#Hope

Hope isn't a holiday. Hope isn't a season. It's not a week. It's not a day. Hope isn't just one game, one play or one win. Hope isn't a night of studying or a morning of test-taking. Hope isn't one note, one act or one song. Hope is that feeling we get when the new semester starts and all these things begin anew. We hope we find new friends. We hope we find success in the classroom. And we hope that we get something more out of college than just grades. Hope is that first thought for every first action of the year, and it leads us on our path through college. Hope is what brought us here.

#Timeline

The dream begins with hope. Throughout the year, we put in the hard work to achieve what we've hoped for. Hope helps outline the goal. Practicing and studying helps us achieve the goal. We practice, study and work to meet that goal. We might be shooting for an A on the test. Or we're trying to score in the game or place in the meet. Maybe we're trying to hit that perfect note. Or we're making that final decision before the gavel comes down. Hope tells us what we want. But when it's crunch time and results are needed, we need more than just hope to get where we want to go.

1. Casey Ivanoff, undeclared freshman, represents the silver squad in the spoon race. Participants were required to balance a ball on a spoon and cross the finish line without dropping the ball. (Woon) 2. Christine Sheppard, physical performance and sport studies senior, paints the face of Jordyn Wilkins, psychology freshman, to show spirit for the black squad at the Builder Camp Olympics. The black squad won this competition and was named champions of Builder Camp. (Woon) 3. Montana Rickey, biochemistry junior, jumps off the “big blob” during her free time. Orientation leaders and freshmen were given free time to swim and ride the zip line. (Woon) 4. Cody Walther, athletic training freshman, and Quentinn Hanafin, biology freshman, strike a pose during the skit competition. The skits used the central theme of hope to reflect Southwestern’s theme for the year. (Woon) 5. Members of the white squad throw baby powder in the air during a chant. Baby powder became the white squad’s signature, using it during every chant. (Woon) 6. Courtney Jones, undeclared freshman, jumps rope with members of the purple and silver squads. Freshmen traveled to Sky Ranch Cave Springs in Quapaw, Okla. for Builder Camp. (Woon. Page design Tabitha Larkin)

Phil Schmidt, 72, died April 4, 2014, in Wichita. Services were at 2:30 p.m. April 9 at the First Baptist Church, Winfield. Southwestern College held an on campus memorial service at the Richardson Performing Arts Center at 4 p.m. on April 11.

Memorials have been established with First Baptist Church of Winfield and Southwestern College. Contributions may be made at the church and or funeral home.

Phil was born July 9, 1941, in Detroit, Mich. He was the son of John and Marjorie Schmidt. He graduated from Central High School in Peoria, Ill., in 1959 as one of the valedictorians. He attended Ottawa University, graduating top of his class in 1963. Phil continued his education, eventually earning his doctorate in history and anthropology in 1974 from the University of Kansas.

Phil married Phyllis Shank August 3, 1963 in Scott City. The couple moved to Winfield in 1967. Phil was a teaching assistant at the University of Kansas during graduate school. He joined the faculty at Southwestern College in 1967 and was a professor until his death.

Phil was a member of First Baptist Church of Winfield, where he chaired two pulpit committees and was a longtime Sunday School teacher and choir member. Phil's extensive community service included the community oversight committee of the Winfield State Hospital, the board of the Community Learning Center, past chair of the Cowley County Republican Party, and several roles in the American Baptist Churches Central Region.

Respected in his field, Phil was the Southwestern College liaison to the Chicago Center; past social sciences division chair; sponsor of Pi Gamma Mu; and a member of numerous committees and task forces. He received his Doctorate from the University of Kansas in 1974 and was named to Phi Beta Kappa. He received the Kopke Award for Excellence in Teaching from Southwestern College in 2008.

Phil was preceded in death by his parents.

Phil is survived by Phyllis Schmidt of the home; brother Dana Schmidt of Orlando, Fla.; daughters Amy Schmidt of Arkansas City; Allyson Allen and her husband Kelly Allen of Winfield; and four granddaughters.

1. Dick Merriman, president, speaks at the memorial service for Phil Schmidt, professor of history. Faculty, staff, students, community members and alumni gathered to celebrate Schmidt's life on April 11. (Stamper) 2. In a file photo, Schmidt takes time to review his students' work throughout a semester. Many students respected Schmidt for his tough classes and love of teaching. (Gillis, Collegian 2010) 3. Posing in his office, Schmidt surrounds himself with work to be graded, along with literature and reference works. Schmidt was known for his attention to grammar. (Dixon, 2007 Moundbuilder) 4. Faculty, family and speakers wait for the memorial service to begin in Richardson Performing Arts Center. Southwestern faculty dressed in their academic apparel to honor Schmidt's time and dedication to the college. Schmidt began teaching in 1967 and was a professor until his death. 1. Sara Blackburn, senior pitcher, winds up to pitch to a member of the Langston Lions on April 26. The Builders split this doubleheader with a 1-0 win in the first game and an 8-5 loss for the second game. (Larkin) 2. Jimmy Bryant, associate cross country coach, acts as the golden snitch running away from seekers Cori Hunt, business administration senior, and Rebecca Gamez, biology freshman. Student Foundation hosted a Quidditch match as one of many activities during Stau Bau. (Larkin) 3. Seth Bryan, business administration sophomore, follows through with his swing during the South Central Kansas Spring Invitational on April 15 at the Winfield Country Club. Bryan posted a 79, ranking fifth in the tournament and was the only builder to qualify for the national tournament. (Larkin) 4. Logan Bevis, secondary education freshman, returns the ball to a Friends Falcon opponent on April 12 in Wichita. The Builders fell 8-1 in this conference match up with the Falcons. (Killgore) 5. Bailey Collier, biology freshman, clears the hurdle during the women's 100m hurdles at the Southwestern Relays on April 26. Collier placed fifth out of five in the hurdles, but placed second out of 12 in the women's high jump with a height of 5' 5". (Larkin. Page design by Tabitha Larkin)

1. Marci Diepenbrock, athletic training freshman, Carlene Dick, communication freshman, and Tana Tyler, English freshman, listen intently to the speaker during Chapel. It was held outside on April 16, because it was a beautiful day and having it on the lawn attracted more people. (Larkin) 2. Eddie Faison, physical performance & sport studies freshman, moves towards the goal. On April 15, teams made up of members from different classes participated in Quidditch during the Harry Potter themed Stau Bau activities. (Larkin) 3. Tyler Harrell, biology senior, and Sara Peck, biology junior, celebrate after winning a doubles match on April 10. Southwestern defeated Bethany 5-4 in this conference matchup. (Carver) 4. Emily Lantz, biology junior, and Becky Gamez, biology freshman, have fun tie dying shirts. One of the Stau Bau activities was a tie dying activity on April 9. (VenJohn) 5. Emily Hicks, junior pitcher, goes through her wind up against Bethany on April 19. The Builders split with the Swedes, losing the first game 11-0 and winning the second game 7-6. (Dunning) 6. Ashton Isch, athletic training sophomore, Jana Reichenberger, biology sophomore, Kaale McCulloch, athletic training freshman, Conner Stone, athletic training junior, Connor Seaba, biology sophomore, and Skylar Kistler, sport management senior, compete in the sand volleyball tournament on April 9. This tournament was hosted as a fundraiser for the volleyball team and was a fun way for members of the school to get together. (VenJohn. Page design Desirae McGee)

1. Luke Arneson, accounting senior, loads a pickup as he helps a friend move out of the dorm for the summer. Students spent their last days together packing up each others' rooms. (VenJohn) 2. Marian Muegge, psychology freshman and Tiffany Rieger, athletic training freshman, work together to roll up a rug in their room in Cole Hall. Underclassmen who were not involved with graduation events had to be out of their rooms immediately following finals. (VenJohn) 3. Drew Hudson, biology sophomore, and Alyx Ellsaesser, English junior, study for their finals in Deets Library. During finals, the library was filled day and night with students studying and working on final projects. (VenJohn) 4. Kylea Wilson, junior outfielder, dives into the base after stealing second. Wilson was named to the first-team All-KCAC team during the conference tournament. (Tucker) 5. Kayla Demel, athletic training freshman, hugs Maddi Stuart, biology freshman, as the two friends say goodbye for the summer. Move out day was a time filled with tears and well wishes between friends. (VenJohn. Page design by Sara Blackburn)

1. Christopher Paddock, mathematics senior, speaks at Baccalaureate May 4 in Richardson Performing Arts Center. Paddock was one of four students who shared words of witness during the event. (Stamper) 2. Roger Moon, associate professor of theatre and speech, leads the Honors Convocation procession up the 77 steps. The ceremony recognized students who had earned honors throughout the year. (Stamper) 3. Andy Sheppard, vice president for academic affairs and dean of faculty, speaks at the Honors Convocation May 3. He had the role of recognizing students with special honors. (Carver) 4. Julia Faust, theatre junior, sings her part on the duet performed during Honors Convocation. Dylan Moore, music education junior, was the other half of the duet. (Stamper) 5. Tyler Shirley, physical education senior, Taylor Sisneros, biology senior, Alissa Gould, biology senior, Kaitlin Tennyson, biology senior, Hayley Fort, biology senior, and Tyler Harrell, marine biology senior, all hold Colton McNinch, biology senior, for a group photo. The smiles were all captured at the Order of the Mound Ceremony, which recognizes the top 10 percent of the graduating class. 6. Jordan Hill, psychology senior, and Jonathan Woon, communication senior, march up the 77 to the Honors Convocation ceremony. The ceremony honored those who had achieved distinction during the academic year. (Carver. Page design by Dalton Carver)

1. Maggie Collett, communication senior, gives the thumbs-up sign as she crosses the stage with diploma in hand. She was one of five communication majors to graduate. (Carver) 2. Miguel Rodriguez, accounting senior, receives his diploma from President Merriman. Rodriguez was also a captain on the men's soccer team. (Carver) 3. Graduates turn and wave to the crowd as they are announced as the class of 2014. There were more than 200 graduates in this year's commencement ceremony. (Carver) 4. Christine Sheppard, physical performance and sport studies senior, and Christopher Paddock, mathemtics senior, receive the Professor Fran Jabara Leadership Award. The achievement distinguished Paddock and Sheppard for their leadership skills throughout their years at SC. (Carver) 5. Josh Sapp, business administration senior, includes Titus Jones, human reserouce development senior (professional studies), Cori Hunt, business administration senior and Alex Tyler, mathematics senior, in his graduation selfie. Graduates were encouraged to take a selfie to share with the SC community through the Southwestern Selfie Initiative. (Carver. Page Design by Dalton Carver)

#Graduation

#Mugs

It changes in the years as we go from freshmen to seniors. We can see the anticipation of college on the faces of freshmen. After all we've heard about it, now we get to experience it. A senior's face has a different kind of hope. We have survived college and are looking toward the rest of our lives. Freshmen hope to eventually be where seniors are. A senior hopes to find the final success that freshmen are looking for. The feeling of freedom beckoning us. Job and life opportunities. The satisfaction of a bright future. All the faces tell a story that no words can.

#Volleyball

Why SC?

For the opportunity to play volleyball at the college level and I loved the friendly atmosphere the campus has.

Why Twitter?

Honestly, I had to get one in high school so our softball coach could communicate with us and I didn't like it at first, but my friends persuaded me to start using it for more than just softball announcements.

What do you tweet about?

I tweet about whatever is on my mind, but I like to tweet inspirational quotes too because I know a lot of people go to twitter when they're mad and need to be uplifted.

Who is your favorite person to follow and why?

I don't really have a favorite person I follow, but I like funny tweets and tweets about God.

Who is your favorite Anon to follow?

My favorite anon currently is the St. Louis Cardinals (@Cardinals).

What's your tool of choice when tweeting?

Definitely phone

How many times a day are you on Twitter?

It depends on how busy I am.

Why SC?

I came to SC because of its small town atmosphere. It really just reminds me of home.

Why Twitter?

I use it as a kind of forum to either vent or see what all is going on with my friends.

What do you tweet about?

What has all happened today, how I feel about things, share the music I listen to.

Who is your favorite person to follow and why?

Mostly bands to see what they're playing or new music they have.

Who is your favorite Anon to follow?

I like to follow the news channels just to check what's all happening in the world.

What's your tool of choice when tweeting?

Have to roll with the the laptop, I don't have one of those fancy smart phones

How many times a day are you on Twitter?

I guess I tend to open it whenever I'm online.

Why SC?

A lot of things fell into place.

Why Twitter?

We have over 1,300 followers. Twitter is a quick and easy way to inform our fans about what is going on, and direct them where to go for more information.

What do you tweet about?

I tweet mostly about the results and outcomes of our athletic events. We will also tweet links to information about other events and direct people to our website for all the details

Who is your favorite person to follow and why?

I don't really have a favorite person to follow, but you can learn a lot about our students and alumni by following them!

Who is your favorite Anon to follow?

Anon???

What's your tool of choice when tweeting?

I usually use my computer to tweet, mostly because I'm already sitting at a computer during a game.

How many times a day are you on Twitter?

I'll check it periodically to keep up with what's going on, and to make sure our student-athletes are behaving themselves.

Why SC?

Why not SC? I fell in love with this place before I even enrolled as a student and now as an alum I have even more appreciation and admiration for it.

Why Twitter?

I like Twitter because you really have to get creative with fitting your daily vent sessions in only 140 characters. Twitter is also the best way to communicate with students because that's where they live on social media and that's where they will see you the most.

Who is your favorite person to follow and why?

My sisters are my favorite people to follow. I also have a friend who almost always gets a RT or FAV. I'm a sucker for witty, sarcastic and wisdom-filled tweets.

Who is your favorite Anon to follow?

I just follow things that interest me or that I relate to.

What's your tool of choice when tweeting?

I usually tweet from my phone because I like to be out on the campus finding news for posts and interacting with the students.

How many times a day are you on Twitter?

I'm technically on Twitter all day. If I'm away from my desk though, I check Twitter probably around 5 or 6 times a day.

#Groups

We can't conquer college on our own. We want the camaraderie and familiarity of belonging, and joining a group or a team is part of the experience. With our arrival on campus, we're placed on a team for Builder Camp. That's just the first step to become part of something more at Southwestern College. Whether we're joining a sports team, a computer club or we step up in student government, we find a place to fit in, be accepted and be productive. These groups build our identity of ourselves, helping us grow, not only as students, but as individuals who will be ready for the real world. We may not be able to conquer college on our own, but we can make it with a team.

#Closing

At the conclusion of every year, there are similar feelings for each Moundbuilder who looks in the rearview mirror and sees the school on top of the hill for the last time. There is hope in that sight, a whole new world of possibilities. Some of us are graduating and leaving for good, hoping we are prepared for the outside world. Others are looking forward to coming back in three months, hoping for an even better year. Southwestern represents something different for each of us, giving hope in a different way. The hope was generated on the athletic field, the stage, the concert hall, the laboratory and the classroom. Being a Moundbuilder means more than just attending a school. Being a Moundbuilder means experiencing enduring hope and inspiring hope in others.
