Speakers

The Rev. Dr. Quincy Brown

Quincy serves as the Vice President for Spiritual Life and Church Relations at LaGrange College. As an ordained United Methodist minister, Quincy bridges the church and the college together.

Known to many as “Q”, Quincy uses his gift as a storyteller to help others see how their personal stories fit together with God’s larger story of grace and wholeness to define their calling. Quincy has written several articles, essays and publications on vocation, faith development, and life’s transitions including the book Q.U.E.S.T. Stories as Guides through Life’s Transitions (2008) and The Q.U.E.S.T. for Vocation: A Personal Journey to Discern a Life’s Calling (2013).

Quincy earned a Bachelor of Science degree in electronic engineering, a Master of Divinity degree from Emory University, and a Doctor of Ministry degree from the Interdenominational Theological Center on the Atlanta University Center campus. He is married to Dionne Moore Brown and lives in Newnan, GA.

The Rev. Dr. Doug Morphis

Doug is the co-founder of the Counseling and Mediation Center. He is a Diplomate in the American Association of Pastoral Counselors, an ordained United Methodist Minister, and a Licensed Clinical Marriage and Family Therapist in the State of Kansas.

He has a doctorate of Ministry in Pastoral Counseling from St. Paul School of Theology. His project involves clarifying God’s call as the context changes. He is married to Gayle and has six adult children and six grandchildren.

The Rev. Valerie Robideaux

Valerie joined Centenary’s staff to work with the Christian Leadership Center after receiving her Master of Divinity from Emory University in 2008. In 2011, she became the founding director of the Office of Professional Discernment, where she coaches students in the exploration of values and passions as they develop an understanding of profession as meaningful life work in the world. Most recently named Chaplain of the College, Robideaux is an ordained deacon in The United Methodist Church and an alumnus of the college. She is married to Pastor Joseph Robideaux of Lifewater Church. They have two daughters, Aubrey and Judah.

Workshop Descriptions

A Biblical and Psychological understanding of God’s Calling

God’s calling is what gives meaning to ministry and life. This workshop will examine the Biblical understanding of God’s call, the importance of context of the call, and the effect of church and culture on understanding the call.

Parkhurst Lecture The Quest for Vocation: The Humpty Dumpty Moments of In-between Times

Will discuss the call of Moses and how vocation can emerge out of experiences of a crisis of meaning. Will draw on Faith Development Theory of James Fowler, Victor Turners’ work on liminality from Arnold van Gennep’s Rites of Passage, as well as selected chapters of my book The Q.U.E.S.T. for Vocation: A Personal Journey to Discern a Life’s Calling. (2013, Xulon Press).

Developing Students for a Changing World: Student Development is Leadership Development

Centenary College re-conceptualized Student Life and Career programming into a more holistic, developmental, and co-curricular environment designed to guide students through living, learning, and action. Learn about the integration of developmental theory in a co-curricular student development experience called Centenary Leadership.

Answering the Call: Heroes and the Integration of Vocation

Will discuss the process of using superhero stories (and other stories from literature) providing a framework to aid students in vocational discernment. Will use concepts from Joseph Campbell’s Hero’s Journey and the heroes and heroines from the Marvel Comic Universe.

Storytelling, Discernment, and Discovery: The Art of Reframing Students’ Initial Questions about Profession

The common question for many college students is, “What am I going to do with my life?” Learn about how Centenary, believing this is a question to be asked over a lifetime, uses storytelling as a main practice of Professional Discernment in such programs as Discernment Coaching, Discernment 101 and 201, Deposit Student Engagement Coaching, and the High School Leadership Academy.
