leslie Grant said.

"The only drawback I can think of about being an ambassador is having to get up at 8:15 on a Saturday, but other than that I really enjoy what I do," said Erin Eis.

"Our team this year is awesome. I'm so proud to have such a reliable, energetic, and a fun team that are always willing to help out," said Leslie Grant.

A New Beginning

By Sarah Thuma

This year the Psychology Club was reborn as the Psychology Student Association (PSA). Last year the Psychology Club advisors decided to end the struggling organization. Junior Psychology major Rose Mans decided to take on the responsibility to bring the organization back to life. The new name was not the only change that took place in the organization, it also became more involved on campus.

The new organization began the year with a BBQ that was a Psychology Club tradition that will now be passed on to the new organization PSA. This year the event was held at Psychology professor Michelle Rosell house. It was a casual event to help the members become better acquainted.

For homecoming PSA created a giant brain float with the theme "Get Psyched Up" to go along with the homecoming theme "Living It Up @ SC." PSA's hard work paid off when the float won the title of "Most Creative."

The Psychology Student Association held meetings throughout both semesters. At one meeting graduate student Alleigh Schmidt spoke to the members about graduate programs.

"I haven't crammed this much into my brain in a whole school year, let alone during homecoming weekend."

Logos is an organization for those who like to think and argue. The members engaged in a number of activities ranging from analyzing artwork to watching movies. They also hosted several guest speakers including a nuclear physicist and a member of the Kansas Board of Education. "A main drawing point for me was the fact that logos is for philosophy and theology majors," said Joshua Long. "The activities vary between the two fields depending on who has been invited to speak."

Constant Chatter

By Amy Govert

The Debate and Forensics squads hosted the annual Moundbuilder Forensics and Debate Tournament on November 17-18. Students from 17 colleges and universities competed for group and individual honors.

East Central University, the second tournament of their season, November 2-3, the team placed fourth against 15 colleges and universities.

The Debate squad also hosted two British debaters sponsored by the National Communications Association on November 6. Babak Peter Webster and Matthew Paul Butts demonstrated the audience-centered parliamentary style of debate in several SC classes and two public forums.

Connors State College, March 9-10 for the end of the Great Plains Forensics Conference season. Nadia VanDorn was nominated and named to the Academic Excellence class for 2001.

A trip to Boise, Idaho, March 27-April 1 for the Pi Kappa Delta National Tournament proved again the excellence of the program.

Acting Out

By Amy Govert

Supporting excellence in dramatic performances, Campus Players was created in 1919 under the suggestion of Miss Martha Lee, Professor of Expression at Southwestern College. Today, the honorary club continues to support drama productions at Southwestern College.

The organization played an important role at SC, on and off the stage. Campus Players established recycling centers in the Darbeth Fine Arts and Christy Administration buildings. The club built a float for the Homecoming parade and helped sponsor the Valentine's Dance.

President of the organization Meagan Zampieri shared, "We're getting to know each other really well with such a small group. So many will be graduating in May, next year will be like starting over."

While the club may have been small, they took part in every theatrical production on campus. From the musical "School House Rock Live!" to "Tony 'n Tina's Wedding," the organization always had something to do. This includes "Eagerheart," the annual Christmas morality play. This year marked its 63rd production. The cast and crew of "Eagerheart" consists only of Campus Players and special guests.

Joyful Noise, or Not

By Moundbuilder Staff

It's obvious that A Cappella Choir can make some noise. In fact, they make a glorious noise. They have been practicing all semester, preparing for their concerts, and of course, their tour to Texas and Oklahoma.

According to Dr. Schuppener,

"The choir has grown tremendously as an ensemble this year. The tour represented all the musical elements coming together to create a successful tour. The audience responses to the choir performances were enthusiastic. Hopefully these kinds of responses will encourage others to continue to grow as musicians, and look positively to the future."

A Cappella Choir has about 50 in the group and they have come together to create beautiful music.

Their next tour will take place in Europe in May 2002.

Instrumental Music

And this one time, at band camp...

By Amy Govert

The Music Department of Southwestern College had three primary instrumental ensembles: Concert Band, Jazz Band, and Pep Band. Each group provided a distinct sound and flavor.

Concert Band was the largest ensemble on campus and was directed by Charles Yingling, Assistant Professor of Music. The band performed a number of concerts throughout the year in Richardson Auditorium.

The Jazz Band was made up of a select group of students. Directed by SC senior Hans Judd, the group performed in concerts and made special appearances at home athletic events.

Pep Band continued to pump up the crowds at home athletic events. The group performed at football games and basketball games throughout the year. Sarah Edwards, sophomore, said, "We supported the Builders with our music and that was cool."

Take One

By Amy Govert

The Mass Communications Department of Southwestern College includes the application and study of print, television, and radio. Students gain firsthand experience in these areas by featuring campus and local happenings. And, the 2000-2001 academic year proved no different.

The bi-weekly television program, This Week At Southwestern College, continued to feature campus news and events. A cast and crew of 12 students were responsible for filming, editing, and writing a 30 minute show.

Co-sports anchor Keely Stanley, junior, explained, "We always had something to do. Everyone was part of a crew team and we were responsible for covering the different events taking place on campus. If we were not doing that, we were writing the show and stepping behind or in front of a camera."

In addition to covering the happenings on campus, SCTV sponsored SCMagazine. Produced by a select group of students, the feature program covered points of interest related to the Winfield community and surrounding area.

"SCMagazine takes a deeper look at the subject material," shared Krysti Potter, junior. "For example, the Walnut Valley Festival was a community event we featured this year. Thanks to our coverage, viewers were able to get a taste of the event without having to leave the comfort of their home."

KSWC (100.3 FM Winfield, KS) supplied the campus community and surrounding area with the latest in alternative music. This was the 33rd year of SC radio. The ten-watt station required the efforts of 21 student disc jockeys. Each week, the DJ's spent three hours in the studio. In addition to responding to listener requests, the DJ's were required to play 15 songs from the "KSWC Top 30 Playlist." Office personnel and management of KSCW included: Dr. Bill DeArmond (General Manager), Levi Hillman (Station Manager), Amy Govert (Production Manager), and Scott Miller (Program Manager).

"It was crazy," mentioned Levi Hillman, sophomore.

Discipleship is a four-year program for Southwestern students interested in incorporating the Christian faith into their chosen careers. Once a student has joined, the group offers opportunities for spiritual, mental, physical, and relational growth. "Discipleship can be a great growing place for Christians, especially in the first years of college," said discipleship intern Christine Allen. "It gives them the opportunity to meet others." The members also came together this year to make a float for the Homecoming Parade.

Helping Hands

By Amy Govert

Share Southwestern is designed to facilitate students looking to make a difference in the community, country, and world. Through individual and group volunteer projects, the organization helps dedicated and creative students change their world by helping others.

This year, Share traveled across the border to Juarez, Mexico for Fall Break. While there, the organization helped out at a local orphanage.

Members of the Winfield community found themselves subject to R.A.K Attacks! lead by the team throughout the year. The "Random Acts of Kindness" allowed members to help local people in their daily tasks, such as washing dishes or taking out the trash.

For Hunger and Homelessness Awareness week, the club worked with Food Services. Together they helped collect donated meal tickets for charity.

"We each spent 10 hours a week doing volunteer work. Rachel Copeland and I did this by leading a youth group at Grace United Methodist Church every Sunday evening. We did a lot of fun things with the kids, like ice skating and laser tag."

Physics Club is a gathering of students with an interest in the subject. It is the organizations goal to promote an understanding of physics. According to Greg Bomhoff, "...physics gives us the chance to do things we wouldn't get to do if we majored in something else." Some of the years activities included a picnic, planning a tour of Cessna in Wichita, and member Kristen Kraemer gave a presentation over a summer research project she had completed.

Hurts!

Have you ever noticed those people standing on the sidelines at sporting events? Well, if you have you have noticed those students who are Athletic Trainers.

These students work hard all year round seeing to the injuries of the campus athletes.

Trainers is an internship program for students interested in this field of study.

Through this program students learn skills in emergency first aid, prevention, recognition, treatment, and rehabilitation of athletic injuries.

After completion of this program students are eligible to apply to take the National Athletic Trainers' Association Board of Certification exam to become nationally certified.

SCANS, the student nursing society, helps the nursing students learn valuable lessons and make interesting contacts in the nursing field.

These students were pretty busy this year holding their many fund raisers from kissing pigs to selling refills online for printer ink cartridges.

They also held several sessions where anyone could come and have their vital signs checked.

Overall, SCANS had a very busy year helping to make the community a more health wise place.

Beta Beta Beta

By Amy Govert

Tri-Beta remained an ever present force on the Southwestern College campus during the 2000-2001 academic year. SGA recognized the organizations achievements with the Purple Heart Award in May.

Tri-Beta placed with their float in the Homecoming Parade in October. The organization went on to host several guest speakers on campus. While some of these individuals were directly related to the college, others were specialists in their field of study. In April the club sponsored events related to Earth Day.

Matt Harris, Paul Mages, and Dustin Wilgers received funding for their senior research projects through Tri-Beta. The men went on to present their findings at the Tri-Beta Conference held in Missouri.

Phi Delta Theta

One Man is No Man

By Jiana Wilson and Jamie Jansonius

Phi Delta Theta fraternity was founded on December 26, 1848 on the campus of Miami University in Oxford, Ohio. Today, there are around 175 chapters in the United States and Canada. A total of over 210,000 men have been initiated into the bond of Phi Delta Theta. The Kansas Zeta chapter at Southwestern College was founded on April 8, 1995. The fraternity's motto is Eis Aner Oudeis Aner, One man is no man.

The SC chapter participated in several community service activities including Kansas Highway Clean-Up Program, Mentoring at Winfield Middle School, Big Brothers and Big Sisters, Walnut Valley Festival clean-up, Casino Night and Hook-A-Kid on Golf.

"Being a Phi [brother] allows me to meet and spend time with people I otherwise would not have known. I am making friends and brothers for life. It also allows me to assume leadership roles and improve on communication and people skills." said freshman Brant Littrell.

Sigma Sisterhood Goes Worldwide

By Jiana Wilson and Jamie Jansonius

The Southwestern Greek system went through a change with the addition of Beta Sigma Phi sorority. The new sorority took the place of Sigma Iota Sigma. They plan to continue many of the same activities of Sigma. Active member Jill Megredy, Registrar at SC, introduced the sorority to the SC campus. Walter W. Ross, in Abilene, Kansas started the first chapter of Beta Sigma Phi in 1931. His main purpose for the women's organization was "To connect with one another and the world beyond their doorsteps." The purpose of Beta Sigma Phi is to "Provide women opportunity for social, cultural, and service activities." The motto is "Life, Learning, and Friendship."

Currently the Beta Sigma Phi has over 250,000 members, with chapters in every state in the United States, every province in Canada, and twenty other countries, including Russia. Jill Megredy commented, "Sigma Beta Phi is a great sorority for Southwestern because it's an international sorority already established which gives the women an excellent foundation to build upon."

The new sorority has sponsored a food drive, hosted the Winter Formal, and worked for the Purple Heart Award. The officers are president Tessa Ball; vice president Brandy Richardson; secretary Rose Mans; historian Jovanna Lloyd; service chair Jamie Jansonius; affairs office Cassie Hellmer and treasurer Andrea Pearce. "I feel very privileged to be a part of Beta Sigma Phi. It is made up of a great group of women very interested in the success of this sorority as well as Greek life on this campus," said Tessa Ball. Since the sorority is on a trial basis, the chapter has been busy trying to increase membership. There are twelve members of the sorority. Jovanna Lloyd sums up her Beta Sigma year stating, "Being with this group of women is an experience I think many are missing out on. I am having a great time getting to know my sisters, as well as growing as a member of this sorority."

Team Unity

By Kevin Herrian

The volleyball team, coached by Julie Murphy, Betty Haunschild, Sara Peterson, and Lori Wedel, overall did a good job. This year's team consisted of five returning players, four freshmen, and three transfer students. Two very lucky freshmen were put on the starting line-up. The team started off the season with a trip to Irvine, California to battle against five teams in a tournament, one of which participated in the Final Four last year. "I am hoping the level of competition inspires our players to push further," says coach Julie Murphy. Murphy later said, "We gained some great additions to the program. Traci Lungren is one of the hardest working players I have ever coached. She never plays like a freshman. She is as solid as they come. There is no doubt that she will be a powerful force in the conference. Melanie Disbrow added some much needed depth to the outside hitting position. She battled a few injuries, but still managed to do an outstanding job for us. I look forward to seeing her at full strength next season."

The 12 woman team finished with a record of 6 and 20 overall. They were 6 and 12 for the KCAC and tied for 8th place. Katie Phillips and Sara Smith were both awarded KCAC Honorable Mention.

Katie Phillips and Sara Smith were named "most valuable player". Traci Lungren was the teams "most improved". Karen Adams was the teams "most inspirational". and Melanie Disbrow was the teams "new player of the year".

"This year was such a joy to coach. The team bonded very well and there were no cliques. The trip to California was a big highlight for the group. We were able to gain a lot of experience by playing some of the top ranked teams in the country."

Builders Fall Short

By Moundbuilder Staff

The Moundbuilder football team began the season with a 21-3 loss to Baker. Dustin Hamilton completed a 32-yard field goal to give SC its only score. The game was exciting and was great entertainment, but it was an omen of what was to come.

A 62-7 win against St. Mary's rallied fans, then back in the pits with the loss to Ottawa, 16-9. Eric Michael led in passing and Wiley Jackson led with 59 yards rushing on 23 carries. D.J. Bell and Dustin Hamilton did an excellent job for SC.

Repeating last year's win over Bethany, SC won with Wiley Jackson contributing 170 yards rushing. Friends proved surprisingly tough, but the Builders won 26-13 bringing the record to 5-1 in the KCAC. Major contributors to the win were Deon Belle, Wiley Jackson and Travis Burdine.

Getting around to playing Bethel the Builders proved to be disastrous. Wiley Jackson was hurt in the third quarter, but Eric Michael and D.J. Bell contributed their usual talent.

The Builders dominated Sterling 45-20, with Brandon Williams stepping in for the injured Wiley Jackson. SC's record by this time was 6-2 in the conference.

November 11th was Senior Day, playing Kansas Wesleyan. Tony Daniels, D.J. Bell, Eric Michael, and Wiley Jackson were the stars of the day, even though the Coyotes won 17-14. Coach Monty Lewis was disheartened by the loss. Lewis said, "I'm heart-broken for our seniors. I didn't think I'd feel this again, but you're not a lock to win on Senior Day. These are championship individuals, and a loss today can't take that away from them."

"Overall the season was disappointing, but all games could have gone either way." D.J. Bell.

Look No Hands

By Nicole Howie

The Builder soccer team had a productive season. They were lead by a new coach, Roberto dos Santos. The season started with a loss in overtime to Ottawa University, but the Builders beat the Braves in double overtime in the last game of the season. The Builders ended the season with a 6-11 record.

"I feel we had a terrific team and we worked really hard. It was great getting to know the other players and seeing the fans. Soccer's future will rise and hopefully so will the support from the school," said Shaun Kellar.

Several of the Builders made K.C.A.C All-Conference. Those making Second Team were back fielder, Kelsey Schultz, midfielder, Mark Bolt, and Forward David Madrigal, making Honorable Mention was goalkeeper, Travis Hastings.

The Builders had several fans come out and support them this year. Joe David Gilmore wanted to thank everyone for their support by saying, "I just want to thank all the new faces that came out to our games this year, and showed us their support. Thanks especially to the fellows who sat on their couch...you know who you are! We are looking forward to a great season next year! Thanks again!"

"We had a great group of guys this year. Our newcomers stepped up and showed us what they can do. Thanks for the support from the faculty and the group of guys on the couch. Come see us rise to the top next year."

Women's Soccer

Goal

By Nicole Howie

The Lady Builder soccer team had a rough start. At the beginning of the season there weren't enough women out to make a team, but gained enough players before the first game. They also were under the leadership of new coach Roberto dos Santos. They had a tough season and ended the with (4-14).

"It was awesome to become a threat to other teams considering our numbers. We Rock!" says Beth Mosier.

Several Lady Builders made the K.C.A.C. All-Conference team. Those making first team were midfielder Amanda Rathburn and forward Brandy Richardson. Making second team were goalkeeper Beth "Crash" Barbiers and back Lydia Mann.

"I feel that the season was very inspiring because of numbers, the amount of injuries we obtained and our placing in the KCAC. It makes me look forward to what next year will be like," says Lydia Mann.

"Our women's team turned a lot of heads this season. It was really difficult starting and finishing the season with such a small squad, but we worked hard and learned a lot about not only soccer, but ourselves as well."

CC Takes KCAC. Again!

By Adam Maloney

Southwestern College proved to be the dominating power in the KCAC Championships on November 4, 2000. Domination was the name of the game all season for the Moundbuilders.

At the Oklahoma State University Jamboree, in September, 141 women participated in the 5,000m. Southwestern runners Darla Bocock and Cassie Helmer took 7th and 8th helping to bring the women's team to 5th place overall.

At the same OSU meet, Nathanael Wheatley smoked the competition taking first place in the men's 8,000m run with a time of 26:01. The SC men won the meet by fifty-two points.

The Mid-states NAIA meet, held in Kenosha, Wisconsin, in November, found the men's Cross-Country team rank third in the nation in the Moundbuilders. The men's team won the meet by a point, leaving SC men with second place. The women's team ended the day in ninth place overall. Cassie Helmer won 7th place out of 130 runners in the 5,000m.

Outstanding women runners included Cassie Helmer, Beth Barbers, Darla Bocock, Rose Mans, Pam Brown, and Amy Tiger. Among the men's standing participants were Nathanael Wheatley, Warren Berquist, Brant Littrell, Greg Gan, Jason Hunt, Ryan Turner, and Greg Bomhoff.

In the KCAC, the women's team took second place in the conference.

For the twenty-first consecutive year, Jim Helmer's men's team took the KCAC.

Cheerleading

Never Say Die.

By Megan Herzer

The year was tough for Builder sports, but the SC Cheerleading squad supported all SC teams throughout the year. This was the first time in the last four years that Builder football has not won the KCAC championship. However it was a great year for Lady Builder Basketball, although the men's team did not do so well. The Cheerleading squad was there through it all. "It was hard to keep the spirit up sometimes, but we worked hard and I think it paid off," said freshman Claire Myers.

Throughout the year difficult games were not the only things that the squad dealt with. The Cheerleading Squad incurred injuries knocking some members out for a season and others out for the rest of the year. The most difficult game of the year was a basketball game against Friends University in Wichita. At this game everything hit home for the squad; there were only three girls able to cheer and Friends sportsmanship was nonexistent.

All in all the year was difficult and rewarding at the same time for the cheerleading squad. "The squad is losing two members due to graduation this year, but we will be returning four very talented young ladies for next year," stated Assistant Coach Juletta Gall, "We wish our seniors the best of luck and thank them for their dedication. I'm very proud of this year's squad and all that they accomplished."

The Black Cats

Moves

By Jiana Wilson & Megan Herzer

The Black Cats dance team experienced an exciting year of new leadership, style, and advanced technique. The team consisted of eight members with four returning dancers and four freshmen. Dena Allison took over as coach for the team. Angie Gentry and Jiana Wilson served as co-captains who ran practices and kept the team organized throughout the season. "The talent and potential of the squad is incredible! We are able to perform more advanced dances and the larger number helps complete the squad," commented Angie Gentry.

The season for the Black Cats began in mid-June with a formal tryout. Each person trying-out performed a prepared routine along with a dance that was taught that day. The dancers were judged on style, technique, memorization, poise, and confidence.

In August, the Black Cats had the opportunity to attend their first camp as a team. An instructor from National Dance Association led the three day camp. While at the camp, the team learned three new dances along with improving their dance technique. "Dance camp was a great way to get to know everyone and bond as a team. I am really glad that we got a chance to have the camp and I am excited to use the new choreography," said Jovanna Lloyd.

The Black Cats had yet another busy season. They participated in numerous events including the Moundbuilding Ceremony, Homecoming bonfire and parade. The team averages eight to ten hours of practice every week. The Black Cats regularly performed at all home football and basketball games. "One of the advantages to attending camp was that we were supplied with professionally choreographed material and prepared with several dances before the games even began," said Kari Good. "I loved the music that came with dances. It was all current music and already mixed!"

"I was glad we had the chance to work with the younger girls because I loved dancing with the Pom Squad when I was little."

Lady Builders Close With New School Record

School records are meant to be broken and the Lady Builders broke them. The 2000-2001 team finished with the most wins (19) and KCAC wins (12) in Southwestern College history.

The final record was 19-9 overall and 12-4 in the Kansas Collegiate Athletic Conference.

Niki Nicholas was the year's standout scorer. Jennifer Jensen finished as the school's third leading scorer and Sheleah Taylor finished in the top five in assists.

Of one game coach Dave Denly said, "We got some good contributions off the bench. It was nice to see Niki (Nicholas) didn't have to carry the whole load."

Men's Tennis Road to Success

The Southwestern Men's Tennis team had seven players step on the court for the first practice in February. Five lettermen returned to the squad along with two junior college transfer students from Cloud Community College. A challenging schedule of six KCAC dual matches and three non-conference matches plus the KCAC tournament faced the team.

There was good leadership and much enthusiasm given by the two senior lettermen and co-captains: Nathan Eckert and Jeremy Moyer. "I have been very pleased with the way the men's team worked together this year to produce the successful season we have had. I think we have the ingredients to make our men's program continue to improve. I am most appreciative of each team member for his part in making this year the success that we achieved," said Coach John Paulin.

Racquet Rebels

The 2000-2001 season found three letterwomen returning to the Women's Tennis team and three Freshmen players joining them. The Lady Builders finished with 2 wins and 5 losses in KCAC dual play.

In October the team placed 6th at the KCAC tournament in Wichita out of 8 teams. The team played well at conference with junior Edeka Velardes placing second at #5 singles and freshman Rachel Ferguson placing third at #3 singles. Edeka Velardes was named to the All-KCAC second team for her efforts. Sophomore Emily Bauer gave strong leadership at #1 singles and #1 doubles teaming with Junior Megan Scafe.

"I was pleased with the way our team overcame injury and adversity to show steady improvement across the season. I look forward to next year as we return all six players. I believe the women's tennis program will continue to improve and I look forward to being a part of that process," said Coach John Paulin.

Once again the 2000-2001 men and women's track teams were a dominate force. During the indoor season there were several school records broken. Junior Rose Mans broke the schools record for the 400m with a time of 59.64. Also the women's 4X800 team set new school time of 9:42.37. Members of the 4X800 were Rose Mans, Leah Brant, Darla Bocock, and Cassie Helmer. Many members placed in the NAIA National Indoor Track Championship.

Having Fun with Tools

By Kevin Herrian and Nicole Howie

On August 19, 2000, the incoming freshmen of Southwestern College went to work in the Winfield community for the ninth annual Freshmen Work Day. The day started off with breakfast and a time for individuals to meet with their work crew. "Finding my crew was easier than I thought it would be," said Cameron Coons. Then, it was time for the sixteen work crews to head to their work sites for eight hours of fun, work, and comradery. "It gave me a chance to meet people before classes started," said Claire Myers. "Making friends, and having water fights with Logan Munthos was my favorite part of Freshmen Work Day," said Traci Lundgren. Projects that were done this year were the painting of houses, lawn work, fixing a deck, and working downtown. "My crew had the easiest job. We had to move some tar shingles and then they had us play in the dirt," said Brian Carr. After the work was done, everyone went back and cleaned themselves up. "It was a great experience to meet and bond with other freshmen," said Mary Riley and Megan VanEtten. After all the hard work was done, the freshmen, group leaders, and Winfield families, who benefited from the work of the freshman, attended a banquet. They also viewed a highlight video of the day. Then the representatives of each group shared with fellow freshmen their experiences of the day. "Everyone I met on Freshmen Work Day, I'm really good friends with now," said Holly Higbee.

"Freshmen Workday let us get acquainted with each other and also help the Winfield community."

Paint Fumes

Kylee Ward and Sarah Thuma

Armed with rocks and creative ideas, Southwestern College students, faculty, and friends flocked to Wallingford Hall's front lawn for the annual Rock Painting Party. SAA, who sponsored the event, provided paint and brushes to decorate the rocks. Rocky Road Ice Cream and beverages lured students and faculty to the festivities.

Most of the sports teams and organizations created their traditional rocks. Working together students created their own mark on the Mound. "My roommates and I, from our freshman year, always paint our own rock for the ceremony," said Katie guys, created their own special rock. My mom started calling us the Basement guys and it just stuck. All the girls are really close and we would do anything for each other," said Holly Higbee.

Woodrow. Several football players left their mark by painting names and nicknames of their fellow teammates on the football rock. The residents of the bottom floor of Sutton, who refer to themselves as the Basement

There are many reasons why the rock painting party has become a strong tradition at Southwestern. It could be the thrill of finding the best rock or the cold ice cream on a hot and humid August night, but at this year's rock building party, fun was had by all.

Jinx Dance/Carnival/Kick Back Day

Let's Get Dirty and Boogie

By Jiana Wilson and Shonda French

In an effort to introduce students to the campus and each other, the Students Activities Association organized a full week of exciting events. By day the student body attended the first classes of the semester, but by night they took part in a variety of activities such as the Jinx Dance, a live concert with O'Phil, and the carnival.

The week began with the Jinx Dance on the evening of Monday, August 21. Hosted at the bottom of the 77 steps, a DJ played a variety of music ranging from new hits to classics such as "YMCA." Several area businesses, including Gambino's and Sonic, provided refreshments for the event. "I was surprised at the large turnout at the Jinx Dance! My favorite was the food, and the cross country team really enjoyed the pizza" said Ryan Turner, senior.

Tuesday, September 22, Kirk Drive was transformed into a Carnival complete with Swings, the Twizler, a Ferris Wheel, and cotton candy. "The Carnival was a lot of fun. It was strange having a Ferris Wheel in the middle of campus though," said Alyssa Hoffman, freshman. O'Phil, a SKA band with several alumni members, performed, and SAA raffled off SC T-shirts for students in attendance.

Kick Back Day, August 26, was a great way to wrap up the week of events. Students formed eight teams for mud volleyball and four teams for sand volleyball. SAA dug new volleyball pits directly to the east of the football practice field which were filled with approximately 5,000 to 6,000 gallons of water. It was a day of fun in the sun for SC with the temperature topping out at 106 degrees. "I was extremely pleased with the events during the first week of school. It is such a great way to get everyone involved. I was very pleased with the student participation! I think that part of the success of the week is due to the amount of preparation and hard work of SAA," commented Paul Mages, SAA president.

"It was a really fun night and playing at the carnival was really cool!"

Moundbuilding Ceremony

Pile It Higher and Deeper

By Heather Jeffery and Megan Herzer

With a temperature over one hundred degrees, faculty, students and alumni gathered on Southwestern campus for the 74th annual Moundbuilding ceremony.

New students as well as Southwestern alumni were gathered on the lawn in front of Mossman to watch the Mound grow.

The event that honors the Moundbuilder name is perhaps one of the most important time honored traditions at SC. "I feel that the Moundbuilding Ceremony is an important and valued tradition that helps everyone become a part of Southwestern," comments sophomore Marathana Fruches.

This tradition, not only gives the students a better understanding of the college, but establishes them as a Moundbuilder for life. Mandy Horsman, a freshman, said, "It was enlightening, it taught me what it was to be a Moundbuilder." One can truly say that they are a Moundbuilder after placing their rock on the Mound for the first time. That is what being a Builder is all about.

Livin' it Up at SC

By Kylee Ward and Sarah Thuma

Southwestern's 2000 homecoming kicked off with the crowning of the Queen and the Ugly Man at the coronation. Leah Brant and Jeff Lowe won the titles of Homecoming Queen and Ugly Man. Freshman Class President Jovona Lloyd introduced the candidates at the ceremony. "It was an honor to represent the Freshman class at such an important traditional event," said Jovana.

Friday night at the bonfire, Southwestern students took this year's theme to heart by "Livin' it Up at SC!" The Black Cats dance squad and the SC cheerleaders entertained the crowd while they anticipated the lighting of the bonfire. The fire began with a luminous purple flame, created by SC's own pyrotechnist Terry Barnett. This was Terry's first year to ignite the bonfire. "I had a ball," said Terry. "I've even been invited back next year." He's begun to plan for a safer, brighter purple bonfire for next year.

The homecoming festivities continued with the Builderdash early Saturday morning. After the 5k run/walk, Southwestern fans showed their SC pride at the homecoming parade. Psychology Club and Fellowship of Christian Athletes won the title of most creative float. The judges chose the International Club entry as their favorite and Tri Beta won best theme.

The football team continued their homecoming winning streak for the 3rd year in a row. They conquered Bethany yet again with a final score of 26-13.

Later that night students celebrated the football team's victory at the Homecoming Dance in Stewart Field House. The students enjoyed music from a live band at the event.

All That Glitters

By Amy Govert

The evening of Saturday, December 9 was full of good cheer as SC celebrated the season with the annual Winter Formal. Sponsored by Beta Sigma Phi and SAA, the event attracted many students to the American Legion building for a night of dancing and camaraderie.

Tessa Ball, Beta Sigma Phi president stated, "This was a good chance for people to get dressed up and out for a good time!"

And, that's exactly what students did. The formal occasion gave everyone a chance to dress up and shine for the evening.

Valentine's Dance

No Love

By Amy Govert

Cupid failed to show up for the annual SC Valentine's Day Dance, as did most SC students. Following the well-attended theatre production of "Tony 'n Tina's Wedding" on Saturday, February 17, the dance received little attention.

SAA president and member of Phi Delta Theta (sponsors of the event), Paul Mages shared, "The Valentine's Day dance was a disappointment. Our hopes that pairing it with "Tony 'n Tina's Wedding" would break our streak of poor dance attendance, were dashed as there were less than 20 people."

Singapore/Malaysia Trip

Bon Voyage!

By Julie Morgan

On May 28, 2000, 23 students and five faculty from the Keynotes, Praise Band, and the Mime and Mission team left on their trip to Singapore and Malaysia. As they boarded the first of many planes that would take them to Malaysia and Singapore many were excited and afraid of what would await them in these new countries.

"My favorite part of the trip was when we were waiting in the bus before we left for the next city and Rachel and I went and played with some kids. Even though they didn't live in really fancy houses they had so much joy and we could feel their need to just feel love. Even though we didn't speak the same language as them, we were able to communicate with them and play tag. This experience, more than anything else, reminded me of why we were there and showed me how God works among us," said Treva Summers.

They went to spread the word of God through music and Mime, and they came back changed. As the trip progressed they were able to see how Jesus Christ works in their lives along with the lives of others. They returned from their trip, tired and happy, on June 14.

"To see God working and touching the lives of so many people was an experience that this trip gave me that I will never forget," said Joanna Zayac.
