BUILDERS IN SERVICE
During World War II

SOUTHWESTERN COLLEGE BULLETIN

Published Bi-Monthly by Southwestern College at Winfield, Kansas, during the months of February, April, June, August, October, and December, respectively.

JUNE, 1949

FORTY-NINTH SERIES

Entered as second-class matter at the post office at Winfield, Kansas, under Act of August 24, 1912.

Builders in Service

As a closing chapter in the work of the committee created to promote a program of service to Builders in the armed forces this bulletin is prepared.

Soon after the war began and the number of former students and alumni of Southwestern in uniform had markedly increased, plans were made to keep in touch with all who could be reached by means of letters which would be sent periodically. The funds to carry on the project came from alumni and other friends and Mr. William Monypeny accepted the responsibility of sending out the letters which were designed to furnish news of the campus and items of interest concerning those in service.

Thousands of letters were sent to all parts of the world—letters that were deeply appreciated as evidenced by word coming back from service men and women. After Mr. Monypeny took over the Office of Veterans' Affairs in Kansas, the letter-writing continued with Miss Lillian Cloud in charge. The project was carried on until the war ceased and most of the Builder group had been discharged.

The names appearing on the following pages, with few exceptions, represent those who received the letters during the war. That these lists may be preserved this bulletin is prepared. Every effort has been made to present a complete list and yet it is probable that some names which should be included do not appear. The plan agreed upon was to include the names of all who had been enrolled in Southwestern at least one semester. The names of faculty members entering service are also included.

In publishing the names of men and women who served during the war no attempt has been made to distinguish between the privates in the ranks and the commissioned officers. All are most worthy and no distinction is made when praise is given for service rendered.

The trustees, faculty and constituency of Southwestern College are proud of the Builders who served and the records which they established. Found in every branch of the armed forces and in all parts of the world where service men and women were stationed, these Builders faithfully faced their tasks and gave their best to uphold the honor of their country.

This little volume is published in appreciation of the sacrifices made and the service rendered by these valiant men and women whose names appear therein.

Gold Star Builders

Out from the halls of Southwestern College went many men to serve their country during the last great war. They went to far corners of the world, offering themselves in order to guarantee freedom to all peoples of the world. The record of their achievement made Southwestern College proud to list them as "Builders in Service."

When the conflict ended and the men were welcomed home those named below did not return because they had given their lives. The victory of which we were so proud had cost them the supreme sacrifice.

There is nothing that can be said that will add to their glory, but we all pay tribute to those men who gallantly met death itself that victory might be assured. Southwestern College is proud of them and their memory shall remain as a part of her campus.

We who enjoy the freedom for which they died pray that they shall not have died in vain. May the spirit in which they made their sacrifice inspire us to live and learn and serve that the values of the victory may be sustained and that the visions and the dreams for which they gave their lives may become realities.
