At the June 30, 2005, completion of the fourth year of the college's Builders of Excellence Campaign the total committed to the campaign had topped $21 million. With one year to go until the campaign's conclusion, the college's supporters have almost reached the campaign's $24 million goal. Many of our donors have made extraordinary gifts:

— During Homecoming 2004 the college dedicated and named the Jim and Hazel Dole Center for Teacher Education. Jim '53 and Hazel '52 have been generous and steadfast supporters of the college's teacher-preparation program.

— The Snyder Research Foundation contributed almost $1 million worth of scientific equipment and library holdings to support the college's natural science program.

— Charles and Verda Kopke made provision for a $1 million gift to the college's endowment to create funds to support outstanding teaching, enrichment experiences for the college's students, and scholarships.

— Hundreds of donors made possible the renovation of the 77 Steps in the first phase of the Heart of the Hill campaign.

Our heartfelt thanks are due all of these who have demonstrated their love for their college through their financial support.
